

PRESIDENT NAMES TRADE COMMISSION

Three Democrats Chosen for Federal Body and One Progressive.

ACT OF CONGRESS AWAITED

W. H. Parry, of Seattle, Is Picked as Progressive-Republican—Some Senators Wanted Real Republican on List.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—President Wilson today, months after the enactment of the Federal trade commission law, sent to the Senate the names of five men nominated to conduct that body. Whether the nominations can be confirmed by March 4 was regarded as problematical.

The three Democrats named by the President are Joseph E. Davies, of Madison, Wis., now corporation commissioner, to serve seven years; Edward N. Hurley, of Chicago, Ill., for six years, and William J. Glavin, of Cedar-Rock, Ga., for five years. The other nominees are W. H. Parry, of Seattle, Wash., a Progressive-Republican, for four years, and George Rubles, of Cornish, N. H., regarded as a Progressive, for three years.

Senator Neveland, chairman of the interstate commerce committee to which the nominations were referred, said tonight he would call the committee together tomorrow, and he thought the confirmation of all the nominees would be recommended within a few days.

Opposition to some of the nominations, however, is expected at the White House. Senator Sherman, of Illinois, recently attacked Mr. Hurley as one of the men who "lobbied" in Washington while the tariff bill was pending, and some Republican Senators are said to be dissatisfied because no regular Republicans were named.

The broad purpose of the commission, as provided in the act, is to prevent persons, partnerships or corporations, except banks and common carriers, from using unfair methods of competition in commerce. Whenever the commission has reason to believe that any unfair methods of competition is being used it is authorized to hear a complaint against the suspected offender and fix a time for a hearing. Individuals or corporations so charged are given the opportunity to show cause why they should not be issued requiring cessation of alleged violations.

If such orders eventually are issued and the violations complained of are not stopped, the commission may apply to the Circuit Court of Appeals of the United States for an injunction. The court may also be authorized to order judgment of the court would be subject to review by the Supreme Court.

Mr. Davies, it is understood, will be named chairman of the commission. He was first on the list of nominations sent to the Senate by the President and received the highest number of votes in his experience in conducting the bureau of corporations the President is understood to deem him well qualified to head the commission.

George L. Record, of New Jersey, who was seriously considered by the President for one of the places on the commission, and who has served as its counsel, it was said tonight. The position pays the same salary as that provided for members of the commission.

It is to live within its appropriation of $30,000 the current biennium. It is probable that it will dispense with the services of several experts and clerks, although no definite decision has been reached. The commission asked for $100,000, and a member said today that the Legislature would have allowed that sum had the budget comparisons been itemized.

For 1913 and 1914 the actual appropriation for the department was $105,000, although the budget upon which the new appropriation was made showed it to be $70,000. The Legislature of 1911 appropriated $30,000 for the public utilities work of the department but it did not become available until 1913, because of the delay caused by referring the bill, which was approved.

It is reported that the Commission has considered asking for the resignations of all employees, so in case it is

NEW EUGENE POSTMASTER IS NATIVE OF CITY.

E. L. Campbell, Eugene, Or., Feb. 22.—(Special.)—E. L. Campbell, nominated by President Wilson as postmaster of Eugene, is a native of Eugene and a member of a well-known pioneer family. He was born in 1855 within six feet of the city. He was educated in Eugene and was a member of the first constitutional convention of Oregon.

After leaving the printing business he entered the United States railway mail service, later becoming editor of the Eugene Daily Guard, which he sold to Charles H. Fisher, now editor of the Salem Capital-Journal. He conducted a furniture store for a time and then purchased the Savoy Theater.

DEMOCRATS ARE VEXED

FARMERS' UNION OFFICIAL SAYS WILSON IS TOO INSISTENT.

Committee Which Called at Washington to Urge Passage of Callaway Rural Credits Bill is Heard.

BAKER, Or., Feb. 22.—(Special.)—Hope is being abandoned by many rural credits at Washington of future Democratic success because of President Wilson's insistence that his policies must be carried out. This was the message brought today by A. V. Swift, National vice-president of the Farmers' Co-Operative and Educational Union, upon his return from the South and Washington, where he went to appear with other Farmer's Union executives to urge the passage of the Callaway bill for rural credits.

The committee appeared before the committee on banks and banking and Mr. Swift says he feels that the bill will be the one adopted. The feeling for rural credits is growing and there was hope when he left Washington of getting it through at the extra session, but now that this has been dispensed, he says, there is no telling when political wrangling will allow it to come before Congress.

