BUDS and blossoms vied with each other for precedence last night at the pretty dance for which Mr. and Mrs. R. Lea Barnes and Miss Isabella Macleay were hosts at the Waverly Country Club. The season's debutantes were there a-plenty, looking as radiant as the fairest of clubroom blossoms. The attractive clubrooms were aglow with brilliant-hued tulips, callolids, roses, palms and ferns, making an effective foil for the crisp tulle and net frocks of the fair sex. It was one of the prettiest parties of the season, and was preceded by several delightful dinner parties, among them the one presided over by Roderick Macleay honoring Miss Macleay, also at Waverly Club, seated around the table were: Miss Macleay, Miss Ruth Seal, Miss Maile MacMaster, Miss Jean and Barbara Mackenzie, Miss Mary Robertson, Harold Sooy-Smith, Hamilton Corbett, Spencer Biddle, Charles Miller, Ellis Bragg and the host.

GOVERNOR LISTER'S DAUGHTER TO MAKE DEBUT TODAY.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 11.—(Special.)—Miss Florence Lister, only daughter of Governor and Mrs. Lister, will be presented to society at an "at home" at the executive mansion Friday. Eight hundred invitations have been issued for the reception, and the mansion house is being decorated elaborately. Wives of the nine Supreme Court Justices will be in the receiving line. A number of affairs have been planned for Miss Lister's enjoyment during the coming month.

Next in importance comes the annual Valentine birthday tea for the Waverly Country Club, which takes place tomorrow afternoon at Hotel Multnomah. This affair is creating more interest socially than ever before, and it is probably because there are to be many features in which the guests may participate. One of the most eagerly anticipated is the elaborate musical programme arranged by Mrs. Thomas Carrick Burke, which will be during the first hour, 4 to 5 o'clock. The programme is as follows:

"King Charles".....Maude V. White
"The Moon".....Miss M. C. Kuryak
"Oh, Moon of my Dearest".....Harry Wembridge.
Miss Eleanore, accompanist.
Polonaise Op. 52.....Chopin
Caprice Viennoise.....Kreutzer-Richter
Bourgeois Etude.....Liszt
"A Heart of Roses".....Willbey
"A Summer Afternoon".....Robert Dutton
"The Only One".....Liza Lehmann
Miss Nize, accompanist.
Miss Constance Dyer, accompanist.

MISS FLORENCE LISTER.
From 5 to 6 o'clock the function will be the dancing during which time Miss Harriett Harlow and Harold Grady will interpret the latest of the modern dances.

Prominent women will preside at the tea table and about 30 of the younger set will assist about the tearoom and ballroom. Over 100 pounds of delicious home-made candy will also be on sale. It will be a very close to a very gay and diversified week.

The Sons and Daughters of the Indian War Veterans will hold a social gathering on Saturday evening at the home of their president, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McDaniel, 752 Longview avenue, in Overlook. Members, their husbands and wives are invited to attend.

Plans for "Y. O. M. C. M. C." to be given by the choir of Holy Redeemer Church this evening in the church hall are being enthusiastically carried out. Clever vocalists will participate. Five hundred and other games will be played. Take Woodlawn, Williams avenue or Mississippi cars.

Delta Delta Delta Sorority will hold its regular business meeting tomorrow afternoon at the home of Miss Norma Graves, 151 East Twelfth street.

"The Rebellion of Mrs. Barclay," a clever little farce, will be presented at the public Saturday evening at the parish house by the Daughters of St. David's. A large cast is included and much hard work has been required to assure the success of this annual entertainment of the Daughters, preceding Lent. Mrs. Mabel Butterworth is directing the rehearsals.

At the Lincoln memorial exercises to be held in Turn Verein Hall this afternoon, the poem "Lincoln" written a year ago by Mrs. Jane McMillen Ordway, will be read by request of many prominent Portland people. Josephine Burns Hobart, the miss who read the honor of reading the poem last year, again will be heard. Mrs. Ordway dedicated the poem to J. D. Lee, president of the society.

This evening at Christensen's Hall, the fourth of the Friday Night Dancing Club's series will take place. A few of the younger set will first view the Ice Carnival, arriving at the dance a little late. As there are no programmes for the dance, they will be assured of partners anyway.

Last night the Heilig Theater housed the biggest and most enthusiastic audience of the year to hear the concert by Madame Gluck and Zimbalist. Every seat in the house was taken, the orchestra was removed for additional seats, which were also on the stage surrounding the band. Some in gorgeous evening raiment, others in simple afternoon or dinner frocks, while many in the most unusual-looking folk attended in street attire.

