CLUB HEARS TELEPHONE TALK—John Spoerl, of Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company, in an address yesterday at the luncheon of the East Side Business Men's Club at the Hotel Edwards, pictured the telephone business in Portland and the United States. He referred to the time when J. H. Thatcher was the Portland manager and when there were less than 400 telephones and a dozen operators, who were boys. Now, he said, there are 43,000 telephones in Portland and 700 girl operators. Mr. Spoerl told the wonderful progress the telephone business had made in the United States. In speaking of the automatic system, Mr. Spoerl said that the Pacific Telephone Company had a plan which promises to work out which is partly automatic. He said that the purely automatic has not proved a financial success. Mr. Spoerl stated that the automatic system of his company is in operation in Hood River. In closing Mr. Spoerl said that if people knew of the intricate workings of the telephone system they would be inclined to be more patient with the girl operators when mistakes are made for which they are not responsible.

During this time the interests of those entitled by the will may be jeopardized by bad management. This risk can be avoided by making this company your executor. Consult your lawyer about your will. The Mirage. Are you waiting and watching for it—for that accidental grouping of events which will open for you the easy path to a home of your own—are you waiting for YOUR OPPORTUNITY? No alarm clock is going to ring when time strikes the hour of your opportunity. Fate never yet failed to turn down the man who waited for something to turn up. You'll never again have a chance to build your home under the favorable conditions now existing. Lumber at cordwood prices and reliable contractors working for wages only mean a saving of at least $700 on the cost of your home. Buy on a rising market! Make a dollar go double distance! We will sell you a slightly lot in LAURELHURST at a close figure. We will finance the building of your home. We will assist you in all the details in connection with the erection of your home. ISN'T THIS YOUR OPPORTUNITY? PAUL C. MURPHY, Sales Agent for LAURELHURST. Main office 270 1/2 Stark street. Main 1503, A 1515. Tract office in Laurelhurst at East 39th and Glisan streets. Y. W. C. A. TO GIVE VESPER SERVICE.—A vesper service of sacred music will be given at the Young Women's Christian Association on next Sunday at 4:30. A programme of anthems, solos and oratorio numbers is being arranged by Mrs. John Clark Monteth. Those who will sing are: Miss Dagmar Inez Kelly, Miss Helene Muziloff, soprano soloist at the First Unitarian Church; Miss Eva Farnsworth, Miss Anna Priske, Miss Mabel Orton, contralto soloist at the First Unitarian Church; Miss Will Graham and Harry Westphal, organists at the Piedmont Presbyterian Church, as accompanist.

LAURELWOOD UNION SERVICES CONTINUE.—Union services of the Laurelwood Congregational, Methodist and Episcopal churches in the South East Side will continue this week at the Laurelwood Congregational Church. Rev. F. H. Winter, a local evangelist, are conducting the meetings, assisted by the local pastors, Rev. S. C. Johnson, Rev. E. E. White and Rev. E. C. Johnson. Mrs. Lottie Murray is the organist. The congregations have filled the church every night the past week, and there is no room to spare. The meetings will be held in the Laurelwood Congregational Church which is large a Sunday school at home. At the Atkinson Memorial Congregational Church, East Twenty-ninth and East Couch streets, last night a Sunday school at home was held, under the direction of W. B. Bethune, the superintendent. Exhibits were made by the pupils of the work of the various departments. Mrs. E. Palmer, superintendent of the primary department, made a showing of maps and handwork of the pupils. Proceeding the exhibit, Mrs. Herman T. Robinson gave an illustrated lecture on "Common Birds Around Portland." Mrs. Margaret Jones, soprano, rendered several selections. Many parents and friends attended. WYOMING ANNOUNCES HOLD UP ROSES.—Incorrect addresses given by purchasers of some of the rose plants offered in the sale by the City Beautiful Committee of the Rose Festival Association recently, made it impossible for the roses to be delivered Saturday or yesterday. Several hundred bushes are held up at headquarters at the Esmond Hotel on this account, and the committee requests those who have purchased roses and not received them as yet, to notify and give correct addresses. All of the roses that are left undelivered have been paid for.

COMPANY H IS INSPECTED.—Appearance Declared Creditable Despite Many Recent Recruits. Company H, Oregon National Guard, consisting of 65 men and 13 who are attached to other organizations, were inspected at the Armory last night by Captain Page, of the Twenty-first Infantry. A creditable showing was made. Company property was checked over during the day and found to be in good condition. Captain Leo J. A. Pironi commands H Company. "The Oregon regiment may not make as high a standard as that reached by the Third Oregon, at the inspection last night," but it will register more men. The high standard of last year was due to the large number of old men enlisted, but it was not recruited up to regular strength. This year it has been recruited up and many new men have been added to the ranks. Naturally these men require training, and this accounts for the showing in comparison with last year. All this has been appreciated, and the fact that the Government is expending a large amount of money on the National Guard and is taking the best possible care of Federal property. There is a decided improvement in the infantry regiment of the National Guard of the state.

