SCHOOL HEAD LAUDS BOOK

Larned's History of the World—New on Distribution by Oregonian.

requires no little skill to index history of the world that covers 7000 years of the life of mankind.

In the present day, when the world is so full of trouble and sorrow, it is especially fitting that we should have a book which gives us a clear and accurate picture of the world as it is.

At the close of Mr. McFarland's address a resolution was adopted approving the movement started by the Portland Realty Board...

For the 56 new members who were taken into the church Sunday Rev. John H. Boyd, of the First Presbyterian Church, gave a most interesting reception in the church at 7:45 last night.

Wonderful colored slides of Oregon scenery were shown, including some excellent views of the Columbia Highway.

POLISH FUND SWELLED

Tag Day in Portland Raises Approximately $500.

Between $400 and $500 was raised Saturday in Portland in a quiet tag-selling campaign under the auspices of the Portland branch of the Polish National Alliance.

The tag-sellers in Portland did not go into the business section of the city, but visited the churches and theaters, and other places where people congregate.

Through the United States branches of the Polish National Alliance are conducting a similar campaign and it is estimated that a fund of more than $100,000 will be raised in this manner and sent forward to Poland to relieve the suffering of the people in the districts where the war has devastated the country and where the suffering is great.

OLD FRIENDS MEET

Charley Grapewin Recalls Play Here 26 Years Ago.

CIRCUS STARTED BUT FAILS

Orpheum Actor Sees John F. Cordray, Maurice B. Smith and Thomas Huffaker and Spins Stories of First Attempts on Stage.

Charley Grapewin made a flying leap from a trapeze bar to a speaking part on the legitimate theater right here in Portland 26 years ago.

Yesterday Mr. Grapewin was hobnobbing with his first manager, John F. Cordray, and swapping experiences with Maurice Barrymore Smith and Thomas Huffaker.

"It's just like getting home to be in the Northwest and have a whole week here in Portland again," said the hero-traveling man of "Fougakepete."

"Last week I visited seven days with John Considine at Seattle. This week I am trotting around with the boys who were helping Cordray in stock productions at the old Museum. Smith was then the treasurer for Cordray and Mr. Huffaker was assistant stage carpenter. It is quite a coincidence that the latter two should be with me at the Orpheum this season.

Circuit Scheme Worked for Time. "Those were the happy days all right. I must tell you this one. In 1888 I was a member of an aerial act which worked circuses. We broke up the act in Seattle and I caught on with Mr. Considine at his old Peoples Theater. One day he told me that he owned a six-foot tent and suggested that we put out a circus. Two of our performers were Joe Belmont, now champion leader of the world, and Eddie Silvon, still with Barnum.

"At that time one of the famous circus organizations was the McMann Shows. We called ourselves the McManns and cut up a fine McMann outfit in order to get business on their reputation. We got along all right for a few weeks. Then the McMann people learned about us and sent back a bunch of canvassmen to clean us up. That was the prettiest fight anybody ever saw. We closed.

"Soon afterward I got a place with Mr. Cordray, doing a trapeze act in the old Museum.

USE OF OIL IS OPPOSED

EAST SIDE BUSINESS MEN TOLD OF REALTY BOARD CAMPAIGN.

Frank McFarland Outlines Plan to Encourage Burning of Oregon Wood and Keeping Money in State.

"The use of oil as fuel in the state institutions and elsewhere in Oregon means that that money is sent out of the state which should be spent here in the purchase of Oregon cordwood and alabaster, money that should go to help clear Oregon land and give work to Oregon men."

He said that the Realty Board had started a campaign in behalf of the Oregon cordwood and alabaster for the reason that they are Oregon products.

Howard Everts Wood in his address explained that the school garden work was not primarily to raise garden truck for sale, but teach the pupils the rudiments of gardening so they could use them in their home gardens.

At the close of Mr. McFarland's address a resolution was adopted approving the movement started by the Portland Realty Board, and authorizing the appointment of a committee of three to co-operate with the Board in its campaign.

C. J. Glover, of the Coin Machine Company, outlined his company's plans, saying it had purchased three acres between East Fifteenth and East Sixteenth streets, on Holgate street, on which a large factory will be erected within a year.

RESOURCES OF OREGON ARE SHOWN IN MOVIES

Pictures of Farms, Dairies and Factories of State and Its Wonderful Scenery Along Columbia Are Being Exhibited at Heilig.

