

RUSSIA ADDS 4200
SERBIAN CAPTIVES

Vienna Also Reports Victory in East Galicia, Routing Superior Forces.

2200 PRISONERS TAKEN

All Attacks of Last Few Days Declared Repulsed—Czar's Army, However, Reports Continuation of Important Gains.

LONDON, April 5.—The following Russian official statement concerning the war was received here tonight: "Along the front west of the Niemen River yesterday our troops continued to make successful progress at certain points."

"In the Carpathians during the night of April 3-4 and during the whole of the following day in the region to the north of Barföld, there was fierce fighting with artillery and the bayonet. We took 20 officers and more than 1200 soldiers prisoners and captured two machine guns. At the same time we continued to make progress on the front between Nicolaboron and Zabolie. In the course of the day we captured about 25 officers and more than 2000 soldiers and took three guns.

Supplies Are Captured. "Having occupied the railway station at Chisan (in the Carpathians on the Galician side, about 15 miles east of Lupkowitz), we captured engines and coaches, as well as a great stock of ammunition north of the province.

There was desperate fighting Wednesday and Thursday near the Village of Okna, to the north of Czernowitz (Bukovina), as a result of which we took more than 1000 prisoners whom the Austrians had left behind."

"The Vienna war office communication says: "In the Carpathians engagements continue on the heights on both sides of the Laborova Valley. The enemy, which until now has made violent attacks, was repulsed from several positions by a counter-attack, directed against the eastern neighboring heights.

Austrians Capture 2020. "Also at Virava a strong Russian attack was repulsed and 2020 Russian prisoners were taken yesterday. Copper Company, in the Bay of the Usok Pass the situation is unchanged. A renewed Russian attack failed after a short struggle."

"On the front in the Beskibunden section of the Carpathians it is generally quiet, since all Russian attacks of the past few days have been repulsed. In the neighboring east sections of the Carpathians strong Russian attacks continue.

"On the front between the Pruth and Dniester rivers (East Galicia) we repulsed a superior Russian attack. The enemy advanced in 10 to 15 echelons at several places and engagements continued until now, with heavy losses to the enemy, who were everywhere repulsed and retreated in flight in the southern section.

"In Poland and West Galicia the situation is unchanged. A Russian night attack on the Lower Nida failed under efficient fire from our positions."

TURKS REPORT VICTORY

PARIS, April 5.—(By Wireless to Constantinople.)—A report received in Berlin from Athens says the British battleship Lord Nelson, stranded inside the Dardanelles, has been destroyed by the fire of the Turkish guns on shore.

This information was given out today by the Overseas News Agency. A council of war held by the British and French admirals, the Athens dispatch continues, decided to postpone the attempts to force the Dardanelles on account of the insufficient strength of the landing expedition.

A dispatch from Constantinople says the following statement has been issued by the Turkish War Office: "Our fleet yesterday sank two Russian ships, the Provident of 2000 tons, and the Vostochnaja of 1500 tons, at Odessa."

"Our batteries of Kum Kalsh sunk an enemy mine-sweeper which attempted to approach the entrance to the Dardanelles."

The dispatch from Athens is the first intimation of the loss of the British battleship Lord Nelson. Her name has not been mentioned in any of the dispatches concerning the Dardanelles operations.

"She was 410 feet long, displaced 15,500 tons and was built in 1906. She was armed with four 12-inch guns, 10 5.2-inch and 13 3-inch guns and carried a complement of 855 men."

ITALY SHAKEN BY QUAKE

ROME AND NEARBY PROVINCES RECORD DISTURBANCES.

Frightened Persons in Zone Damaged, but No Lives Are Lost.

ROME, April 5.—A slight earthquake was felt here at 7:20 A. M. today. The quake lasted four seconds. The alarm of the people here quickly subsided, as no damage was done. Telegrams from Fivoli, Castelmadama and San Paolo reported the same disturbance, but no casualties.

In the Abruzzi provinces there was great alarm. Fortunately almost the entire population here is still living under tents or in huts or wooden shacks put up after the disastrous earthquake of January. This fact is largely responsible for the lack of casualties in the provinces.

At Tagliacozzo the earth shook was violent. The people rushed into the streets, several houses were damaged. A huge rock which overhangs the village of Petrellaliri was loosened by the earthquake and the people fled from their homes. Soldiers and engineers hurried to their assistance.

Avezzano Is Rocked Daily. AVEZZANO, Italy, via Paris, April 5.—Earth shocks have been of daily occurrence here since the disastrous earthquake of January 13, but the disturbance of this morning was the most severe of any in this interval. Virtually no damage was done in Avezzano or the surrounding villages, for the reason that the January disaster worked such havoc that there was little left to be destroyed.

11 DAYS' REGISTRATION DUE

Books to Reopen for City Election After Vote on Bonds.

Registration books will reopen for 11 days immediately after the special road bond election April 14, according to an announcement by County Clerk Coy. Fey yesterday. The extra period is to give voters further opportunity to register for the city election to be held on June 7.

