MRS. THOMAS SHARP, of Prineville, Or., who is visiting her parents, Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Morrison, entertained about 40 of the younger girls yesterday afternoon at Trinity rectory with an informal tea to meet Right Rev. Bishop Sumner. It was a charming affair, the rooms being artistically decked with Spring blossoms and ferns.

Miss Sally Cross, noted miniature painter and artist of Boston, Mass., who is the house guest of her cousin, Miss Margery Hoffman, has been honored to the extent of being chosen as one of the judges for the art exhibit at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. Miss Cross will leave the latter part of this week for San Francisco.

Ice hockey again called forth a large and smart assemblage of society folk last night at the big Hippodrome. The game was intensely interesting and dignified matrons and maidens giving vent to their enthusiasm equally with their escorts, who waved their hats and cheered the speedy players. Among those present, some of whom gave box parties, others being hosts for line parties, were:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Berg, Miss Ruth Teal, who entertained a party of young folk, chaperoned by her mother, Mrs. Joseph N. Teal; Mr. and Mrs. George Kietzer, who were guests of Mrs. Benjamin Trenkman; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Farrell, Mr. and Mrs. J. George Keller, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weisinger, Mr. and Mrs. H. Wright, Mr. F. deavor to display their dramatic ability before the footlights. A large attendance is predicted as the play is fitted to amuse both old and young. Members of the club taking part in the play are: Mrs. C. B. Harrison, Mrs. Marrow Harrison, Mrs. W. A. Lovett, Floyd Campbell, committee; the school teacher is Mrs. M. D. Bromberger; pupils: Mrs. Nina Larowe, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller, Mrs. Samuel Silverman, E. F. Allshaw, Eugene Rice, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Christensen, Frank Schlegel, F. L. Moreland, W. F. McKenney and Maurice Bromberger. The public is cordially invited to the evening entertainment.

The beautiful home of Callista Elliot, on Willamette Heights, was the scene of a pretty costume party given by the Adolphus Society of Lincoln High School Saturday evening, January 23. Many and varied were the costumes worn. There were pretty country maids, clowns of various sizes and colors, Dutch girls and boys with rosy cheeks and wooden shoes, Spanish senoritas and senoritas, dark-skinned Hawaiians and even helpless babies with dotted bottles. The fore part of the evening was enjoyed in playing various games, after which a "box lunch with punch" was served. The remainder of the evening was passed in singing and dancing. Those present were Mildred Hawes, Ruth Pearson, Jessamine Harding, Elsie Moon, Helen Dahl, Evadna Gove, Moretta Howard, Candace Landers, Gertrude Haskell, Louise Thoronam, Ruth Stone, Gertrude Stone, Jeanette Pound, Dolly Pearson, Olive Colpitts, Alice Fisher, Lois Buch, Carl Rita Resing, Marie Wood, Alleen Alford, May Burgoyne, Samuel Husbands, Edgar George, Arthur Mackenzie, John Dickson, David McCord, George Chambers, Ralph Hoerber, Jack Middleton, Howard Hutchinson, Robert Anderson, Hubert Scott, William Newton, Alex. A programme of rare artistic merit, one that was with appeal to the heart and to the finest musical appreciation, was given yesterday in the Hotel Portland by the MacDowell Club. A large assemblage of guests enjoyed the afternoon and added their quota to the sum that will be devoted to the scholarship loan fund of the federated women's clubs. Miss Nona Lawler, soprano, was in excellent voice and interpreted the Irish airs with ring and grace. Harry Wembridge, a young tenor with a sweet, mellow voice, was heard to advantage in early English songs. He was accompanied by Miss Rowland, of Reed College. Aaron Currier proved his right to high ranking among the baritone, and Mrs. Rose Courson Reed was at her best in Scotch ballads. The singers had the inspiration of an excellent accompanist in the person of Miss Constance Piper. The following will speak on "Medical Progress": Miss Novot, Welsh and Irish songs; "Sally in Our Alley," "Willow Willow," "Where'er You Walk" (Handel); "Link to Me Only With Thine Eyes"; "Ranald Mac Donal"; Harry Wembridge; "Hath Sorrow Thy Young Days Shaded" (Moore); "Killarney"; "Molly Bawn"; "Home on the Range"; Miss Novot, "All Through the Night" (Welsh); "Ben-dermeer's Waters"; "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms"; Aaron Currier; "The Owl"; "The Lad" (Scott); "Piper o' Dundee"; "Come under My Paddle"; "The Land o' the Leal"; Miss Rose Courson Reed. Mrs. Thomas Merrick Burke is president of the club.