Tomorrow evening the second of the extra series of chamber concerts at the Art Museum again will call forth an appreciative audience, who never fail to hear these refreshing and exquisite concerts.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fraser Baird (Gladie Grosvenor) are being fettered upon the birth of their second child, a daughter, born February 6. She has been named Elaine Sylvia Baird.

A number of Valentine parties will mark this evening, among them that for which the Rose City Park Club will be hosts at their home. It will be a Valentine masquerade ball, and many novel and clever costumes are being planned.

The Ice Carnival tonight at the Ice Hippodrome also will take the form of a masquerade or fancy dress ball, although the "dancing" will be limited to a few, as Portland skaters have not yet learned to two-step and waltz. However, there will be a grand march, smiling bathroom chairs, and lots of fun in store for the spectators as well as the participants of this novel affair. Masking is not necessary to gain admission to the ice rink; fancy costumes is the only requisite. After 12 o'clock everybody may skate until 1 o'clock. Every Emerson Cronan is to depart himself in the capacity of official announcer, the judges for the event being Mrs. James D. Farrell, George L. Baker and Morris H. Whitehouse. Ten handsome prizes will be awarded, and anyone receiving an article not suitable to their needs may exchange it for one of equal value.

and C. Butler as secretary, for the purpose of combining young men for social purposes, will make their initial bow Saturday evening by giving a St. Valentine's party. The members are on a campaign for new boys and by giving this party it is expected that a considerable increase in membership will follow.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Nisbet, of Laurelhurst, on Monday night entertained a company of friends at "560." Covers at dinner were laid for 12. The little party was given for Mr. Nisbet, Monday being his birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert G. Joyce are being fettered upon the arrival of a baby daughter, February 1.

Mrs. W. B. Knapp, formerly Miss Nellie Gilbert, of New York City, is visiting with her sisters, Mrs. W. D. Palmer and Mrs. Lulu Herrin. Mrs. Knapp will be in the city for several days.

Parent Teacher Associations
The women of Woodstock, with the co-operation of Professor Arthur Evans Wood, of Reed College, and the enthusiastic support of the pupils of that school, have completed every detail of their plans for the cleanup day campaign. The school district has been divided into sections, with a boy captain in each section and a member of the Parent-Teacher Association as sponsor. Two thousand letters have been issued from the school mimeograph, one for every home; just a neighborly appeal for co-operation, followed by a poem written for the occasion by Mrs. Clara C. Ingham, which was selected from quite a number submitted. The poem follows:

Oh, in this grove of Woodstock, the rubbish is thrown at night,
But the captain boys of Woodstock will put it out of sight,
Oh, how often at Woodstock, when the garbage you collect,
Be careful of the place to put it you select.
For in this land of Woodstock we proudly No unseemly thing must face us, not even the poor dog's bone.

Work not alone for conquest in the great Rose City show,
But have our beauty face us when on our streets we go.
When boys have cleared our Woodstock of every thing out of pen,
Our careless wives of Woodstock will surely place the ban.
Besides our own Woodstock and other trash galore,
Such things have lost their usefulness and should be seen no more.

If we could see the vision of Woodstock clean and sweet,
And the Rose Show planned for strangers when they loiter on our street,
Why, all of us who live here, we're such a jolly bunch,
Who'd gladly bury rubbish and to other things lend hand;
And when, with captain boys, we've won the ribbon blue,
We will all join hands and voices and shout for Woodstock.

A number of slogans also have been selected, and on Friday afternoon the entire Woodstock district will echo the slogan that shows the best results from the cleanup campaign in that district will be awarded a silver cup by the Parent-Teacher Association. Every woman and child in the district seems to be tingling with enthusiasm to do the work and do it well.

Mrs. Jacob Kansler will give a lecture this afternoon in the Courthouse under the auspices of the Parents Educational Bureau. Her subject will be "The Child's Physical Training and Development." Mrs. Kansler is the mother of Oregon's perfect baby, Jane Kansler, and is an authority on child hygiene and training. All young mothers or persons interested are invited. The lecture is free.

Richmond Parent-Teacher Association will meet this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Harridge Whipp will sing. Special features will be presented by the school children.

THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TONIGHT

By Mrs. F. A. Walker.

BY MRS. F. A. WALKER.
ONCE upon a time there lived a little girl named Netta, who never put anything away in its proper place. "Some day you will find yourself in Topsy-Turvy Land," her mother said one day, after she had tried to show her how to keep things in order. "That is the place where little girls find themselves when they keep their things in disorder as you do."

