

CARRANZA ORDERS DIPLOMAT TO LEAVE

American Battleship Now at Vera Cruz Offered as Refuge for Spaniard.

MINISTER GOES AT ONCE

Diplomatic Corps Resentful but Is Expected to Subordinate Feelings to Urgent Necessity for Remaining on Scene.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The State Department was officially advised today that General Carranza had ordered the Spanish Minister to Mexico to leave the country within 24 hours from midnight February 10, because of alleged refuge given to Angel del Caso, a Spanish subject.

The Spanish Minister left Mexico City for Vera Cruz immediately after being ordered to depart. He insisted that Del Caso was at no time in the Spanish legation, but declined to reveal his whereabouts.

Summary Notice Given.
A copy of Carranza's note to the Spanish Minister ordering him to quit Mexico reached the State Department today. It follows:

"The assistance which, taking advantage of the character you may have of Spanish Minister, you have given to Del Caso, hiding him in your legation and saving him from the punishment which he had merited, obliges me, as first chief, to inform you that inasmuch as you have disobeyed my orders, you must leave the country within 24 hours from midnight February 10. No offense to the Spanish government or people is implied by this act."

The time limit allowed for the Minister's departure from Mexico will expire at midnight tonight, and it is therefore supposed here that he probably already has boarded a ship at Vera Cruz, where he has announced that he will await further instructions from his government.

Other Diplomats to Remain.

It was not believed here that Carranza's action would be followed by the immediate retirement of the remaining diplomatic body there. Though it has been reported that generally they deeply resent the treatment accorded to their colleague, it is believed that they will subordinate this to the urgent demand for their presence in the Mexican capital to look after the lives and property of their nationals during the present crisis.

It was recalled by State Department officials that General Castro, when president of Venezuela, similarly expelled the French Minister from the country without affecting his formal relations with the other diplomatic representatives, though the ill feeling thereby engendered undoubtedly precipitated the downfall of the ruler.

Del Caso Is Well Known.

Angel del Caso is well known in Washington, having paid several visits to the city. He consulted with officials here regarding the conditions in Mexico, on which he was regarded as an authority by reason of his long residence there and his large pecuniary interests. It has been known that he has been acting as a confidential agent for the Spanish Minister in his communications with General Villa, so that his relations correspond to those existing between General Villa and the State Department here.

Secretary Daniels tonight instructed the commander of the battleship Delaware, now in Vera Cruz harbor, to take the Spanish Minister aboard his vessel.

Bryan Refuses to Comment.

Secretary Bryan called to Consul Canada at Vera Cruz tonight to render aid and assistance to the Spanish Minister. Mr. Bryan declined to comment on the incident. It is understood in official circles, however, that the matter was regarded as one to be settled between Spain and the Carranza government. The United States, it was said, had employed every means at its disposal to prevent friction between the diplomatic corps at Mexico City and the constitutional officers.

PASTOR HOME AGAIN

Rev. A. Mau, Oregon City, Sees Success of Kaiser's Arms.

PEOPLE UNITED, HE SAYS

Minister Commands Prisoners' Camp and Preaches in Church Not Far From Front—Preparedness Factor in Strife.

OREGON CITY, Or., Feb. 11.—(Special.)—"Germany cannot lose. The entire nation is united in one great party for one great cause. This is the opinion of Rev. A. Mau, who this week returned to his home near Oregon City after spending the last eight months in Germany, his native country."

Rev. Mr. Mau has the highest praise for the conduct of his country and the troops under the Kaiser. He denied the reports issued from English and French sources that there was interior trouble in Germany and friction between Austria and the Kaiser.

"Germany is one people, working for one cause," he said this afternoon. "There are no more Socialists or partisans. Every man, woman, boy and girl is taking a part in the great war. The women are studying nursing, so that when called they can go to the front, and the men who are not in the field are doing everything possible to aid the government."