UNUSUAL VIEW OF MOUNT HOOD THAT WILL BE SEEN IN SCENIC OREGON PICTURES AT HEILIG.

Wonderful effects have been produced from a trip along the Columbia Highway, which shows some of the finest scenery in the world. A particularly beautiful picture was obtained from the falls along the roadway, which were recently frozen. As few persons have traveled over this new roadway,

LYRICS SHOW BREEZY

STOCK COMPANY'S FAREWELL IS REMARKABLY FUNNY.

"Izy the Frenchman" Teems With Tickling Comedy, Entire Cast Appearing in Laughmaker—Vaudeville Next.

The farewell engagement of the Lyric Stock Company began yesterday with a sparkling farce, "Izy the Frenchman."

It is an unusually good burlesque, with clever acting on the part of members of the cast. Al Franks takes the part of the Hebrew who studied French in hopes of winning foreign lodgers.

Low Dunbar made a hit as the wild husband of the fairy-like woman who "ran away with that frog-eating Frenchman," and Jeanne Mai capered in a brand new gown of blue as the wife.

Of all the parts Joe Kemper has taken none is so suited to his ability as the part of the Frenchman in this playlet. He has an accent that might make a lady's maid grow green with envy, and his little mustache adds to him the air of a Parisian.

Ethel Burney makes a charming daughter of the French Hebrew who is in love with the real Frenchman, and Marie Celestine departs admirably as the wife of "Izy."

The special added attraction this week is clever singing and dancing by two boys.

Hereafter the Lyric will be devoted to vaudeville and motion pictures, Saturday nighting the last appearance of this company.

MR. DIMICK DRAWS FIRE

A. DeBauw Resents Criticisms of Naval Militia's Value.

Discussing State Senator Dimick's recent comments on the Oregon Naval Militia, A. DeBauw, a member of the organization, yesterday made the following statement:

"Senator Dimick thinks that all we have is a clubhouse or a hangout. Perhaps it would be well to impress on his mind that our work is done voluntarily, and not one cent is asked from the state or Federal Government, only for the upkeep of the cruiser Boston, having been on cruises. I know well that they were not excursions or joy-rides. Many of us are forced to give up our jobs to take the cruises. We go because we can be useful to our country should we be called upon."

TO ELAINE DODGE

I can help you. Your letter in yesterday's paper, made me feel for you and want to rush right out and help you.

I imagine you are pretty much upset, from what you say and want to hear without delay from anyone who can help you and your father.

Now, I would not be of much good myself, Miss Dodge,—but I am very close to a man, who I think, is the greatest detective that ever lived.

I know I can persuade him to help you, for he is the aid of the weak and oppressed always. And I will!

Indicate how and when I can meet you with my friend and we will be there. To show you that I am sincere, and I mean you no harm, you may have a policeman with you.

Respectfully yours, WALTER JAMESON

To Miss Elaine Dodge

My idea is that someone is playing a great joke on you. However, if you will write Sid Jenkins, City Court House, where to reach you, I will come up and protect you. S. J.

Dear Miss ELAINE

There is a very simple help for you—one that never fails. You can help yourself.

What I mean to say, is that by thinking deeply and refusing to admit that there is harm about you, that all harm will disappear.

We are peculiar beings, we humans; as we think we are. And we can frighten ourselves into imagining we are in all sorts of danger. Think you are away from harm, and you will have no harm. E. A. B.

To Miss Elaine Dodge

We all have our troubles when young, so just pick up courage and I am sure everything will be all right. If the help of an old lady will be any good, let us know. Melinda Hicks, (aged 80) Box 130

HAIR AND THE MARRIAGE MARKET

Too many men have been unpleasantly surprised to find that their wife's hair which they had so greatly admired was only a switch or transformation. We now know that poor hair is a condition of either laziness or lack of knowledge and that fair care with sensible means will insure scalp health and hair beauty. In washing the hair it is not advisable to use a makeshift, but always use a preparation made for shampooing only. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of castor oil from your druggist; divide a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Sander's excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its texture and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gives the health which insures hair growth.—Adv.

There is hardly an American woman nowadays who can keep pace with the demands made upon her time and energy without paying the penalty of ill-health. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound comes as a boon and a blessing. A simple remedy made from roots and herbs which brings glorious health to suffering women.—Adv.