The City Council had requested a 30-day registration period when the bonds were opened March 15. Later the road bond election was set for April 14, and under the state law the books had to be closed 30 days prior to the special election. This closing took place Saturday, April 3, and the city had 11 days remaining.

SAXONS AND BAVARIANS ACCUSE PRUSSIAN SUPERIORS.

Prisoners Taken at Neuve Chappelle Say Leaders Sent Them to Doom by Misrepresentation.

LONDON, April 5.—"Prussians, Bavarians and Saxons took part in the fighting at Neuve Chappelle, but their mutual co-operation does not seem at first sight to have been as good as the eyewitnesses attached to British headquarters in France, in a communication dated April 2.

"Our prisoners of the two last mentioned nationalities expressed great indignation," the writer goes on to say, "in the manner in which they were treated by the Prussians. They were given them, so they have said, to reinforce the firing line, but on advancing to the firing line, they discovered that they were alone and unsupported. Many surrendered in consequence. On the whole they are under the impression that they were grossly misled by the Prussian officers."

"The treatment of their own wounded by the Germans was callous to a degree. Although numbers were lying in front of the trenches in many places, no effort was made to pick them up. At last our men were compelled by the Prussians to shoot themselves, to endeavor to reach these wounded, but the Germans continued to shoot and they hit some of our men who were lying in the trenches. It was obvious, although their intentions were merciful, that there is reason to believe that many of the wounded were Bavarians and Saxons who were lying in the trenches were Prussians."

DENVER, April 5.—A. P. Ardourel, member of the Colorado Legislature, was arrested today on a charge of assault and battery sworn to by C. H. Newell, editor of the Denver Express.

Newell on Saturday was publicly reprimanded by the House of Representatives on account of a fist fight between himself and Ardourel on the floor of the House the preceding day. Ardourel was released on $200 bond.

LABOR ISSUE MADE BY BRITISH WOMEN

With Mechanics Fighting, Fear Rises Lest Wage Scale Will Fall.

FACTORIES ARE KEPT BUSY

Big Question Involved in Taking Men's Places During War Are Being Discussed by Leaders in Industrial Life.

BY CAROLYN WILSON. Copyright, 1915, by the Chicago Tribune.

LONDON, March 19.—If the rumored figures of Kitchener's army are true, then, with the absolute certainty of much larger drafts on the industrial world and the possibility of later conscription, it becomes a very vital question providing substitutes for these men in the fields and the factories and the towns.

Women must be trained to take their places, but then, immediately these questions arise: "Will women be willing to work for less?" "Won't they, as untrained hands, be forced to work for less?"

Lowering of Standard Discussed. "Won't the standard be lowered?" "And won't they be so firmly entrenched in their new work when the men come back from the war that they will be difficult for the men to get back their old positions?"

These are all questions which the labor party is trying to arrange, never slackening the apprenticeship and training of the women the while, and endeavoring above all things to keep the children out of the factories and the mines.

The government factories must work day and night. The new bill which has just gone into effect—so unusual as to be almost revolutionary here in England—to the effect that the government may take over all factories and workshops capable of producing ammunition and government supplies, will furnish the demand for thousands of extra workers.

Mechanics Gone to Front. Most of the workers must be trained. A lamentably large number of expert engineers and mechanics have gone to the front—their employers taking no steps to keep them to their duty of manufacturing ammunition because they hoped to replace them with less skilled, cheaper labor, running it in double shifts.

So there is being a general transference of labor in England. Men who have a slight knowledge along this line are being pushed forward and women are stepping in to fill the places of the men thus promoted.

The talk then passed to women as farm laborers, since a certain government importance has been given to the subject by Mr. Chaplin's speech in Parliament and Mr. Asquith's endorsement of it. There is a great dearth of men in the country districts, but the farmers are loath to hire women.

"And if they take boys or women they are sure to pay smaller wages," said Miss Sanger, "and the status of the farm worker has only recently reached a living wage."

"It is unthinkable that it shall be allowed to fall again, now that the men who have worked and fought for it are at the front, and that they should come home and find women entrenched in their old positions at much smaller wages."

According to Miss MacArthur, the big thing is that boys shall not be allowed to leave their schooling and go to work as farmers' assistants. This is what Mr. Chaplin advised the statistics of Mr. Asquith has proved by his figures that between September and January 1152 boys and 42 girls, all under 14 years of age, have been allowed to leave school to go to work on the farms. This, of course, was the season when there was practically no farm work to be done.

But if one reads the statistics of illiteracy in England one sees how important it is that the children should remain in school. Out of every 100 men in England and Wales there are 10 who cannot sign the marriage register, and 12 out of every 100 women. This can be taken as proof of absolute illiteracy, since the first thing everyone learns to write is his own name. Of course one wonders how many more of those who can write their names are unable to read anything else and unable to read.

So great, so recognized is illiteracy here that the insurance offices have special forms for illiterates. Now, when things are like this in normal times, it seems hardly right that with all the destruction and havoc the war is making that it should also be responsible for more ignorance and a general lowering of the mental standard.
