rating the express service of the Great Northern Pacific Steamship Company from this port. High up on the deck of the liner as she stramed slowly from her berth was its ship's Hawaiian quintet, which strummed the airs of the tropic isles. On the far end of the dock were the Indians from Glacier Park, gay in paint and feathers, who danced to the slow the store to the tropic isles.

Such was the farewell given to the Iargest liner in the coastwise traffic out of San Francisco as she steamed on her maiden trip, and it was a con-trast which has never been equaled in the history of steamships leaving San Francisco for either oversen or coast-wise ports. The big turbiner steamed for the Columbia River with 250 passengers. was the farewell given to the
