PLANS for the annual state conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution are under way. The meeting will be held in this city early in March. At the annual meeting of Multnomah Chapter held on Wednesday, delegates to this state conference were appointed. Mrs. James N. Davis was elected unanimously a regent of Multnomah Chapter. The members were entertained at the home of Mrs. F. F. Mays, who was assisted in her duties as hostess by Mrs. Isaac Lee Patterson, the retiring regent of Multnomah Chapter.

A large amount of money has been donated by generous friends and garments, bandages and other necessities have been sent to the wounded soldiers of Europe. The women have met regularly in Lipman, Wolfe & Co's store, where American Red Cross headquarters are maintained, and have done a vast amount of sewing for the cause. TALKS ON DOMESTIC SCIENCE BY LILIAN TINGLE.

COVALLIS, Or., Jan. 22.—Could you give me several different ways of serving ham and find ham fried or boiled very tiresome, I would appreciate your pointing me to a good recipe. Just an revol for a few months, and may the good Lord be as good to you as you have been to me. Very sincerely your friend, JEANNE JOMELLI.

Minced ham with either a French or a puffy omelet would be good. A minced ham, combined with bread crumbs or rice, and a little onion and other seasonings for the "stuffing part," would be another variation. Minced ham may also be introduced into such dishes as spaghetti, macaroni, stuffed peppers, tomatoes, summer squash, c-cumbers or carrots. It is true most of these vegetables are not obtainable in the country at this season, but the hint may be remembered for future use. In the meantime stuffed baked potatoes, with minced ham and a tomato sauce, is probably not in a casserole or on toast with sauce. I hope some of these suggestions may help you, and that you will get them in time for your company.

Hints on Health By Dr. Frederick M. Rossiter. Tuberculosis of the Spine. L. A. G. writes: "Kindly give me the causes, symptoms and cure of tuberculosis of the spine." Reply. Causes.—The first and all-important cause is the presence of the germ of tuberculosis somewhere in the body. Next is a lowered vitality and some fall or injury to the spine. It is surprising to note that tuberculous injury to the spine will develop into a tubercular spine in the course of a few months, perhaps when the injury is forgotten. This trouble usually is found in the young. Tuberculosis of the spine is not common after adult life is reached. Symptoms.—They vary according to the location of the disease. One of the earliest symptoms to appear is a certain stiffness of the spine, the body is held rigid, the walk is awkward. If the child picks up anything from the floor he is careful not to bend the spine. He bends at the knees and hips. Pain is an early symptom. It occurs in the neck, shoulders, and any pressure on the head or shoulders, if the disease is below the neck, causes pain. At first there is no deformity, but in time one or two of the vertebrae are destroyed by the germs, forming a cavity on the side or in the groin. Cure.—Select a physician whom you think is competent to care for the case. The patient usually requires rest in bed. The treatment is generally the same in most instances. The earlier tuberculosis of the spine is recognized the better are the chances for recovery without much deformity.

ACTOR IS REED GUEST DISCUSSES ENGLISH DRAMA.

Sir Johnstone Forbes-Robertson, the eminent English actor, was a guest of W. T. Foster, president of Reed College, yesterday. He arrived at the college with Dr. Foster at 12:30 and was taken to the social room in the dormitory, where he spoke to a group of Reed students on the English drama. He spoke in appreciation of the study of dramatics in colleges and commended highly the school of dramatics at the University Club. He also told something of the improvement that had come in the drama since his stage career began more than 40 years ago. He declared himself an optimist, saying he believed thoroughly that the public would judge accurately as to the worth of plays presented.

MANY AUTOISTS ACCUSED Judge Stevenson Intimates Jitney Drivers May Be Sent to Jail. Nearly 50 warrants for motorists who drive between standing streetcars and curbing will be served today. Three jitney bus drivers were arrested yesterday on this charge. J. E. Winfield, charged with driving a jitney bus, was fined $5 and A. McGregor was given a continuance until January 23. Judge Stevenson said that competitors between the railway company and the buses no doubt would cause many violations of the ordinance and that it was more than likely some of the chauffeurs would have to be sent to jail.

FRED WAS NEARLY BROKE But He Got a New Suit Yesterday by Paying Off $5.

This isn't the first time in his life that Fred has been up against it—his had his ups and downs, like most men. Another circumstance about Fred's predicament was the fact that he had a business deal in view which demanded his making a good impression. Fred needed a new suit desperately. He had exactly $5 over and above his other expenses for the week. But he got out of his quandary, and here is how he did it—HE WENT TO CHERY'S SALE, GOT A $30 SUIT AND PAID $5 ON IT. This would strike you as incredible if you're familiar with Chery's Credit System. In addition to getting any suit in the store you're required to pay only a few dollars down. They'll let you pay off the rest by the month. You know, CHERY'S PLACE is at 359-391 Wash. st. in the Pittock block and they are open Saturday evenings until 10 P. M.—Adv.
