Glorious Easter Bats Are Here for Your Selection -A distinguished showing of the latest authentic styles in exclusive models that cannot be duplicated elsewhere, personally selected by our Mr. Dolon at the recent fashion shows in New York City and just arrived by express. Behold! The New Large Hats -Inspirations for these large, graceful shapes now so greatly favored were copied by our expert milliners from the original Paris models. Difficult as it is to catch the true spirit of these beautiful Paris hats, our artists have successfully reproduced them, and in many instances the hats are really more attractive than the originals. Of Lizare, Milan and other fashionable straws, combined with flowers, wings, bows, novelty effects and ostrich trimmings. Never Such Leghorns, Special $3.95 Designed for Misses and Women -The most unusual and attractive collection of beautiful hats we have ever shown at such a price. Made of leghorns or smooth braids with satin and Georgette crepe combinations. Trimmings of flowers, Choose From Hundreds of Trimmed Hats Special $4.95, $6.95 and $10.00 -Comparison will prove that no other store approaches our new millinery in styles, variety and quality at these low selling figures. These collections of moderate-priced millinery are exceptional and varied, embracing, as they do, the smartest and cleverest modes of the Sipman Wolfe & Co

POTASH BAN STAYS

Germany Refuses to Modify Embargo on Fertilizer.

REASON NOT GIVEN OUT

State Department's Efforts Fail, Although Negotiations With Britain for Non-Interference Were Favorable.

WASHINGTON April 2 .- Efforts of the United States Government to obtain concessions from Germany which would permit the importation of German potash fertilizer failed today, it became known here, when American officials were advised that Germany would make no alteration of her em-barge Negotiations had been in progress since the outbreak of the European war.

European war.

The German refusal came at a time when American officials believed the way had been cleared for a restoration of at least part of the potash traffic between Germany and the United States. The reason for the German refusal has not been disclosed.

Tentative Arrangement Once Made. Tentative Arrangement Once Made.

Officials would not discuss the subject. It is known, however, that after a long series of conferences with potash importers here and between American officials and the Foreign Office in Berlin and London an arrangement had been tentatively reached which it was believed, would allow American farmers and cottonraisers to obtain some part of the raisers to obtain some part of the shipments usually brought from Ger-der the Kallsyndikate, which arbitrarily fixes prices.

When the war began three steamers laden with potash which had been bought and paid for by American importers were held up and negotiations were opened on the basis of these cargoes. After many conferences the company finally agreed to allow these to proceed or to furnish a similar amount of potash, provided an agent of the United States Government should be designated as consignee to prevent the fertilizer from falling into the hands of the allies or employed to raise crops to be consumed by the fighting forces of Germany's enemies.

Department Still Hopeful.

It was agreed that the Department of Commerce should name a consigner from its staff, and on this basis ne-gotiations with Great Britain to pre-vent interference with shipments by the allied fleets are said to have been reaching a favorable stage, it being in dicated that not only the three cargoes mentioned, but other shipments contracted for after the opening of hostilities, would be allowed to reach the United States.

It is understood State Department officials are hopeful that further advices from Berlin will open the way for a renewal of negotiations.
