ICE hockey has come back to Portland this week, and is being heralded joyously as a relief from the stupid, dull days that have marked the past week. Victoria and Portland teams will play a match tonight in the big Ice Hippodrome and society folk will turn out en masse, as it is the first game played here for a few weeks.

The younger set continues to be almost as enthusiastic about skating and hockey as earlier in the season, when the rink opened and to know how to skate was considered a marvelous feat. Now there are many excellent skaters in society's exclusive set who find the exercise not only exhilarating, but most beneficial to health.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Byrth, of London, who visit this city annually, were the guests of honor at a charming dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Burrell were hosts last night. Covers were laid for 14 at an artistically appointed table. Mr. and Mrs. Byrth have been entertained delightfully on this visit, as well as on all previous visits here, as both are interesting and popular.

Mrs. J. B. Montgomery, of this city, who has been wintering in New York, is en route to Panama in company with Mrs. Charles B. Wood, of New York and Washington, D. C. Mr. and Mrs. Kurt H. Koehler, who have been making a tour of the Eastern cities for several weeks past, are expected to reach Portland this evening.

An elaborate affair that will take place this evening at Cotillion Hall is the first annual ball of the employees of the Portland Railway & Power Company. Although this is the first affair of this kind given by the employees of this organization, they already plan to make it an annual affair.

Women's Club

By Edith Knight Holmes

A LARGE number of members of the Council of Jewish Women and their guests attended the open meeting of the council last night in the Neighborhood House. Mrs. Isaac Sweet presiding. Mrs. S. M. Blumauer, chairman of the Neighborhood House, gave a brief but interesting talk on the work.

George W. Cronyn, who spoke on "The Object of Social Service," designated "self-government" as that object. He advocated co-operative labor on a small acreage, where a summer camp might be established as a means of interesting the young people in agriculture.

Miss Ida Loewenberg, head worker, also reported. After the programme the members and friends made a tour of inspection of the building, visiting classrooms, sewing-rooms, gymnasium, library and all departments.

Mrs. Sweet, in her report, said: "The main thought and action of the Council of Jewish Women is centered in the Neighborhood House, but, while thus carrying out concretely the work of upliftment and betterment, we do not lose sight of the fact that underlying the conditions that make this work necessary are the causes thereof, and to assist in overcoming these causes we are giving much of our thought and energy."

"During the last few months we have been much interested in legislation proposed in the interest of social uplift, particularly as such as pertains to women, children and the home, and we feel gratified in the knowledge that we have at least assisted in arousing a deeper sentiment and a more wholesome interest in these vital matters."

TULLE PANTALETS UNDER RUFFLED SKIRT AS ACCOUTREMENTS OF DANCING FROCK.

This striking gown might have stepped from a daguerreotype of the '40s, but it will actually be worn at a mi-careme dance. The skirt, a quaint shirred and twisted affair of gold-colored taffetas with a tucked ruffle, is lifted to show the pantalets of ruffled tulle. The bodice is exceedingly negligible, a wisp of tulle over the shoulder and short puffed sleeves of taffeta being all there is to it.

The best manner of assisting in each particular case. By co-operating with the committee on employment and with the several organizations ready to give needed assistance, we have been able to alleviate much distress.

"Our immigrant aid committee, on account of the present war and consequent lack of immigration, has been rather inactive during the year, but is ready at any time to assume the work as heretofore, when, through co-operation with our National immigration aid department, every immigrant woman and girl arriving in Portland was met at the station, where our responsibility for her welfare commenced and was continued until such time as we felt she was no longer too strange to be left to her own responsibility."

"The educational committee works in conjunction with the public schools. This committee visits the schools, interesting itself in the standing, the attendance and in the general welfare of the children. Truancy, an apparent lack of proper nourishment, or, indeed, anything in which the members of this committee can be of assistance is reported to them and they, by calling on officers and by co-operation with other committees, often are able to be of great assistance to the schools as well as to the children and, too, through the children the parents are reached and helped."

"We have our peace committee, and its important functions, and the committee on purity of the Mount Hood here we find a clean condition, for which we are truly thankful. Along the lines of self-improvement, we have the Bible study classes, conducted by Dr. Jonah B. Wise."

