THOMAS O'DAY IS CALLED BY DEATH

Widely-Known Attorney and Political Leader Succumbs After Lingering Illness.

JUDICIAL POSITION IS HELD at the Imperial.

Courtesy to Bench, Kindly Treatment of Witnesses, and Deference to Opposing Counsel Among Notable Traits.

Judge Thomas O'Day, well-known member of the Oregon par, died yester-day morning at 4 o'clock at his home, a St. Helens court, Portland Heights. His death came after an illness of several months and was due to a compli-cation of lis that left him in a weak-ened condition.

ened condition.

With him when he died were his wife, Mrs. Agnes O'Day, Miss Mary Reber, of Seattle, who has been visiting the fainfily, and his nurse. Funeral arrangements had not been made yesterday, but are in charge of W. W. Cotton, general counsel for the O.-W. R. & N. Company, a friend of Judge O'Day for the past 25 years. It is expected the funeral will be held either tomorrow or Wednesday from Trinity Episcopal Church. Interment will be in Riverview Cemetery. Prominent attorneys of the city will act as pailbearers. Meanwhile the remains are at the Skewes Undertaking establishment.

Judge O'Day is survived by his widow and a baif-brother, T. J. O'Day, publisher of the Maiden Register, Maiden, Wash. He had no other relatives in the West. He was in his 63d year.

Judgeship is Held. With him when he died were his wife

Since he came to Portland Judge of Day acquired an extensive acquaintance throughout the city and state and gained prominence in the practice of law, being regarded as a jurist of wide attainments. He was appointed by Governor Chamberlain to the Circuit Court bench in August, 1907, to fill out an unexpired term, a position he held for two years. Judgeship Is Held.

an unexpired term, a position for two years.

Judge O'Day was associated with L. H. Tarpley for several years in law practice, but this firm was dissolved a few years ago and he had practiced alone since. He was regarded as a trial lawyer with few superiors and his courtesy toward the court, as well as his kindly treatment of witnesses and deference to opposing counsel was marked.

The reproduction is in three colors and makes one of the most striking advertising designs ever used by a Portland business house to call attention to the city's annual festival of roses.

The Hazelwood management, to get the mend before the larger cafe and restaurant managers of Oregon, Washington and California, has written commercial bodies in many cities for a list of restaurants and the mend cards will be mailed with personal letters urging a display of the card.

Other business houses in Portland have notified the publicity department they would make use of the Festival design 20 days prior to the Festival.