Fight to Last Man Determined.
"I have talked with hundreds of men who have been at the front. They are all anxious to go back. 'We must fight to the last man if our country wins,' they say. Germany knows that the struggle is a great one and she is neither over-confident nor afraid."

"We cannot lose. The government, with its preparedness, its system and its efficiency, was ready for the conflict. When the war began no one had heard of the new gray uniforms, but on the first day of mobilization the authorities had enough of these uniforms to supply the great army. The great conflict is with the Russians. They seek to crush the Germans by means of numbers, but have no system. Their movements are wasteful. With half of the number of men our soldiers are able to hold back and inflict great defeats on the men under the Czar. The world will be surprised when it learns all the details of the battle at Lodz."

Pulpit in War Zone Filled.

Rev. Mr. Mau left Oregon City May 1 for Berlin, where he remained for several weeks before the war began. When the first declarations of war were issued he prepared to join the army and was ordered to report for mobilization August 21. He was not taken into the army and at once began work in Kiel with the poor and later had charge of guards over a camp of Russians. After three months of such work he was sent to a city near the Danish border to take charge of a church of 3000 members. He occupied this pulpit for three months until the government furnished him with a passport to return to the United States.

"While filling the pulpit I recall an incident which is common throughout the empire," he said. "The minister whose place I was filling was at the front and I occupied his study. His wife received word that he had been killed, and two weeks later to the day her eldest son was killed. She took her sorrow with her and showed no grief, although she had great hopes for her son, who was a brilliant boy. After the death of her son her other boy asked to be sent to the front instead of being employed as a messenger back of the fighting line. He wrote his mother asking for permission to take part in the actual fighting and she gave the permission."

Plan of Invasion Discussed.

Rev. Mr. Mau sees in the future trouble between France and England. "The French see that they were drawn into the war by the English. In a great concentration camp near Berlin, the Germans placed large bodies of English and French prisoners together. The last winter it was found necessary to separate them. The allies could not even live together. I have heard of cases along the French frontier where French soldiers pleaded with the Germans to defeat the English."

"It is when the Germans and the English meet that there is real fighting."

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Hildeburn

ROSEBURG, Or., Feb. 11.—(Special.)—Surrounded by members of their immediate families, Miss Grace Blakeley and Harry J. Hildeburn were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Blakeley, tonight.

Immediately after the wedding ceremony the relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Hildeburn were guests at dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Hildeburn left here late tonight on their wedding trip. Mrs. Hildeburn is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Blakeley.

Mr. Hildeburn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hildeburn, of Roseburg. He is engaged in general contracting on road work for Douglas County. Mr. and Mrs. Hildeburn were accompanied to the train by the Roseburg band and several hundred of their friends.

The Germans will resort to every device of civilized warfare to defeat the British. There is a feeling in Germany that troops of the Kaiser will invade the British Islands."

Rev. Mr. Mau returned to America through Denmark and Norway, arriving at New York January 27. While in New York City he was taken through the "Fatherland," the world's largest ship, by the commander, a distant relative. He is pastor of the German Lutheran Church here and at Mink's settlement, near this city.

MR. HORNIBROOK GUEST

ALBANY FRIENDS GIVE BANQUET FOR MINISTER-ELECT.

Hosts Make Merry and, After Jest Gift, Presentation of Useful Articles Formally Is Made.

ALBANY, Or., Feb. 11.—(Special.)—William H. Hornibrook, recently appointed Minister to Spain by President Wilson, was the guest of honor at a most interesting and enjoyable dinner given by a number of local business men who for many months have lunched together every Monday at the "round table" in the Hotel Albany and who are popularly called the "Monday Club."

The dinner was served at the Hotel Albany. Elephants and tigers served as place cards and attention was called to them by various other features of the dinner. Mr. Hornibrook has been advised by his predecessor not to take any silverware to Spain because of the "tipping habit" of the natives, so his friends last evening presented him with a suitable equipment. It consisted of half a dozen knives, forks and spoons, and some other articles, the entire lot costing $1. Incidentally, though, the members of the Monday Club did present Mr. Hornibrook with a heart remembrance in the form of a splendid knife and other pocket articles.

