E. J. Stack, secretary of the State Federation of Labor, spoke at the peace meeting at the Central Library Saturday night.

"To us as laboring men." he con-tinued. "the stopping of the present Nuropean war will not mean peace. Our idea of peace is where all bear their own burdens and no more, where each an has sufficient and an opportunity man has sufficient and an opportunity to develop himself and his talents, and where coportunity for all is equal." Isnac Swett, attorney, in his address urged that these interested in bringing about world peace spend their time and energy in working out some concrete and definite plan for accomplishing their wishes rather than in contem-plating the horrors of war. Mrs J. W. Latimer told of the Baha-ians and of their work for international peace. She told how the founders of that body of people had worked out in the heart of Persia a complete prop-

The latter kept his eye@on the arti-ficial molar and thereby received sev-eral hard jolts, which had him stagger-ing at the end of the bout. Kaufman, however, could not overcome Bern-stein's early lead and lost the decision. The final bout came to an untimely end when Bernstein caught William Sorrenson a hard wallop on the jaw and dropped him. He remained on the canvas for a time and the referee awarded the bout to Bernstein. Sor-renson made an appeal to the referee to continue after he arose to his feet, but his request was denied amid jeers but his request was denied amid jeers of the crowd.

The Sihiwald, or city forest of Zurich, Switterland, adds to the town's revenues $7.20 an acre a year, reducing the amount needed to be raised through taxalion by more than $32,000.

Church last Thursday night the noted Dr. Russell H. Convell said:

"Men Who Own Their Own Homes Are the Best Citizens. The Desire to Become Wealthy and Independent Makes a Man Careful of His Living and Develops Good Habits."

The above is the keynote of the two classes this organization serves. In the first place it is the inherent desire on the part of every individual to own his own home. His future forms the incentive to do so. That is why with our guaranteed homes built better for less we are able to claim a wonderful future for our enterprise. On the other hand-the man who is careful of his living and has good habits-appreciates that to become wealthy he must place his savings or surplus capital where original profits are possible-and not be satisfied with a pittance which he receives when someone else makes use of his money. This enterprise is co-operative, and investors share equitably. The opportunity is better than anything else. The risk is less. It is a business proposition for business men and women.
