

CLARK URGES ALL TO TRUST WILSON

Speaker Says President Bears Heavier Burden Than Any Since Lincoln.

PROSPERITY IS PREDICTED

Pressing of Federal, State, County and Municipal Works Advised. Wilson Rated Among Great Men in American History.

PHILADELPHIA, March 17.—Speaker Clark, addressing the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick here tonight, eulogized President Wilson "as among the great Presidents whose names can be counted on the fingers of one hand."

"It is no exaggeration to say that he bears a heavier load than any President since Lincoln has borne," the Speaker said.

Speaker Clark reviewed at length the work of the Democratic Congress, which he said, had been accomplished with the aid and approval of Republican and Progressive votes, and predicted that no political party could carry 10 states on the repeal of the income tax. He declared the country was rapidly recovering from the depression of the European war and to speed prosperity urged that all Federal, state, county and municipal works be pressed.

President Bears Heavy Load.

"The Congress has done its work," he said, "Senators and Representatives have returned to their homes. The President remains in Washington because of the ticklish situation in which we find ourselves by reason of the trans-Atlantic war and the Mexican civil war. It is no exaggeration to say that he bears a heavier load than any President since Lincoln has borne. No man, no man, can relieve him of his burden. His troubles, being purely his own, he must bear them himself. He knows more what is going on abroad than does any other man in America because he has better means of information."

"Every good citizen, without reference to politics or religion, should trust him, uphold him in this crisis of our country's fate. May God give him the wisdom, courage and strength to keep us out of entanglements with foreign nations and lead us in the path of peace."

Redemption of Pledges Promised.

"The Baltimore platform contained a multitude of promises. We have redeemed many of them. While neither a prophet nor the son of a prophet, I make bold to predict that in the next two years we will redeem the remainder. Rome was not built in a day, but nevertheless Rome was built. There is a limit to the power of men to labor mentally or physically. Two years were not enough time which to place our extensive and patriotic programme upon the statute books, though the 54th Congress sat more days and enacted more constructive legislation than any other that ever met. I have not even the shadow of a doubt that the historian of our times will pronounce it a great Congress. We have fought a good fight. We have kept the faith. The people will endorse and reward us."

"The brilliant Benjamin Disraeli, Earl of Beaconsfield, declared that contemporaneous foreign opinion as to a public man is identical with the final verdict of history. Most assuredly, then, Woodrow Wilson will be rated among the great Presidents whose names can be counted on the fingers of one hand."

Shoe Now on Other Foot.

"For more than a half century Republicans have pointed with pride and Democrats have viewed with alarm. Now the boot is on the other foot. At the present juncture Democrats point with pride and alarm, Republicans view with alarm. They were foredoomed and predestined to dwell in the cave of Adullam."

"These complainants divide themselves into two classes—first, those who, with countenances sorrowful as that of the Knight De la Mancha, but with glees in their souls and hope in their hearts, vociferate, purely for political effect, that the country is going to the demmition how-wows. In their case the wish is father to the thought. The second class, suffering from the malgrebs, is much larger, consisting of honest, but timid, persons, forever seeing ghosts, who in fat years look forward fearfully to possible lean years and who are greatly worried by the lamentations of the Cassandra and marplots aforementioned. These two classes keep up a howl that the country is going to the demmition how-wows, and scare people out of their wits, thereby retarding progress."

LINES MUST AGREE TO JOIN

Rail Commission Demands Clause in Contracts for Crossings.

SALEM, Or., March 17.—(Special.)—Notice has been served by the State Railroad Commission on all railroads in Oregon that henceforth when contracts between a railway and another line crossing the other's right of way are made they must contain a clause providing for physical connection between the lines, if such a connection is believed that such should be done.

The Commission notified the North Bank road that it would not approve a contract between the Oregon Electric, United Railways and Portland, Eugene & Eastern relative to the crossing at the intersection of Front and Jefferson streets, Portland, because it fails to provide that if the companies were required by the commission to connect their tracks, the order would be obeyed.

Bomb Kills One Man on Deck of Merchantman—German Submarine Tows Small Boats for Foes After Destroying Vessel.

LONDON, March 17.—The British steamer Leeward, bound for Holland, has been torpedoed by a German submarine off the coast of Ireland, according to Reuter's Maasuis correspondent.

