se to Be Enlarged, With Same Fac ulty, After Removal of Department, Announces Dean.

Although the University of Oregon law department will be removed to Eu-gene, the same school, except for a change of name, will continue to operate in Portland, was the announcement made to the classes last night by Cir-cuit Judge Gantenbein, dean of the Arrangements have been made with the university faculty whereby fresh-men enrolled in the school in Portland may complete their studies here and receive a University of Oreson diploma at the end of their course, said Judge

Gantenbein.

Not only will the present school continue with the same faculty, said the Judge, but the course will be somewhat enlarsed. Instruction will continue for 36 weeks in the year instead of 30 weeks and there will be aix instead of three lectures cach week.

"The law department conducted in Portland," said Judge Gantenbein, "was organized 31 years ago with an appropriation of $600 a year, when the university itself was receiving only $30,000 annually from the state. The law department has never asked for an increase and is probably the only state institution of which this can be said. Of the 580 graduates since the school opened, only seven have thus far failed to pass the state bar examination.

"Abandoning the Portland school almply will result in a change of name, as the present faculty will organize an independent night school in Portland to satisfy the demand for an institution of that kind on the part of those who desire to study law and are unable to leave their homes or to pursue their studies without any opportunity to earn.

"The name will be selected in the near future. The course will cover a period of three years, 36 weeks a year, with six lectures & week."

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Newadays, by asking at any drugstore for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 55 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. Fou dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strane at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after shother application or two, your hair becomes heautifully dark thick and glossy.
