the inspiration for a welcome en-livening in social circles during the past few days. Each day since the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Furlow of New York, there have been severa smart affairs to make their visit notable and thoroughly enjoyable. Both visitors are devotees of golf, and they have had several opportunities between times to indulge in matches on the links of the Waverly Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Furlow, the latter being a sister of Folger Johnson, of this city, left last night for the East, via San Francisco and other California points, and previous to their departure Mrs. and previous to their departure Mrs. Furlow was honor guest at a charming luncheon for which Mrs. Arthur J. McComb was hostess yesterday. Scated around the attractively decked table were Mrs. Furlow, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Oscar Overbeck, Mrs. William A. Knight, Mrs. Charles W. Jones, Mrs. Millard Holbrook, Mrs. George Barker, Mrs. Sterling Hughes, Mrs. Louis Gerlinger, Jr., and the hostess, Later in the afternoon an informal tea was given by Mrs. Kenneth Robert.

Later in the afternoon an information was given by Mrs. Kenneth Robertson and her sister Miss Genevieve Church, their guests including a few of the younger matrons.

The Furlows are charming and interesting people, and the group of folk who met them regret their visit was so
