

CHAMBER BY-LAWS SENT TO PRINTER

Copies Will Be Mailed to Members in Time for Perusal Before Ratification.

MEETING THURSDAY NIGHT

Progress in Organization Expected Enabling Nomination by Bureaus Next Week and Election of Directorate April 23.

The constitution and by-laws committee of the new Portland Chamber of Commerce filed its report yesterday with the consolidation committee and copies of the proposed constitution and by-laws will be printed and mailed to the members of the Chamber not later than tomorrow night.

The general meeting of the Chamber in its full membership will be held in the clubrooms Thursday night, at which time the constitution and by-laws will be adopted and preparations made for the organization of the various bureaus and the election of a board of directors. The organization of the bureaus will be carried far enough, it is expected, that by Monday next the different divisions can begin naming their candidates for the board of directors.

The constitution submitted by the committee, of which C. W. Hodson was chairman, provides in its first three articles for a perpetual corporation under the name of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, for the purpose of promoting the commercial, civic and industrial welfare of Portland, of the State of Oregon and the Pacific Northwest and the United States.

The control is vested in a board of 20 governors, three from each of the nine bureaus and three from the membership council. Article 5 designates and defines the organization of the nine bureaus: civic, trade and commerce, industries and manufactures, retail merchants, public utility and conventions, Oregon development, traffic and transportation, grain inspection and legislation and taxation.

Memberships are listed as resident, non-resident, life and honorary. Only resident and life members are entitled to vote. Non-resident members include consular agents from foreign countries, officers of the United States Coast Survey, Army or Navy; members of any scientific corps engaged in the service of the Government; and non-resident residents of Oregon; commercial travelers and persons not residing within 20 miles of the City of Portland.

large. If you are convicted of this crime I will sentence you to imprisonment for life," said Circuit Judge Gatens to James Waldon yesterday morning.

Waldon then quickly availed himself of Deputy District Attorney Collier's offer to plead guilty and take a sentence of three to 15 years in the penitentiary. He admitted that he was with Oscar Johnson in an attempt to hold up Frank Ruppert's grocery store at Eleventh and Jefferson streets.

Johnson entered the courtroom on crutches. He had been shot in the leg in a running battle on the street following the attempt to hold up Ruppert. He was sentenced to the same term as his partner.

Johnson and Waldon have both served time in the penitentiary before, and under the "habitual criminal" section of the code, they must serve at least six to their minimum sentences, or six years.

PEACE WILL BE TOPIC

NEXT SUNDAY TO BE OBSERVED BY SPECIAL SERVICES.

Idea Originating Among Clergy of San Francisco Finds Response in Portland and Elsewhere.

Next Sunday is to be observed in many of the churches of the United States as "Peace Sunday." The designation of this particular Sunday was the inspiration of the clergy of San Francisco who assembled a few weeks ago at a union meeting and decided to ask the co-operation of other cities in the observance of the day.

April 13 is the ninth anniversary of the great earthquake and fire that devastated San Francisco. In those nine years the city has risen from the ashes and has been rebuilt on a firmer plan, morally as well as financially.

A large percentage of Portland ministers have signified their intention of observing the day, and special sermons and music are being prepared for the event.

Rev. A. A. Morrison, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, will have an elaborate peace day service. Rev. J. E. H.

For the Unemployed.

Can any rational man suggest a more practical way of relieving the present unemployment than by providing employment in building permanent roads? There is no better means. Therefore, vote tomorrow for good roads.

Simpson, of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, and Rev. T. F. Bowen, of St. Michael's and All Angels, are among those who will speak on peace.

Those who signed the plea for the observance of the day in San Francisco were: William E. Nichols, bishop of California; Ed. J. Hanman, bishop of San Francisco; Frederick W. Clampett, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church; Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of University of California; David Starr Jordan, chancellor Stanford University; Martin A. Meyer, rabbi Congregation Emanu-El; Charles F. Aked, minister of the First Congregational Church; Caleb S. S. Dutton, minister of the First Unitarian Church; H. J. McCoy, general secretary Y. M. C. A.; William Kirk Guthrie, minister of the First Presbyterian Church; E. R. Dille, D. D., pastor Methodist Episcopal Church; Edwin H. Hughes, D. D., bishop of Methodist Episcopal Church.

C. W. Andrews Moved to Portland.

C. W. Andrews, heretofore traveling freight agent for the Southern Pacific at Seattle, has been promoted to a similar position with the same company with headquarters at Portland. His territory will comprise the Willamette Valley and branch lines. A. D. Wick, traveling passenger agent at Seattle, will become traveling freight passenger agent. Mr. Wick formerly was counter clerk in the general passenger office in Portland.