"And so, with our slogan of 'Faith in Humanity,' we shall confidently face the many problems continually confronting us and make every effort in our power to best solve them."

The Mount Hood Circle 151. Women of Woodcraft, will entertain Thursday evening in the East Side Woodmen Hall, 112 East Sixth street, with Myrcia and Sacajawes as their honor guests. The officers and team of the Mount Hood Circle, under Captain J. McGarth, will initiate a large class of candidates. At the close of the meeting a banquet will be served. All members of the Women of Woodcraft are welcome.

The Oregon Congress of Mothers will meet Friday at 2:30 o'clock at the Court-house, in room 320. The meeting will be under the direction of the Parents' Educational Bureau of the Oregon Congress of Mothers. There will be a free lecture on "The Modern Kindergarten" and a demonstration. The speaker will be Miss Nan Hunter. Dr. Rebec, who was scheduled to speak, was unable to come, so he will speak at the next meeting.

The council of the Parent-Teacher Association will meet today in room A, Central Library, at 2:30 P. M. There will be a number of conferences preliminary to the meeting. The president's conference will be held at 1:30

Cuban salad—Have the fruit, remove the stem cut grooves in the flesh with a sharp knife. Pour in a French dressing made with 1 tablespoon lemon juice to 2 tablespoons oil seasoned with salt, Mexican salad—Rub the fruit smooth with a spoon and season with salt, pepper, one tablespoon lemon juice, five tablespoons oil, pepper, salt. Serve with or without tomatoes.
I hope these suggestions may be useful to you. Personal taste is the deciding factor as to which is "best"; but in any case, be sure to have the salad well chilled and use discretion in the selection of the exact flavor of oil for the French dressing and its application will spell completely a delicious salad. Not so much oil is needed as for some salads, as the fruit itself is rich in oil, and some of the faces is known as "vegetable butter."

Miss Lina B. James, general secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association, is giving a series of six studies, based on "The Child in Our Midst." Since Miss James wishes to make these lessons not lectures, but study classes, and feels that there is a need for this kind of training, regular outlines will be given out for each week's work. This week's lesson will be tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. At the completion of the course Miss James will give a talk on "The Child Problems of America."

TALKS ON DOMESTIC SCIENCE

By LILIAN TINGLE.

PORTLAND, Or., March 1.—Would you please tell me some good way to prepare "alligator pear"? Have just returned from California and brought a couple home with me. My idea was in the form of a salad. What would you suggest to go with it?

A LITTLE finely-chopped onion, radishes and cucumbers or beets are sometimes used in an alligator pear salad, but are not advisable, being, in fact, an insult to the fruit. Serve it alone as a salad with French dressing. The mashed pulp also may be used for sandwiches with lemon juice, pepper and salt.

In places where the "pears" are plentiful they are sometimes peeled, sliced and fried and are sometimes served with wine, sugar and spice as dressing, but probably one of the following ways will be found most satisfactory:

If, however, the quantity of fruit is insufficient for the choicer unmixed salad for the number to be served, the amount may be extended by forming the mashed fruit into balls and serving on slices of tomato, or in tomato cups, or in rings or cups made of tomato jelly. Sliced or sliced egg may be used as a garnish. Personally, I should prefer the omission of the egg. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves with French dressing.

For Rough, Wrinkled, Freckled, Pimpled Skin
As March winds, flying dust and dirt, are apt to irritate and complicate the skin, information will be of special value right now. If you have any untoward blemishes, freckles, pimples, or anything else to cover it up. Too often this only emphasizes the defect. Besides, it's much easier to remove the blemish with ordinary mercurized wax. Applied nightly, the wax will gradually remove freckles, pimples, moth patches, sallowness, red or yellow blotches or any surface eruption. The affected cuticle is absorbed, a little each day, until the clear, soft, youthful and beautiful skin beneath is brought wholly to view. Ask the druggist for one ounce of mercurized wax and use this like you use cold cream. Remove in morning with soap and water. Many who have tried this simple, harmless treatment report astonishing results. If bothered with wrinkles or furrows, a wash lotion made by dissolving 1/2 oz. powdered sallote in 1/2 pt. witch hazel will prove wonderfully effective.—Adv.
