WORK OF MERGING CLUBS IS NOW ON

H. V. Chase Speaks of Spirit Commercial Bodies Need to Become Winners.

GRUDGING AID NOT SOUGHT

Expert Says Organizations Have Nothing to Do With Sentiment but Are Good Business From Standpoint of Development.

H. V. Chase, representing the Town H. V. Chase, representing the lower Development League of New York City, will open a suite of offices today at 411 Commercial Club building, where he will carry out the details of the consolidation between the Commercial Club and Chamber of Commerce now under way. He already has a force of stenographers at work in the two ad-joining rooms, and this morning will see an added number on the staff.

Yesterday's developments in the merger consisted of a meeting of employes of the two organizations, which was addressed by Mr. Chase, and the plan addressed by Mr. Chase, and the plan thoroughly explained to them. Those present heartily indorsed the merger. In discussing community work generally and the consolidation plans yesterday Mr. Chase said:

"Introduce me to your commercial organization and I'll tell you what kind of a city you have."

of a city you have.

Support of Bodies Reveals Spirit. The commercial organization tells the story of the community spirit in proportion to the interest and support it is receiving from the citizens of the community. No organization is of value to a community when the organization exists in name only. It must have the community and settive co-operation hearty support and active co-operation of the membership, and the member-ship much include the men in the communtly whose interests are bound up in the community and who have in-fluence among their fellowmen. "The trouble with many business and professional men is that they look upon their community organizations as one of the institutions of their own, a sort of a necessary evil. Once a year, after repeated solicitation by an overworked and underpaid secretary, they dig up a "Nice apples," said "Nice apples," said stated amount for dues, charge the amount to charity and then sit down to watch and wait with a critical eye, to see what those fellows do with all the money they take in."

Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who and thousands of women and men was value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so st-tractive, use only this old-time recipe. Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so control that solved year possibly tall eyenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and off dandruff, stops scalp stching and failing hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and justre and gives it an apinstre and gives it an apnearance of abundance.-- Adv.

the great men of Oregon during the last generation. The life of Cornelius C. Beekman, taken as a whole, if written entire, would read more like a dream than a reality, for the 65 years he lived in Oregon, always in the one little town, remember, covered the time from the era of pack horses to the era of the automobile and electricity, from the days when he and his neighbors lived in fear of the redskins to the day when Oregon had become a great state. Not only this: in every forward movement for the most of this time Mr. Beekman was a leading, usually a guiding, spirit. He was always a doer, and usually of things that look big in perspective. He was a carpenter by trade and a native of New Jersey. When 12 years of age, a year after the great exodus of 1848, he crossed the 1sthmus and landed in San Francisco. After remaining there a short time he was sent to Jacksonville to take charge of the express business of the Cram-Rogers Company, a branch of the Adams Express Company.