"Matters were so mixed up at Washington," said Mr. Swift, "that I do not know when a chance will be given rural credits. I found many people disgusted with the continual wrangling there, and many Democrats say that Wilson's firm stand without allowing others to be heard would keep the party from winning for many years. In the South the feeling is strong. Georgia showed it keenly. Some of the large forces further north, such as Missouri, were not so determined, but there is some of this sentiment even there."

ELECTION BILLS TO FORE ON CALENDAR

Sharpstein Convention Plan Due to Appear Today at Session at Olympia.

STRONGER PARTY SCHEME

Whitney Measure, Also to Come Up Soon, Requires Pledge From Candidates to Support All Demands of Platform.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 22.—(Special.)—When the Legislature resumes its session tomorrow for the 14 working days that remain before adjournment the Sharpstein election bill, nearly the last of the Republican program for revision of the election laws.

The Sharpstein bill, emerging from the Senate committee on election laws, provides for a partial return to the convention system of nominations, and has drawn the fire of a considerable number of Republicans who are warning legislators not to tamper too much with the direct primary.

Any Legal Voter May Run.

While, under this bill, any person now eligible might have his name appear on the primary ticket without obtaining the indorsement of a party convention, it would appear in a list with the heading "individual filings." Names of convention nominees would appear above.

The nominees of the party conventions, state and county, under the Sharpstein plan, would be selected by plurality vote, and their names would head the list on the primary ballot for each office, with the names of party candidates following each name.

In case 20 per cent of the members of the convention favored another candidate than the one receiving the convention nomination, this candidate also would be entitled to have his name appear on the ballot with the designation "first minority candidate."

Label for Minority Fixed.

If a third candidate received 10 per cent of the votes of the convention, his name would appear with the designation "second minority candidate." The names of candidates not indorsed by the convention, would follow with the heading "individual filings."

The Whitney bill, passed by the Senate, is intended to provide for stronger party organizations. It authorizes May primaries to elect delegates to county and district party conventions, in addition to the September primaries for nomination of candidates. The county conventions will elect delegates to state conventions, which will issue state platforms, to be filed with the Secretary of State, and in presidential years will elect delegates to National conventions.

Stronger Parties Programme.

The Whitney bill also provides for pledging of candidates to support the platform of their respective parties and generally will issue state platforms, to be filed with the Secretary of State, and in presidential years will elect delegates to National conventions.

From present prospects probably none of the recommendations of Governor Lester, for revision of the election laws, will be followed.

The Governor recommended provision for a preferential primary election for non-partisan election of county and city officers, a blanket ballot plan so that a voter at the primary would not be compelled to mark a party ballot, and elimination of the second choice provision from the primary laws.

ROAD FUND IS APPORTIONED

Clark and Cowlitz Counties to Get Bulk of $200,000.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 22.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the roads and bridges committee today, the division of the $2,000,000 public highway appropriations to be made for the coming biennium was tentatively arranged.

Under the proposed plan $200,000 will be spent on the Pacific Highway from Toledo south. Most of this amount will go to Cowlitz and Clark counties. The Highway Commission is allowed to use his own discretion in placing the money.

Sixty thousand dollars has been allotted to Clark County, $150,000 to the Columbia River in Skamania County, the same amount that was appropriated two years ago. For the west wing of the Olympia Highway $200,000 has been allotted to be spent from the Grays Harbor country north or east.

For the National Park Highway $200,000 has been allotted, of which $70,000 is to be spent on the Pacific Coast and end.

The committee will meet tomorrow to go over the figures again and to take up the Eastern Washington apportionment, which will be a little less than one-third of the total.

VETO EVASION WETS' PLAN

Liquor Forces Demand Referendum to Escape Governor's Ax.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 22.—(Special.)—Backers of the excise liquor bill, the last hope of the wets of Washington, believe that in the drafting of their special election measure they have circumvented the veto power of Governor Lester, who is known to be waiting to disapprove such a measure, should it get past the Legislature.

Instead of attempting to provide by a separate act for a special election, the liquor bill, proposing repeal of state-wide prohibition, includes in its own title a provision for the referendum of all foregoing sections to the voters of the state, and provision for a special election for this purpose November 2, 1915.

The purpose of this is to take advantage of the section of the Washington constitution which provides that the veto power of the Governor shall not extend to measures initiated by or referred to the people.

