

PRESIDENT URGES CALM IN AMERICA

Mr. Wilson Speaks Guardedly of World Crisis, Pleading for All to Keep Poise.

FRANCE'S THANKS UTTERED

Ambassador Jusserand One of Speakers Before Daughters of American Revolution, Which Holds Election Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The need of self-possession, calmness and a judicial temperament on the part of the United States in the present world crisis was urged today by President Wilson, in a speech before the opening session of the 24th continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The President said self-possession was the supreme test of a nation's mettle, and urged the congress to rally to the cause of righteousness, as ministered by those who hold their minds quiet and judge upon principle.

Following the President's speech Ambassador Jusserand, of France, told the congress that the United States had behaved in the European crisis in such a way as to command the gratitude and thankfulness of the world.

France Expresses Gratitude. "We in France," he said, "have learned to know what the American heart is made of—the pure American gold that is in it. I am glad that I may affirm the thanks of France for the generosity of America—the neutral United States."

The Ambassador said the chief question in the European struggle was the same problem that confronted America in revolutionary times, "What is to be done when the problem of human liberty" he added, "but it again confronts us. It will be solved now just as it was solved in former times, and it was solved in the trenches at Yorktown."

The annual message of the president-general, Mrs. William C. Cushing, of New York, was followed by the start of a sharp contest over the offices, which will reach its climax in the election on Wednesday.

Two Candidates Active. All the offices are to be filled in the biennial election this year, but of overshadowing interest is the contest over the election of a president-general. The congress this year, as was the case two years ago, apparently is divided into two factions—one supporting Mrs. Cushing and the other George Thatcher Guernsey, of Kansas.

The President in his speech declared that he could speak only in general terms, and that it was best for him to even speak in that way.

President Looks to Future. His address in part follows: "Your society particularly is intended to commemorate the circumstances of the birth of this Nation, but I take it for granted that it is not your thought to create an exclusive company of those who were here, but to hereditarily run back to that great day, but that your thought is also of the constant rebirth of the Nation."

"In a peculiar degree the United States seems to be reborn from generation to generation, because the Nation is renewed out of all the sources of human energy in the world. There is here a great melting-pot in which we must compound a precious metal. That metal is the metal of nationality, and if you will not merely play upon words, I would like to spell the word 'metal' in two ways. For it is just the metal of this Nation that we are now most interested in."

Traditions Not Sacred. "I venture to say that if there ever should be discovered a better form of government than the Democratic, we should wish to adopt it, because it was better, for our object is not to stick in the bark, but to keep it merely to preserve forms, but to preserve a precious essence, and that is the essence of equal opportunity and essential human rights. Such ideals cannot be maintained with steadiness of view amidst contest and excitement, and what I am constantly hoping is that every great influence, such as you ladies exercise, for example, will be exercised to produce the sober second thought upon every critical matter that arises."

Silence Regarding Favor in European War Is Declared Crime and Presentation of Aspirations for Tangiers Is Suggested.

MADRID, via Paris, April 19.—"Silence at present is a crime, for if we wait until the moment of victory to show our sympathy for the victor, it is probable we shall be too late," was the assertion made by Count Alvaro de Romanones, ex-Premier of Spain, in speaking yesterday to a large audience at Palma, capital of the Balearic Isles.

He pointed out that Spain's foreign policy since the Cartagena agreement in 1907 has been more and more favorable to the triple entente.

"The present hours are so grave and important," said the ex-Premier, "that it is necessary for Spain to make a solemn declaration. Without violating our neutrality we must say who among the belligerents we consider our friends."

Count Romanones' address was enthusiastically cheered by his hearers. The speaker said among other things that the government was obliged to be silent on the subject, but that men who come in power could declare that Tangiers was a national aspiration, and that the future of Spain was in the Mediterranean, while the future of Portugal was in America.

At the same time Count Romanones was speaking at Palma, Premier Dato delivered an address in Barcelona, in which he appealed to the people to aid the government in the difficult task of defending its interests.

AUSTRIA ATTACK ENDS, SAYS FOE

Desperate Attempts to Take Important Carpathian Heights Are Failure.

BAYONETS WIN FOR RUSSIA

More Than 2100 New Captives Are Reported by Petrograd and Positions Are Declared to Be Organized Satisfactorily.

PETROGRAD, via London, April 19.—Austrian attacks on the heights of the Mezolaboroz district of Hungary, where the Austrians for six days have been furiously attempting to reach positions recently taken by the Russians, appear to have definitely subsided.

The attacks, which exceeded in violence any action on this front, reached their greatest intensity April 17, when 18 assaults are reported to have been made on that one day. The encounter ended in the evening in a desperate bayonet charge and sustained hand-to-hand encounter, which left the Russians, according to reports received by the Russian officials, firmly entrenched on the height of Telepotch. After this the Austrian attack appeared to have spent itself and there are no indications of a resumption of activity in this region.

The Austrian assaults on the other important height in the East Baskids, namely Zeloe, were repulsed chiefly by the fire of rifles and machine guns. After three other encounters along the Austrians here, too, gave up the attempt to regain the summit.

On the northern front, the swampy condition of the thawing ground prevents operations on a large scale. The Russian Army headquarters tonight gave out the following statement: "On Sunday night the enemy suffered great losses in a further attack on our troops on the heights of Telepotch (in the Carpathian Mountains). By counter-attack we forced the enemy to evacuate the approaches to our positions and we captured an Austrian battalion (almost 1000 men), which surrendered en bloc."

"It is confirmed that on April 18, when we captured a height to the southwest of the village of Polen, we took 1165 men and more than 20 officers. We also captured six machine guns."

"On April 17 we repulsed two fresh attacks in the direction of Stry. On one of our front there was no change."
