

OREGON GOVERNOR EXPECTS MILITIA

Nine Full Companies Pass in Review Before Mr. Withycombe and Gen. White.

EXECUTIVE LAUDS TROOPS

Armory Congested With Greatest Turnout of Military Men Since Spanish-American War—Band Mutiny Pleasant Surprise.

The largest military turnout in Portland since the Spanish-American war was the inspection of Multnomah County troops by Governor Withycombe in the Armory Wednesday night. Nine full companies of infantry, artillery and cavalry, besides the sanitary detachments, passed in review before the Governor, Adjutant-General George A. White, and other military and state officers who were present for the inspection.

The spacious Armory floor was so crowded with troops that it was necessary for officers to march their men out to the street and around the block to permit them to turn around so they could actually pass in review.

In spite of the congestion due to an unprecedented military gathering, the militia executed maneuvers with a precision that brought frequent comment from Governor Withycombe and bursts of applause from the 100 or more persons in the gallery.

The troops were under the command of Colonel John L. May, of the Third Infantry, assisted by Captain Hotchkiss, his chief of staff, and the Provisional Battalion was commanded by Major L. A. Bowman, the Second by Major Charles T. Smith and the Provisional Battalion of artillery and cavalry by Captain Frank Tebbette.

The Third Infantry Band was on hand in full regalia, making the walls of the Armory resound with martial music. Following the review the entire regiment was lined up and 216 men were called from the ranks to receive medals which they had won during the past year.

The review of the militia was supervised by Captain Shoemaker under the supervision of General James Jackson, Inspector-General of the Oregon National Guard.

State Officials See Review. Secretary of State Oloot, State Treasurer Kay, Attorney-General Brown and numerous other state and county officials were on hand to witness the review.

Following the inspection, a big crowd and enlisted the members in the Armory ballroom for a dance. Officers and visitors were entertained in the officers' quarters, where refreshments were served.

Captain Gets Memento. Somewhat incensed, the captain mounted the stairs to the band's quarters, where he found the men lined up waiting for him. There his indignation was turned into an agreeable surprise.

License Bureau, when he appeared to go through the preliminary steps for making Temo Zellin, 20, modishly dressed and rosy checked, his fourth wife. After supplying all the details that the license blank would hold, Fitzsimmons was referred to Chief Clerk Scully, who told him he would have to show his divorce papers before the license could be issued.

That news brought consternation to the face of the ex-pugilist, and it is believed that he felt some peculiar anxiety over the matter, because it is reported that the ex-pugilist, who now gives his occupation as "actor," recently failed to get a license in New York.

While Fitzsimmons was hurrying to Manhattan for the papers that would satisfy Chief Clerk Scully, the bride-to-be sat in the license bureau room reading a newspaper. As the afternoon wore away, she became anxious, and watched the door constantly. Fitzsimmons apparently expected some difficulty in getting the papers—once.

Before he started for Manhattan, he telephoned and, judging from the annoyed expression on his face, the information he had obtained was not wholly satisfactory. One of Fitzsimmons' divorces was obtained in Chicago and the other in New York. Late in the afternoon Fitzsimmons returned to the now impatient Temo without the papers. His hunt was in vain.

"Old girl, I guess I'll have to throw up the sponge," he said, adding that he would have to go to another state, he guessed, for his fourth wedding.

Members of the First Methodist Church Wednesday continued with unabated success their "every member campaign" and succeeded in arousing the support and enthusiasm of scores of additional workers in various parts of the city.

Each of the five divisions in charge of the work hustled all day in the quest for members. At the final rally last night the reports indicated that the work has been productive of unexpected results. The campaign will be pushed for several days more. At the end of this period it is hoped that every registered member of the church will have been enrolled in the campaign of active service. Many new members also will have been obtained.

Dr. P. L. Loveland, pastor of the church, is the active head of the movement, and has given meticulous attention to the actual detail of solicitation among the members. His efforts alone have been productive of splendid results.

The five divisions into which the field forces have been organized are commanded by E. A. Baker, E. S. Miller, B. A. Green, L. B. Burt and George R. Parks respectively. Each commander has the rank of colonel. Each division is subdivided into four teams. There is much good turning out among the various divisions and among the several teams of each division.

The city has been divided into districts and each team is in charge of a district. The workers visit every church and enlist some of them in general church work.

Each night the teams make their reports to the congregation. There was much rejoicing last night when the returns showed that the campaign has resulted in the renewed interest of large numbers of members, who heretofore have taken only a passive interest in church work.

Dr. Loveland follows the campaign reports at night with a solemn interest. His subject last night was "Christianity Doubting." His remarks were illustrated. The big auditorium was crowded.

Advertisement for The Oregon Home Builders. Mr. F. T. Rodgers, Owner, Says: "Am more than satisfied with the efficient methods of The Oregon Home Builders. My experience is such, that if I were to build again I would go to this organization with perfect confidence knowing that plans, materials, workmanship and cost would be exactly as promised." THE KEY TO SUCCESS Success may be attained by the man of small salary as well as the capitalist. He may invest as he saves—from week to week or month to month. In this way he is saving toward a definite object. The investment must permit him to share equitably in original profits and not simply interest. The Oregon Home Builders offers the ideal investment. Its record is established—its operations safe—its profits legitimately large. Its field is without limit—and its future easily foreseen. It has many departments from which profits accrue. It has already paid an 8 per cent dividend. You cannot afford not to investigate thoroughly. We have many of the strongest financial men and women of this city as shareholders—and we have many of the smallest wage earners. Both are equal in power and in earnings. It is open to all while this stock lasts. Shares 35 cents. 500 shares, $180; 1000 shares, $360. THE OREGON HOME BUILDERS. Oliver K. Jeffery, President. 13th Floor Northwestern Bank Bldg.
