Both Countries Warned.

Germany was advised that the United States "would be constrained to hold the Imperial government to a strict accountability" for such acts of its naval authorities as might result in the destruction of American vessels or the loss of American lives, and that "if such a deplorable situation should arise," the American Government would "take any steps it might be necessary to take to safeguard American lives and property.'

The British, Spanish and Brazilian Ambassadors, who happened to call at the State Department, received copies of the notes, as did the Ministers of Sweden, Norway and Denmark, who especially requested it. The docu-ments created something of a sensation among the diplomats generally ecause of what some regarded as their drastic implication.