The Hazelwood Confectionery and Restaurant WASHINGTON STREET AT TENTH. NEW TRADE IS WON. Will F. Lipman Says South America Buys Here. GROWING PROSPERITY SEEN. Americans Declared to Be Better Satisfied With Home Products. Since Fair Trial Was Forced. Many Tourists Prediction. South American trade with the United States is not a possibility, it is a reality, says Will F. Lipman, vice-president of Lipman, Wolfe & Co., who has just returned from a visit to New York, Philadelphia and other Eastern cities. "Eastern manufacturers already are dealing directly with South American customers," he says. "They are sending their salesmen into those countries and the South Americans are acquiring the habit of coming to New York and Boston to do their buying. "By the time the European war is over I am convinced that the United States will have formed a close connection with the manufacturers of this country to retain that connection. If they give the South American people what they want it will not be hard for the United States to enjoy a steady market among her sister republics of the south." Mr. Lipman declares that this important reason for an improvement in business conditions in the East, but insists that this is not the only reason. Home Industry Patronized. "Trade between the American people themselves is growing and improving every day," he says. "There has been a substantial improvement since the first of the year. American people are accepting American-made goods readily in preference to those manufactured in Europe. Before the war they did not want to do that. "For a time after the war started they were unable to get European manufactured products. The people had to take the American make, not so much from choice as from necessity. They found that the American product almost invariably was superior. Coupled with that fact was a wave of patriotism that swept all over the country and that induced people to buy the 'made in America' idea to their purchases. "This has played a material part in the improvement of business conditions. Our American thing is that the depression of the last few years has caused merchants to buy conservatively and to let their stocks run low, thereby the advance in the markets again. They are stocking up. "Internal conditions in the United States, too, have added to the business revival. Farmers, as everyone knows, are getting extraordinary prices for their grain and many other farm products are holding a proportionate price. The advance in the price of almost every line of business." France Still Fashion Center. Despite the curtailment of actual merchandise in Europe, Mr. Lipman says that American manufacturers still are depending upon the French art shops for their models in dresses and millinery. American houses retain their representatives in Paris and other cities and procure through them their advance ideas on fashions. The materials and finished products, however, are obtained in this country. The Portland store of which Mr. Lipman is vice-president is obtaining American dress goods, American silks and American underwear in place of similar commodities formerly imported from Europe. Indicative of the increasing trade with Central America he reports that while he was in New York a party of 22 Brazilian merchants arrived there on a buying mission that will take them over a large portion of the United States. American manufacturers also are combining their efforts to solicit trade from South America. Recently a big ship was chartered and fitted up with displays of samples from several scores of manufacturing plants. They will visit every important port in South America and invite merchants to inspect their wares. Travel to the World's Fair and other parts of the Pacific Coast from the East will come up to the most ardent expectations of the people here, says Mr. Lipman.

Humphrey yesterday found a letter in his mail written from Roseburg, Or., in which payment is offered on a bill which was contracted 18 years ago for medical services rendered in East Portland. The letter is from Miss Grace Davison, who said: "About 18 years ago mother and we three children lived in a little house on East Ninth and East Oak streets, when I took down with typhoid fever. You waited on me and never have received a penny for my services. I have since earned my way through school and am now able to earn my own way in life as well as to support my mother, who still lives in Portland. My object in writing is to learn what your charges are. I feel that I am in a position to pay bills I owe you, and I am sure you will be pleased to receive them. I will greatly appreciate it. I want to thank you for the beautiful bouquet of sweet peas you brought me, and when Dr. Humphrey cared for her through typhoid fever and he had completely forgotten the matter."

FAIRVIEW SEEKING WATER.—Portland Engineer Called In as Advisor by Council. Fairview contemplates building a municipal water plant, and at a special meeting of the Council last Tuesday night the council considered the proposal to give estimates of the probable cost and other information. Mr. Coons reported that he had found a small defect in the city and the boundary lines which would have to be remedied. The Council took steps to have these facts remeasured, and in the meantime facts and figures will be prepared and submitted by the engineer. Several plans are under consideration. One is to sink a deep well and build a storage tank, and another is to tap the Bull Run pipeline near Gresham. Use of a nearby spring is proposed. All these will be considered. Another special meeting will be held tomorrow night, when it is expected Mr. Coons will be prepared to submit the information needed. When estimates of cost are supplied a special election will be called to submit the question of issuing bonds.

REVENUE SONS PLAN VISITORS TO NATIONAL CONGRESS TO BE WELCOMED ROYALLY. Officers Re-Elected and Preparation Made to Take Delegates Along Scenic Route on Columbia. Plans for the National Congress of Sons of the American Revolution in Portland in July were discussed at the annual meeting of the Oregon Society yesterday afternoon at the University Club. Each member of the organization, it was suggested by President Wallace McCann, should consider himself a member of the reception committee to look after the comfort and entertainment of visiting members. Various entertainment features have been planned for the visitors. These include auto rides, a banquet and a steamer ride up the Columbia River to give the visitors a glimpse of Oregon scenery. Because of the many attractions on the Pacific Coast this year, including the California expositions, the Shriner, Elks and other big conventions, it was said that a large number of visitors is expected. The Oregon Society hopes to perfect its plans for the convention between now and July so that it will be recalled as one of the most successful National congresses of the organization in recent years. It was decided to observe Junker Hill day, June 21, with a meeting and smoker at which plans for the convention will be elaborated. This gathering will be a substitute for the usual Fall smoker. The annual election of officers yesterday afternoon resulted in almost every case in the re-election of incumbents. Wallace McCann was again chosen president and D. W. Wakefield was re-elected vice-president. B. A. Thaxter was continued as secretary. A. A. Lindsley was elected treasurer. The board of managers was selected as follows: P. P. Dabney, J. F. Ewing, Frank C. Savage and H. H. W. Pyle. Delegates to the coming congress were elected: Stephen A. Lowell, Pendleton; C. C. Beekman, Jacksonville; Colonel H. C. Cabell, general; Thomas M. Anderson and Major V. M. C. Vila.
