just the difference between the Bardos government there and the revolutionists, was called as a witness today at the inquiry before Senator-elect Phelan, of California, into the fitness of James M. Sullivan, American Minister to the republic, to hold his post.

Mr. Fort denied that he had officially investigated the conduct of the Minister, his sole purpose in going there, he declared, being to obtain the removal of President Bardos and the selection of a provisional president as Bardos' successor.

Sullivan Not Investigated.

"Did you tell President Wilson," he was asked, "in the presence of his secretary, Mr. Tumulty, that you investigated charges against Sullivan and found them groundless!"

"I did not. I did not investigate Sullivan," replied the witness. "I don't say I didn't make what might be called a personal inquiry and I heard things about him, but I want to say, in fairness to Sullivan, I found no one who had any affirmative fact against Mr. Suffivan which he was willing to testi-Suffivan which he was willing to testi
