Military observers now expect Germany to launch a vigorous offensive in Russian Poland, from Cracow or Thorn, in an effort to detract the Russians to comprehension of the word 'patriotism'.

On the other hand, it is believed by some that Germany has extended her-self to the utmost to reinforce the hard-pressed Austrians in the Carpathians. The Russian official communication

Sense of Answers Distorted.

The papers, many of them in the pay of the employing interests, aggravate the trouble by twisting the sense of the demands and answers. For instance, in the Clyde strike, the men said they would go back again on short time, meaning that they refused to work in double shifts. The papers came out with huge headlines to the effect that the men would go back but would delay and retard the work by putting out poor or careless work. Sense of Answers Distorted

"In Belgium, near Drei Grachten, the Germans by an attack occupied part of a trench on the left bank of the Yser.

"In Champagne there have been infantry attacks of quite local but vigorous character. To the north of Beausejour the Germans endeavored to retake part of the trenches lost by them last month. They were mowed down, except at one point, where they succeeded yesterday evening, installing themselves in an advanced French position. Today we made a counter-attack. We recaptured the place and pushed the enemy back to his point of departure, inflicting appreciable losses on him.

"On the southeastern slope of Hartmanns-Weilerkopf the number of prisoners taken by us during the last few days was 150."

Workmen's compensation law, in the hands of an industrial Commission of three members to be appointed by the Governor.