After dinner the guests went to the Globe Theater and soon after their arrival there appeared on the screen a big white elephant on a field of red, the Siamese flag. In the center of the elephant was a photograph of the new Minister and below were the words, "Where did you get it?"

MINERS' BODIES RECOVERED

Third Bunker Hill & Sullivan Victim Killed by Second Slide.

WARDEN, Idaho, Feb. 11.—The bodies of two of the three miners entombed in the Bunker Hill & Sullivan mine yesterday, when 150 feet of the slope caved in, were recovered by rescuers today. It is expected that the body remaining in the mine will be recovered before night.

Rescuers for a time had hopes of taking the miners, Anton Danielson, John Martinson and Charles Jacobson, out alive. They were guided by ropes by the entombed men. Jacobson, whose body has not been recovered, was alive yesterday when the rescuers were working, but his life was crushed out by a second cave-in while men were trying to reach him.

Tomorrow Is Positively the Last Day

History without the human figure would be as lonely as a treeless landscape, and Larned gives color and life to his wonderful world history by his vivid portraits of the great men of each of his six historic epochs. His character sketches clothe the dry bones with flesh and blood—and life itself pulsates in his pages. "The great men of the past have been selected by the severest of all judges—Time!"—says Emerson—and Larned presents them at the bar of Time with a stern impartiality that commands the admiration and respect of all scholarship. This freedom from bias and prejudice is what makes Larned's History of the World the greatest work of its kind ever written. This paper had this in view when it first joined the syndicate of newspapers that are offering it to their readers almost as a gift, and its reception by the general public has been so cordial and emphatic that there is now no doubt that this great five-volume history fills a want that is universal.

Following Is One of Many Letters We Have Received From Prominent Portland People. Praising This Great Work:

"Larned's History of the World" undertakes a large task, namely, the bringing into clear revision of many things, of many climes, and of many times; yet in this large task better done than in any modern work seen by me as yet. It is a good book for the home, as it presents to the young a birdseye view of much that has made history the world over; and it is also serviceable to those of older growth, as an easy and accurate means of refreshing the memory, and at the same time increasing the fund of ascertained fact and useful data. And an investment in this book is one that is not likely to be regretted; but will make for the intellectual enrichment of the purchaser in a manner fully compensating for the financial cost of the book.

OREGON CITY HAS STARS

"MARY JANE'S PA" SCORES TREMENDOUS HIT.

Lloyd Riches, Dorothy Cross Garlough, Dr. Van Brakle and Others Show Real Dramatic Talent.

OREGON CITY, Or., Feb. 11.—(Special.)—"Mary Jane's Pa" scored a tremendous hit at Shively's Opera-House last night. Before a capacity house the local thespians who made up the cast won laurels for themselves in one of the best home talent shows ever given in Oregon City.

The staging of the play, from beginning to end, carried with it an atmosphere of professionalism. Lloyd Riches appeared in the title role, made famous by Max Fignman, and gave a fine characterization of the wandering printer. Dorothy Cross Garlough as Portia, displayed rare ability in her portrayal of the business woman. Little Mary Jane was cleverly depicted by Miss Louise Walker.

Miss Eva Alldredge and Charlie Graham were the comedy pair and both won instant favor. Mrs. C. C. Spencer kept the audience in an uproar, while Claire Miller as Lark Watkins was great. Miss Ruth Brightbill was good as a big sister to Mary Jane and her romance with the actor, Barrel Sheridan, portrayed by L. Rubican, was cleverly acted by both Miss Brightbill and her erstwhile sweetheart. Dr. Van Brakle also was good in his part as the patient worshiper of the fair Portia, and he and Mr. Rubican showed themselves to be old hands at the business of acting. Ray Morris as Gene, and Master Lawrence Hull as Tommy also did their share in keeping up the all-around standard of the cast.