"Topsy-Turvy Land," repeated Netta, but she never left the room; there is no such place as that.
"Isn't there?" said a voice, and Netta turned around to see where it came from. It was the little girl's friend, a queer little man, swinging his tiny feet and rolling his big round eyes.

"I will show you that there is such a place, and after you have lived there a while you may be willing to keep your room and what belongs to you in order rather than in disorder."
The little man clapped his tiny hands and, much to the astonishment of Netta, he made a noise like distant thunder. Then all became dark, and when she could see light again, Netta found herself in a room which was the queerest she had ever seen.

She seemed to be standing on the floor, but it felt like the ceiling. She looked up or down, she was not quite sure which she did, and there was the carpet. Netta recognized the furniture of her own room, but it was all upside down.

"What a queer place!" said Netta. "It cannot be my room, and yet the things I see look like mine. I guess I will sit down and look about and, perhaps, things will look right when I am seated."
But the minute she moved, she felt herself turn over like a flash, and she was standing on her head. Netta reached for a chair, and her feet were for the first time she could not stand on her head long.

Much to her surprise, she found herself sitting on the floor, and her feet were where her head should have been, and her head was still on the floor.
Then she discovered that her dress was upside down, and the neck of her dress would round her feet and the bottom of her skirts were around her neck.

"I can't dress like this," said Netta. "I must get up this afternoon."
On her head she walked to her closet. The door was open. She seldom remembered to lock her closet, and she was walking on the floor and she was walking on the ceiling.
"O, dear, what shall I do?" she said. "I never saw such a queer place. Everything is topsy-turvy."
"That is quite right," said a voice. "and you are at last in Topsy-Turvy Land."

The little man stood on the carpet and as Netta looked down at him she thought he was the only thing she saw that seemed to be quite as it should be. "How do you like this land?" asked the goblin, for, of course, you have guessed who the little man was.
"I do not like it at all," replied Netta. "Why, I cannot find a thing, and I am all upside down."
"That is the way you have been keeping your room and the things that belong to you. I thought you would like this place. You are one of the people who have helped to make it. You should be the one to enjoy it."
"I helped to make this topsy-turvy place?" asked Netta. "I should like to know how and when. I never saw this place before."
"It helped to make this topsy-turvy place," said the goblin. "You are quite right. You have never seen your room as your mother and other orderly people have seen it, but this is the way it looked to others, and this is the way you have kept it—topsy-turvy."

"I had thought my room looked like this I would never have thought things around me looked like this. I had no idea things looked as upset, and when I get back if I do, Mr. Goblin, I promise to be more orderly and never again live in a topsy-turvy place."
"That is all you have to do to get back to your own land," said the goblin. "Just promise to be more orderly."

STREET PLAN OPPOSED

MR. DIECK DOESN'T WANT TO TAKE COUNTY ROADS NOT PAVED.

Taxation for Work Denied Within City Limits Is Held Unfair, and Officials Advised to Go Slowly.

Holding that it is unfair for taxpayers of Portland to be called upon to pay more than 80 per cent of the total taxes of Multnomah County for road improvement purposes, and then for the County Commissioners to refuse to expend any of the amount from county roads within the city limits, City Commissioner Dieck yesterday recommended against the proposed plan of the City Council to maintain over the city streets all county roads inside the city. He says the city should go slowly in taking over such roads and adding to the municipal tax for road maintenance.

If the city should take these over the cost of maintenance would be between $2,000 and $42,000 a year, Commissioner Dieck reports. He says the county is able to maintain the roads, and suggests that the City Council demand that the city roads be cared for. He says also that steps have been taken for the posting of signs on county roads inside the city to inform the public that the county and not the city is responsible for the upkeep of the streets.

"It is the experience that the release of the county from responsibility for maintenance does not result in a lower levy for road purposes," says Commissioner Dieck in his report. "The citizens are twice called upon to bear the burden in the shape of a road tax, city should not consent to any compromise. The responsibility is clear and the issue."

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Though a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though a little troublesome, an easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drugstores, known as "Wynthy Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wynthy's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant. How Any Woman Can Remove Hair Growth

(Beauty Culture)

It is no longer necessary for a woman to visit a beauty specialist to have superfluous hairs removed, for, with the aid of a plain delicate paste, she can, in the privacy of her own home, remove even a stubborn growth in a very few minutes. The paste is made by mixing some water with a little powdered detente. This is applied to the hairs and after 2 or 3 minutes removed and the skin washed, when it will be left clear and hairless. Be sure you buy real detente.—Adv.
