TWO CHARMING PARTY FROCKS FOR BOTH THE FUTURE BELLE AND HER MOTHER.

An adorable conceit of fancy net trimmed with tiny rosebuds plays an important part in the future belle's wardrobe.
For the young matron a new model of white chiffon with silk corsage is shown. The skirt is a three-tier tunic of lace with white spangles, and chic dash of white silk.

Edgar M. Lazarus will give an interesting lecture on late Georgian furniture this afternoon at the Art Museum at 2:15. Mr. Lazarus will show splendid examples of Adams and Heppelwhite pieces which he purchased in Europe.

Two bridge parties will make this afternoon interesting in society—one to be given by Mrs. Jennie E. Ayres, with additional guests at the tea hour, and the other one will have Mrs. William A. MacLain as hostess. The latter will be informed and a few additional guests have been asked for tea.

The MacDowell Club's concert last night at Hotel Portland brought forth a fashionable assemblage of Portland society to hear the noted American cellist, Frederick Preston Search, who will also play again for the club this afternoon at its regular meeting at Hotel Portland.

A charming wedding of yesterday was that at which Miss Florence M. Jennings became the bride of Robert Wendell Bell, formerly of Roseburg, Or., at 4 o'clock, in the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. H. Jennings, 574 East Twenty-first street North. Rev. George Thompson officiating. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Viola Jennings, and Guy Farrar acted as best man.

The bride was attired in a gown of white satin and silver, embellished with exquisite lace, and also wore a full-length veil, bordered with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was a shower of orchids and lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaid was attired in a chic pink tulle frock and carried pink roses.

Mrs. Bell is a popular Irvington girl, a very clever musician, a student of the music department of the University of Mount Angel School, later attending the Boston Conservatory of Music for a year, and finishing her musical education in Paris, where she studied for a year under a celebrated master.

At the home of Mrs. Horace Fenton Fenton, at which Mrs. James M. Jennings will be hostess for Pan-Hellenic Association Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A business meeting will be held which short talk will be given by Mr. Alderman, and a delightful musical programme will close the afternoon's entertainment.

The articles contributing the programme are: Misses Constance Piper, Lina Morgan, Rae Zimmerman, Mabel Riggs and Myrtle Gram.

Miss Ada Meade, one of the charming prima donnas of "High Jinks" company at the Hellig Theater this week, is also popular in the social set in this city as well as Seattle and San Francisco. Miss Meade, who is accompanied by her mother on her travels, is an attractive Southern belle, coming from the land of famous beauties, Lexington, Ky., and is a neighbor and close friend of the Voorhies family. On her previous visits to Portland Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Voorhies, who recently moved to Lexington, entertained both her and her mother, and in San Francisco many leading society matrons will entertain for them.

47 Autos in Funeral at Elma.
ELMA, Wash., Feb. 24.—(Special.)—Edgar Nicholson, a resident of Porter Wash., died Wednesday. He is survived by a widow and eight children.

Mrs. Charles Bacey presided at the executive board meeting on Tuesday. Reports showed that many girls had been befriended and helped during the month and that the rooms in the building for transient guests had been full to overflowing.

"A misty, misty morning" did not dampen the spirits of the 24 women and girls who, under the guidance of Miss Corey, physical director of the Young Woman's Christian Association, went for a tramp on Monday. The destination was Oak Grove. The party, supplied with coats, bird books and field glasses, went by car to Milwaukie and from there took the river road to Oak Grove, where they were entertained at the Methodist Church by the women of the church.

After the repeat, an entertainment was given for the visitors. Folk games and dances were given by 20 little girls dressed as Dutch maidens. The children were directed by Miss Miller, a teacher of the school. Several students of the afternoon's entertainment. The Young Woman's Christian Association girls are planning for a similar afternoon trip.

workers and the materials for the garments. Mrs. Richard W. Montague is president of the organization. Miss Helen Gillespie sought out the worthy cases in which work was needed and Mrs. William Fiebig of the Portland Parent-Teacher Association, found the families who needed the garments. The chain of helpfulness was complete. The club is one of the oldest organizations in the city and its membership is made up of some of the most prominent women of the Unitarian Church. In their charitable work they care not whether the needy be one creed or another. There is a broad humanitarian work. To assist in the good work they are carrying on the club members will hold a "Daffodil Tea" at the home of Mrs. Herbert C. Holmes, 251 St. Clair street, on the second Tuesday in March. Mrs. Norman Coleman will give artistic readings on this occasion.

