The first day of the campaign to get 1000 new members for the Portland Y. M. C. A. in 14 hours of work netted 52 members, 47 men and five boys, and $254.75. On a basis of points in the contest with the Seattle association, contest with the Seattle association, Portland yesterday made 42,275.

With $100 points to its credit, the team commanded by Colonel E. B. Mac-Naughton carried off the honors of the day, followed by Colonel W. M. Umbdenstock's team with 7500 points.

All the division commanders and team captains reported progress during the two hours of work and insisted that many of those who were not signed on the first visit were "good prospects," and that most would join the association before the end of the campaign.

Mr. Ladd Inspires Teams.

W. M. Ladd, president of the association, presided at the rally yesterday at 12.15 o'clock, when the reports of the 224 workers were made. He inspired the teams with his own enthusiasm, telling of his 20 years of association with the work of the Y. M. C. A and pointing out what had been accomplished in that time.

March 2.

The workers were summoned to headquarters by "telegrams" on regular telegraph blanks and signed by E. L. Thompson. Each was delivered messenger.

Teams Gather This Morning. At 16 o'clock today the teams will gather again at headquarters and a new supply of cards will be distributed, and more young men visited and invited to join the association. At 12:15 o'clock the forces again will raily clubs and other features of the activities of the department. Each club will descrate its own table at the banquet and prizes have been offered by J. C. Meehan, boys' secretary.

SEATTLE Y. M. C. A. GETS 63

Score in Membership Contest With Portland Workers 54,695.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 23 .- (Special.) -With a total of 63 new members and many renewals of annual dues, the Seattle Y. M. C. A. opened its member-ship campaign contest with the Port-Y. M. C. A. today with a score of 5. The Scattle motto is "Puncture Portland's Pride" and association men say it is the most auspicious opening of a membership campaign in the ex-perience of the local organization. The contest opened here at 10 o'clock this morning. At a membership din-ner tonight, more than 200 workers were present.

NEW PLANS ARE PREPARED

Bids on East Side Clubhouse and Citizens' Bank Soon to Be Asked.

northeast corner of Grand avenue and hast Alder street, have been completed by Camp & Dupuy, and yesterday were submitted to the building committee.

The elevations show the clubhouse separate and distinct from the bank building, this being done to separate the two and give the clubhouse a distinct name. The front of the lower story of the clubhouse, according to the plans, would have two rooms, provided with glass windows. One of these rooms might be occupied by the East Portland Postoffice. All the space on the second floor would be used by the elub, and would include an assembly hall, with a stage 29x41 feet, which with a stage 39x41 feet, which might be enlarged by means of folding or sliding doors. The smoking room would be 18,6x43 feet and could be thrown into the assembly hall. kitchen would be provided. It is expected that final plans will be accepted this week and bids asked The cost of the clubhouse and bank building will be about $50,000.

H. W. Stone, general secretary; E.

L. Thompson, general commanding the campaign, and J. A. Goodell, general coach, were elated at the results of the first day of work. Every report indicated that the campaign would net Portland 1000 more members before March 2.

Preferring to ride across the shop on the traveling crane than to walk for some two-inch pipe for which he had been sent, Albert Smith, 19 years old, was killed instantly at the warchouse of the Marshall-Wells Hardware Company, at Fourteenth and Kearney Streets, shortly before 7:30 yesterday working when he ran the crane from morning, when he ran the crane from its bridge and was crushed to death beneath it. Though an employe of the hardware company since October 3, 1914, Smith had only worked in the shops a month. He had asked to be given that work as he wished to learn given that work, as he wished to learn the machinist's trade. The crane which fell on the boy weighed more than 1000 pounds. Foreman Parrish had instructed Smith to bring the piping, supposing that the boy would walk across the shop with it. Instead Smith swung himself on it the auditorium, where reports will be made and this time a comparison with Scattle standings will be possible.

boy would walk across the shop with it. Instead Smith swung himself on the traveling crane. He rode on the chains of the powerful machine, which had a capacity of one and one-half tons, operating it from where he was riding. The machine is supposed to be operated by a man on the floor of the shop, walking along with it. He ran the crane on to laterals in a section of the building where it was not supposed to go, and as there were no To make things interesting, there will be a "mother and son" banquet at 6 o'clock Friday, when the mothers will be conducted through the boys department, watch the boys at play in the gymnasium, and diving and swimming in the tank and see their work in clubs and other features of young man had been warned against using the crane at all, because of the danger of an accident to a novice.