In addition, the British admiralty today officially announced the torpedoing of the steamship Atlanta, of the west coast of Ireland, March 14, and the coast of Northumberland coast, March 15. The British steamship Atlanta, arriving at South Shields today, reported that she was attacked in the North Sea by a German aeroplane which dropped a bomb on the deck of the vessel. One member of the crew was killed.

Six of the crew of the Fingal were lost. The Atlanta was towed into port. When the Leeward was approached by the German submarine U-28 the crew of 17 were told 15 minutes would be given them to take to their small boats, which the submarine towed until a pilot steamer was driven from the coast. The crew were then transferred to the pilot boat and landed at Hook of Holland.

The damaged vessel is a cross channel steamer of 274 tons and was owned by the Steam Navigation Company of London.

The official announcement concerning the Atlanta and Fingal follows: "The British steamer Atlanta, 519 tons, owned by J. & P. Hutchinson, of Glasgow, was torpedoed by a German submarine off Inishtrah, on the west coast of County Galway, Ireland, about noon of March 14. The crew was landed at Inishtrah Island and the vessel is now in the harbor."

Six Sailors Lose Lives. "The British steamer Fingal, of 1052 tons, owned by the London Edinburgh Shipping Company of Leith, Scotland, was torpedoed and sunk at 10:50 A. M., March 15, off Northumberland Coast. Twenty-one members of her crew were landed at North Shields, but six lives are reported to have been lost, including the chief mate and the stewardess."

The survivors of the Fingal were landed at North Shields today. The Fingal was driven to the beach by the captain and several others, but six men lost their lives.

The Atlanta was badly damaged and was towed to port. The crew were driven from the Atlanta by a fire which started shortly after the explosion. The men took to the small boats and were picked up later.

ELECTION "SLUSH FUND" IS ADMITTED

Terre Haute Gamblers Testify They Sent Money to Police Official.

DEFENSE ALSO IS AIDED

Suffragist Watcher in "Red Light" District Says Repeaters Sometimes Failed to Remember Names and Addresses.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 17.—Contributions to the so-called "slush fund" and to the defense of the fund in the present case were described by saloon and gambling-house proprietors in the trial of the Terre Haute election fraud case today. Before the gambling-house keepers were called, Frank T. Drake, a Progressive election clerk, told of his arrest at the polls by Deputy Sheriff and a defendant.

"We had some trouble about voting foreigners," testified Drake, "and I objected to voting men who did not have the citizenship papers. In the afternoon Shea and three others came to the polls, took my gun, struck me, called me names, threatened my life and locked me up."

Gamblers Contribute to Fund. Phillip ("Pop") Burns testified he conducted a "little game of chance" over a restaurant conducted by William Doyle, one of the 28 men on trial. He said Doyle was his partner. He said together they gave $100 for registration and $300 for the election and that he gave $100 to the president.

Albert and James Shea, who conduct Shea's saloon and a gambling-house, testified they paid $200 for registration and $400 for the election and that James gave $200 to Mayor Roberts for the defense of the present trial.

Several keepers of saloons and gambling-houses testified they had sent money for election and registration funds to John F. Nugent, assistant chief of police.

Suffragist Watches at Polls. Mrs. S. C. Stimson, a prominent suffragist of Terre Haute, the first of several women who will appear as witnesses for the Government, testified she held a poll book at a precinct in the red light district.

Mrs. Stimson read a statement of incidents that occurred on election day, such as the number of times certain names were voted and the failure of some of the repeaters to remember their fictitious names and addresses.

"You can't get by this time, the lady says she knows you," Mrs. Stimson said to a group of negroes who had been there several times before to vote.

Three men who served as Democratic inspectors at the election testified that together and instructed them how to raise the lever on the voting machine so that it would not register when "niggers" or "dummies" or "men who didn't vote right" tried to vote.

A Cable-Made Piano is a Good Investment

YOU couldn't possibly be as critical of these instruments as we ourselves are. You will examine carefully the beautiful woods of the case to see if there is anywhere a flaw. You will have the piano turned around to see how solid and staunch the back. You will test the tone—first softly, then by forcing it, and you will strike rapidly, continuously, a single key to determine how responsive the action. That's all good as far as it goes, but
