

To Whom It May Concern

Elaine Dodge, daughter of Mr. Terle Dodge, and her mother
 I do not care so much for myself as for my father who has been threatened recently and criminally by an assassin and unknown enemy You have seen a letter from me? You will see how I am worried about my father's safety
 I am sure that if you have received my letter you will be able to help me in my present predicament
 I am sure that if you have received my letter you
 will be able to help me in my present predicament
 I am sure that if you have received my letter you
 will be able to help me in my present predicament

Thank You! Mr. Jameson and Friends

It is a kind of you all to be so lovely and kind to me in the troubles that are before my father and me Mr. Jameson, I feel sure of instinctively in your help me, really, through his friend, the detective. I don't know what makes me say this, but a woman's letter is a nearly always right.

To ELAINE

Be reassured! You are safe!
 My friend, Mr. Jameson, has informed me of your great optical of spirit, and has requested me to see you and acquire into the nature of the case.

From a casual investigation I have made into the cases of Meera Fitzworth, Fletcher and Sberburne, whom you mention in your advertisements, I think the same parties are responsible for your annoyance.

But you need not worry.
 The detection of crime, Miss Elaine, in these modern days is all science. Finding a criminal is not more difficult than working out a chemical analysis.

If, by any chance we should miss you at the proposed meeting place at City Hall, I will watch for your announcement in tomorrow's paper.

CRAIG KENNEDY

To ELAINE DODGE

Can help you. Your letter to my father's paper, which you had the right to read right out and
 I am sure that if you have received my letter you
 will be able to help me in my present predicament
 I am sure that if you have received my letter you
 will be able to help me in my present predicament
 I am sure that if you have received my letter you
 will be able to help me in my present predicament

MR. JAMESON

Information Wanted of ELAINE DODGE, believed to be a resident of this city, and thought to be a victim of the "Clutching Hand" crime.
 If you have any information as to her whereabouts, please contact me at the address given below. All communications should be confidential. All information will be treated confidentially.
 Address: C. H. Box 2 B.

Elaine Dodge
 I am sure that if you have received my letter you
 will be able to help me in my present predicament
 I am sure that if you have received my letter you
 will be able to help me in my present predicament
 I am sure that if you have received my letter you
 will be able to help me in my present predicament

THE EXPLOITS OF ELAINE

Now that you are in full knowledge, are you wondering about Elaine, her father, Jameson, Craig Kennedy and the Super-Criminal, the "Clutching Hand?"

The whole business, making up the most amazing, gripping detective-love-mystery story ever written, will run in this paper and will be seen in moving pictures in your favorite theatre.

Do you know Craig Kennedy—whose wonderful detective work has held Cosmopolitan readers enthralled for two years? The creator, Arthur Reeve, is responsible for the "EXPLOITS OF ELAINE," in collaboration with Charles Goddard. Mr. Goddard is the man who wrote "The Misleading Lady," "The Ghost Breaker," etc., those fascinating plays.

These stories will get you. You've never read their like before. Oh—that Clutching Hand criminal! Craig Kennedy meets his match.

Begin at the beginning. Get every word, every phrase, every thought.

Read it! In the Coming

SUNDAY OREGONIAN