A missionary tea will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. M. E. Meade, 325 Clackamas street, by the ladies of the First Universalist congregation. An interesting programme of the mission study for the new year will be outlined and the mite boxes will be opened. All who are interested will be made welcome.

Among the clubs this year there have been many attractive year books issued. One of the most artistic books that has been compiled this season is that of the Portland Study Club. The paper is of a deep cream tint, and the lettering on the outside is in gold and the print is brown. The book is tied with emerald green satin ribbon. Neat, well-edited and arranged books have been issued.

A friend motored up, jumped out of her car and when she saw what the woman was doing, said pleasantly: "If you don't mind my telling you, that is not the best way to 'water your trees.' Then she went into a helpful explanation about the correct way to water orange trees and why. The talk drifted to other matters connected with the care of a lawn and garden, and in the course of the conversation the friend had told how certain kind of trees should be pruned, why the stems of some flowers should be cut on the slant when making slips, and others cut straight across, and much other information useful to one who wants to garden to be successful.

"How in the world did you find out all these things?" asked the woman in amazement after listening to the other's seemingly endless garden lore.

"When I set out a fruit tree or a new shrub or flower I always get all the books and Government bulletins and things of that sort I can and read up," explained the other.

"That's the trouble with most of us," laughed the friend. "We do not realize that we need to know. But I don't believe in taking chances. When I set out a tree or plant I think 'maybe I know all about this and maybe I don't.' And since books are so plentiful in the libraries and the Government will send bulletins on almost all subjects, I can dig up all the information I can. It's awfully interesting, too. When you come to look into the peculiarities of different plants you find such odd things about them, they become almost like persons."

"Suppose those of us who keep house would study up the very best way to do all parts of our housekeeping. Think how much better and more easily our housekeeping would go. And think how much more open up to us. Housekeeping would soon be on a vastly different plane with some of us."

"Suppose you come to look into the well and the art of salesmanship. Suppose we made a study of human nature and trained ourselves to be tactful. It would be a very different place and the selling of goods more interesting than it is at present. There is scarcely a thing we do that has a world of information connected with it; and science and research are discovering more all the time to make the work easier and the results better."

Playing One's Hand. SUCCESS does not depend so much on holding a good hand as in playing a poor hand well. This sentence flashed on the screen in a moving picture of a gambling scene a few evenings ago seemed full of significance to me when applied to the everyday affairs of life—whether in business, in politics, or in love.

Service to Buick Owners

In addition to the Buick Motor Company's published warranty, the Howard Automobile Company will install such parts as are replaced by the Buick Motor Company without expense to the owner.

The owner will understand that it is not a part of the service afforded him by the Howard Automobile Company to clean or rehabilitate any part subject to wear and tear in the ordinary operation of an automobile.

The lubrication of an automobile is the most important item of its maintenance and the attention given to lubrication details determines, to a great extent, the service the car will render.

To insure the proper attention to this important detail we have a service system which enables a Buick owner to have his car looked over and oiled once a week for a year, without charge, other than for the oil supplied.

This system consists of a card bearing the owner's name and address, the date of purchase, the model of his car and the motor number. This card is divided into two sections. One contains a list of the chief mechanical features requiring attention, while the other contains a list of the principal parts requiring lubrication. The border of the card is made up of a series of squares numbered from one to 52.

When a new car is purchased one of these cards is made out by the foreman of the Service Department.

The new owner is instructed to take his car to the Service Department on his allotted day of each week to have it inspected and oiled. When this inspection is made the man in charge of the work makes a note of any parts that are being neglected. This enables the Service Department to give such further instruction to the owner as may be necessary. When the car is delivered back to the owner, the service card is punched in the No. 1 square and advanced to the next week's file.

This operation is repeated for fifty-two weeks.