After the business session at the Portland Woman's Club tomorrow afternoon the Shakespeare department will have charge of the programme. Mrs. P. L. Thompson will give dramatic readings and Miss Ruth Johns will contribute solos.

The Portland Shakespeare Study Club will be the beneficiary of a performance of "Midsummer Night's Dream" that will be presented in Lincoln High School on April 5. Mrs. J. Coulsen Hare, Mrs. Julia C. LaBarre, Mrs. Waldemar Seton and Mrs. Harvey O'Bryan are sponsors for the event.

The current literature department of the Portland Woman's Club will meet this afternoon in the home of Mrs. E. E. Pittekuu, 629 Hawthorne avenue. Luncheon will be served promptly at 1 o'clock. After the report Mrs. Albert M. Brown will read Professor Josephine Hammond's beautiful morality play, "Everywoman's Road." This play was read recently at the White Temple by the author and created much favorable comment. It is one of the most inspiring books that has been read before Portland clubs. The meetings of the current literature department are social as

FASHION NOTES

The ups and downs of collars are causing not a little uneasiness to modistes who are preparing for the summer season. In spite of the comfort and becomingness of the low cut V, it is obvious that the high collar has put in its appearance for the rest of the season. Many women are protesting against the high collar on the ground that it is too warm and too uncomfortable. Others welcome it for reasons best known to themselves—and other women.

Collars and necks are responsible, to a great extent, for the advent of the stand-up collar. In most of them the collar buttons high up to the neck, and in set off at the top by a white "turn-over" or a bit of lace or ruffling.

Coats and skirts are having their ups and downs, too, but it is chiefly skirts which have reached 11 inches from the ground and suit coats are excusing for belated. Disregarding this, Portland shops are showing some of the most fascinating suits with long coats with smart belts at the waist or above—but never, never, below.

Popular materials are tweeds, vicuña, gazelle, broadcloths, Miss Cardie's woolens and fine chevrons beside the ever-popular serges.

Women's Clubs

By Edith Knight Holmes

The most important club meeting of this afternoon will be that of the Portland Psychology Club, which will meet in the library at 2:15 o'clock. Dr. George Rebec, of the extension department of the University of Oregon, will give the principal address on "The Problem of the Self." Miss Jane Santra will present an attractive musical programme on which will appear Miss Marion Atwater, vocalist; Miss Dorothy Frazier, violinist; Miss Cordey Biles, Miss Mary Elsom and Miss Charlotte Patterson, pianists. This meeting will be open to all members of the club and their friends. Mrs. Alice Weister is president of the club.

Rev. Frederick K. Howard, chaplain of the Good Samaritan Hospital, who is chairman of a committee of social service workers, who are investigating the danchell question, has sent out a letter to all the clubs and similar organizations of the city. In his communication he says: "I am operating with representatives of other societies in forming a committee to inquire into the possibility and feasibility of providing municipal, or other non-commercial, dances and other forms of recreation in our city."

"If so, will you kindly send me the name and address of the representative of your organization, so that I may notify him or her of the time of meeting for organizing the said committee."

The executive board of the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs will meet on Saturday, as has been the custom for several months. At the coming meeting special plans for the General Federation Council convention to be held here June 1, 2 and 3 will be made. Mrs. Sarah A. Evans and all those who are assisting in arranging the details of the entertainment of the visitors who will be here on that occasion say that splendid co-operation is found on all sides. The railroad companies are operating with representatives of other societies in forming a committee to inquire into the possibility and feasibility of providing municipal, or other non-commercial, dances and other forms of recreation in our city.

The Power behind the dough

You may use an old favorite recipe and the best of materials and make it carefully, the oven may be just right, yet you will have a failure if "The Power behind the Dough" is not the right one to leaven it properly and make it light, digestible, wholesome.

Good baking without good baking powder is out of the question. K.C. Baking Powder has wonderful leavening power, and the double action—in the bowl and in the oven—makes good results doubly certain.