Joyful Anticipation of Motherhood

There is apt to be a latent apprehension of distress to mar the complete joy of expectation. But this is not so, come by the advice of so many women to use "Mother's Friend." This is an external application designed to soothe the muscles and to thus relieve the nervous strain upon the cords and ligaments not accompanied by those severe pains said to cause nausea, morning sickness and many local distresses.

Many people believe that those remedies which have been used of old, and have been put to every trial under the varying conditions of age, weight, general health, etc., may be safely relied upon. And judging by the facts, "Mother's Friend" has been in continual use since our grandmother's earlier years and is known throughout the United States it can be easily inferred that it is something worth recommending to expectant mothers.

"Mother's Friend" is prepared only in our own laboratory and is sold by drug-gists everywhere. Ask for a bottle to-day and write for a special book for expectant mothers. Address Bradfield Regulator Co., 303 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

LIQUOR VOTE TODAY

Prohibition Forces in Idaho Senate Fight Amendments.

WETS ASK LICENSE REFUND

Pressure Being Brought Both For and Against State-Wide Dry Measure Already Passed by House. Legislative Session Short.

BOISE, Idaho, Feb. 22.—(Special.)—Interest here among members of the Thirtieth Idaho Legislature is tonight centered on the probable outcome of the statewide prohibition bill which passed the House of Representatives and comes before the Senate tomorrow afternoon as a special order in committee of the whole. Prohibition leaders declare they have a compact majority organization and will keep the measure from being seriously amended.

The anti-prohibitionists hope to tack on an amendment to refund saloon licenses. For more than a week the anti-prohibitionists have kept the bill buried in the Senate. It was averted tonight, they now see defeat for them is inevitable. Every possible pressure from all parts of Idaho is being brought to bear on Senators for and against the bill.

House Session Is Short.

Although the House of Representatives convened as usual this morning, no bills were passed, and after the consideration of half a dozen bills in committee of the whole, adjournment was taken. Twenty-six measures were on the calendar today for final passage, but when that order was reached, Johnstone of Bingham, moved that the order be passed, so that Washington's birthday might be observed by adjourning after a short morning session.

The committee of the whole House recommended indefinite postponement of two bills; No. 302, by the committee on education, which requires all contracts for purchase of school supplies in rural districts to be passed upon by the County School Superintendent, and No. 234, by Bales, repealing all poll taxes. By a vote of 20 to 21, however, the committee's report on the poll tax bill was adopted, and it continues a precarious lease on life on the general calendar. Senate bill No. 31, by Rockwell, creating Butte County, had a somewhat similar experience. The committee recommended that it not pass, but the House proper declined to adopt the report.

Senate Visits State Institution.

The Senate did not meet. Members spent the day at committee conferences. The finance committee went to Gooding to inspect the School for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind to determine its needs along the lines of improvements and new buildings.

The new Congressional District bill will probably make its appearance tomorrow. It creates the First District from the eight northern counties and Adams, Washington Canyon, Boise, and Lemhi Counties, while the Second District is composed of all of the other southwestern, southern and southeastern counties. The voting population is about equally divided in the two districts, together with the census of the state and the assessed valuation.

With a few exceptions all the counties in the proposed First Congressional District are in the "rainfall," or semi-arid belt. The counties in the Second District, as proposed by the division, are in the arid or dry belt.

STUDENTS WIN IN STRIKE

Opinion Holds That Eugene Board Cannot Fix Class Tuition Fees.

EUGENE, Or., Feb. 22.—(Special.)—Three hundred high school students, who "struck" several weeks ago and refused to attend certain classes to which the School Board had fixed a tuition fee, were sustained today by an opinion of George M. Brown, Attorney-General. He holds that the School Board has no right to charge tuition to any classes.

The students at the time appealed to the Lane County District Attorney, who also held that the tax was illegal, but who advised the students to pay under protest and to return to their classes pending the settlement of the controversy.

The School Board, up to the present time, has ignored the protests of the students. The tax they say represents the wear and tear upon the apparatus but which, the Attorney-General, in his opinion, holds specifically illegal. The students are now demanding that their fees be returned them.

F. F. Woodward was arrested by Chief of Police Jackson on a charge of accepting and insulting a woman on the street. Police Judge Canning sentenced him to 30 days in jail. The excuse that he thought he knew the party was used in vain, for the evidence showed conclusively that he undertook to play the part of "masher."
