PORTLAND GIRL WHO WAS BRIDE AT WEDDING LAST NIGHT.

Mrs. David Clayton Jr. (Lenette Ferguson)

MISS LENNETTE FERGUSON became the bride of David Milton Clayton, Jr., of Seattle, at 8 o'clock last night, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Z. Ferguson, Rev. W. S. Forest, of Fenwick, Cal., officiating. It was a pink and white wedding, all the details, floral decorations and gowns developing the color scheme. Garlands of fruit blossoms in the pale pink tones, roses and lacy ferns were arranged effectively about the rooming creations of pink tulle and white lace. The bride wore a gown of pink tulle and white lace, with shirred point d'esprit net, and her bouquets were showers of pink sweet peas. Miss Margaret Griffin was maid of honor, and the Misses Martha Whitting and Margaret Ferguson, of Los Angeles, were bridesmaids; little Miss Sarah McLeod was flower girl. The maid of honor, Miss Griffin, wore a gown of white tulle and pink ribbons. Her bouquet was a mass of pink Killarney roses. The flower girl was sweet in an embroidered sheer lingerie frock, and she carried a basket of pink roses.

The bride was charming in a gown of Duchess satin, with a graceful one-sided oversleeve of silk net, heavily embroidered; the bodice was of the same brodered net, and the new long sleeves of tulle added chic to the costume. The full court train was trimmed with pink ribbons, and the skirt was of pink tulle, draped and fastened with pink ribbons. Her bouquet was a mass of pink Killarney roses. The flower girl was sweet in an embroidered sheer lingerie frock, and she carried a basket of pink roses.

Members of the Irvington Club will entertain this evening with their regular monthly dance. There will be also a reception to new members and all members of the club are requested to be present.

The Daughters of the Crown will present an "Ellivudav" at Grace Methodist Church, 11th and Commercial, and Wedder streets, this evening at 8 o'clock. Several short plays included in the programme are: "Aunt Jennie's Money," "The Clubwomen," "The Home Guard." The girls have been working diligently for the past six weeks under the direction of Mrs. E. Thompson. The proceeds of the evening will go toward the fund for raising the church debt. All are welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Digman left yesterday for a few weeks visit at the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Women's Clubs
By Edith Knight Holmes

The psychology department of the Portland Woman's Club will meet today at 1:15 o'clock. Instead of the usual lecture the hour will be devoted to music. Mrs. Edith Haines Kester, having consented to sing a group of songs. Among the selections will be some of her own composition, including "The Champion," "The Clubwomen," which were written by Mrs. Florence Crawford, the leader of the psychology department of the Woman's Club. Mrs. Crawford has written some beautiful prose and poetry on "Peace," some of the best productions having appeared in the last issue of the Comforter, a trim little magazine that advocates peace and happiness. The approach of Peace Sunday makes Mrs. Crawford's work all the more interesting.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

If Cross, Feverish or Bilious Give "California Syrup of Figs."

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be used. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver, bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

On and on he ran, never stopping until he was at home. After while Billy Pig awoke and picked up his lunch basket. "I had a fine nap," he said. "I guess I will try my luck again if that old Mr. Frog hasn't scared them away for the day." Billy Pig dropped his lunch basket and his eyes popped wide open when he saw Billy Goat full of fish.

"Maybe they were mad with Mr. Frog for telling them to keep down," Billy Pig thought. "Hello, Billy Goat," he called, "do you like fish?" "Where did you get it?" he asked. "Of course," said the naughty Billy Pig.

Billy Goat knew then what had happened and that it was Billy Pig's snore that frightened him away. If he told Billy Pig he knew he did not catch the fish, he would have to tell him why he ran and left the fish, Billy Goat smiled a very faint smile and took the fish into the house.

"The 'Don't' Child." Most of us have heard of the little girl whose reply to a stranger who asked her name was "Dorothy Don't." She had heard it so much she really thought it true. Yet do you suppose the use of that term so frequently was due to her own willfulness or disobedience, or to her mother's thoughtlessness?

It is easier to say "don't" than "do." One means cessation, the other activity. What one stops the child from whatever he is doing, the other must supply the childish mind with something to do, must give idle hands and restless feet employment. And so it is easier to say "don't."

And many a child is brought up on the "don't" theory. The admonition of some older member of the family to "go upstairs and see what Willie is doing and tell him not to" is an old story. And in many a home you hear something like this all day long: "Don't be so noisy." "Don't play in the house." "Don't you dare bring that dog in again." "Don't you go near that little girl across the street." "Don't you answer me back that way." "Don't get your new suit dirty." "Don't you playball with the boys."

What do you suppose is the effect upon the child, day in and out, and week in and out? Will it not make him sullen or secretive or openly disobedient? "But children are such trials," sighs a weary mother. "What are you going to do? Let them track mud all over the house? And break window panes? And get their clothes dirty? Of course not. But can't you make an alliance with them? Get them on your side. Don't range them with the enemy." Children are easily led if you go about it in the right way. And they are fond of games and make-believe.

Insist on SUNKIST

Let it be a game to keep the house clean. Let it be a matter of honor not to play with certain associates and let them know why you do not want them to. Get them to side with you in what is necessary to be done. Youngsters are wonderfully loyal and enthusiastic once you win them. And they are more easily won by reason and right than by force. The trouble is that most of us take the repulsive course as being the easiest. It is less trouble to say to Willie, "Don't you blow soap bubbles over the parlor carpet," than it is to distract Willie's attention from soap bubbles by giving him something less harmful to play with.

But one method is constructive, the other destructive. One enlists the child's co-operation, arouses his enthusiasm, gives him initiative, makes him resourceful, makes him feel he is standing shoulder to shoulder with mother and father for the good of the home and himself. The other makes warfare in the home. And they are more easily won by reason and right than by force. The trouble is that most of us take the repulsive course as being the easiest. (Beauty Culture)
Two or three minutes' use of a delicate paste will banish every bit of hair from your face, neck or arms. This paste is made by mixing some water with powdered delatone. After the paste is removed, the skin should be washed to free it from the remaining delatone and it will be clear and spotless. You will not be disappointed with this treatment if you are sure to obtain real delatone from your druggist.—Adv.

ELDERLY PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE VINOL

Aged Texas Woman Says: Old People Who Are Weak and Feeble Should Know the Merits of Vinol.

Grand Saline, Texas.—"I am an aged woman, and for a long time was weak and feeble, but I have found Vinol to be the best medicine to create strength for old people and for chronic colds I have ever taken. It has restored my health and strength so that I feel almost young again; in fact, I am now doing all my own housework."

"Old people who are weak and feeble should try Vinol and know its merits as I do. I have proved Vinol a good, reliable medicine and much cheaper than paying doctor's bills, and you may publish what I say about Vinol for the benefit of others."—Mrs. Fannie E. Rodgers, Grand Saline, Tex.

"Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, sharpens the appetite, aids digestion, enriches the blood, builds up natural strength and energy. We have seen such splendid results from its use that we return the money in every case where Vinol fails to build up and strengthen feeble old people, delicate children and the weak, nervous, run-down and debilitated, or stop chronic colds, coughs or bronchitis."
