

MR. LISTER VETOES EAST DIVORCE BILL

Governor Says More Drastic Measures Welcomed, Not Quick Separation.

GAME CODE IS APPROVED

Three Sections, However, Are Cut Out and 18 Other Acts Are Signed—Referendum Under Way on Several Laws.

OLYMPIA, Wash., March 18.—(Special.)—Governor Lister today vetoed the so-called "easy divorce" bill, referring to his disapproval of a similar measure two years ago, when he said more stringent laws would be welcomed.

Nineteen other bills were signed by the Governor and one allowed to become law without signature. Measures signed include an appropriation of $15,000 to refund money paid to Washington by fishermen for Lower Columbia fishing lands, including Sand Island, these lands later being given to Oregon by the United States Supreme Court; a uniform bill of lading act; the "anti-joyriding bill," which makes the use of a motor vehicle without the owner's permission a gross misdemeanor, and a bill making the uttering of a check without funds a felony, unless the instrument is cashed in a saloon for liquor.

Game Code Sections Vetoed. Signing the game code as a whole, the Governor vetoed the sections prohibiting use of salmon eggs as bait in Eastern Washington, establishing new rules for hunting from cover and repealing the right of search by game wardens.

In approving a bill calling for a survey of the university, State College and normal schools by a committee of six legislators, the Governor took the ground that the provision of this bill to pay each member $5 a day was void as in contravention of the constitutional prohibition against legislators creating positions or offices.

Referendum affidavits were filed today by Miss Lucy R. Case, secretary of the Joint Legislative committee, against two bills passed by the Legislature over Governor Lister's veto, requiring, respectively, that initiative and referendum petitions and recall petitions be signed only at registration offices.

1912 Names Are Needed. To prevent these bills from becoming laws, signatures of 19,102 qualified voters must be filed with Secretary of State Howell before June 18.

The Joint Legislative committee comprises representatives of the Washington Federation of Labor, State Grange, Farmers' Unions and Direct Legislation League, this being the same combination that backed the "seven sisters" initiative measures last summer.

Miss Case said the Joint committee probably would refer no other measures. The Federation of Labor, however, is planning to refer the Kleebs "first-aid" bill, the anti-picketing bill and the amendment of the eight-hour public works law if any or all are signed by the Governor. A recently organized Seattle referendum league is planning to refer the jitney bus bill, passed over the Governor's veto; the Kleebs bill, prohibiting diversion of city funds; and the port district bill, which were signed, and possibly other measures.

Legislative Employees Quit Work. Miss Case said agreement had been reached to tentatively refer no other measures. The Federation of Labor, however, is planning to refer the Kleebs "first-aid" bill, the anti-picketing bill and the amendment of the eight-hour public works law if any or all are signed by the Governor.

Until Governor Lister takes action on the emergency bill appropriating $12,000 for legislative expenses, Senate and House clerks, left behind to bring journals up to date, have reached tacit agreement to suspend operations and go fishing or visiting. Their own pay is held up until this measure is signed and the Governor has expressed some doubts whether he should sign it, as the preceding Legislature managed to keep within the $105,000 limit at first set by the 1915 session for its own expenses.

While the legislative employees insist they are not officially on strike, no further work will be done for the present.

VETOES SAVE $200,000

IDAHO GOVERNOR CUTS MONEY BILLS DOWN STILL FURTHER.

Workmen's Compensation Act Opposed on Ground That Labor Would Not Be Helped by the Measure.

BOISE, Idaho, March 18.—(Special.)—The veto of appropriations right and left in the Governor's office today when the several appropriations bills and budgets were approved in part and disapproved in part by Governor Alexander. His day's work saved approximately $200,000. The workmen's compensation act was vetoed in full, the executive declining to act on it, and in behalf of the labor interests, whom it is supposed to benefit, that it did not carry out his recommendations, and with a $20,000 appropriation attached to it, was a bid for him to veto it, which he readily accepted. Labor organizations vigorously opposed it.

The appropriation bill carrying $610,273.50 had items totaling $19,225 cut out of it. The pay for the secretary of the State Board of Health was cut off entirely. The total left standing in the general deficiency is just sufficient to pay the maintenance force at the State Capitol, for the Governor vetoed a total of $27,208.79 in that item. There was $58,000 pruned out of the charitable budget and $19,500 out of the charitable and penal institution appropriation act. The University of Idaho and the Lewiston Normal suffered in the vetoes. A total of $4000 was vetoed from the university appropriation, $1000 for fair exhibits and $3000 for the summer school. The Lewiston Normal lost $2000, $4000 for summer school and $5000 for repairs.
