PARTY IN OREGON BUILDING SUCCESS

First Big Event Gives State Enviable Place in Annals of Fair Social Events.

PROGRAMME GIVEN

Carrie Jacobs Bond Sings Beautifully and Comments Favorably on Acoustics of Hall in Display Edifice.

BY ANNE SHANNON MONROE, SAN FRANCISCO, April 19.—(Spe cial.)-The nicest thing about a party is talking it over around the dying embers of the open fire after the guests are all gone, especially if you can tell each other over and over again, "wasn't it a success?" And this is just what has been happening in the Oregon building since our big first the Oregon building since our big first party of Thursday evening, honoring Mrs. O. M. Clark, Miss Mabel Withycombe, Miss Ava Milam, and Miss Sarah L. Lewis, the last two being professors of domestic science at the Oregon Agricultural College. If Oregon's first big function, socially, is an indication of the future, then she is to have an enviable name in the fair annals of social events.

Carrie Jacobs Bond would seem to have purposely created her programme for the Oregon evening—her one San Francisco appearance—so beautifully Francisco appearance—so beautifully did she weave her "talk" into and around our stately building. She is perfectly enchanted with Oregon, its exhibits, fine woods and its people.

Acoustics Are Good. She said after her programme she had never given a song recital in a hall so perfectly suited to it as the Oregon reception-room. The acoustics are perfect and the color notes so harmonomious and quiet that it made a perfect setting. She sang "A Ferfect Day," her best-known song, also "I Love You Truly," "Just a-Wearying For You" and several groups of shorter things that captivated her audier things that captivated her audience. In fact she was applauded at stormfly that I wondered if they ever would let her sit down.

A nice part about our party was its informality. Mrs. Robert G. Hailey was a gracious hostess and Mrs. O. M. was a gracious hostess and Mrs. O. M. Clark and Miss Withycombe gave themselves up to seeing that all the guests had a pleasant evening. Mrs. Freytag, Mrs. Ravelin, Mrs. Bishop, the college people—all the "Oregon family," in fact, and the Livelys—seemed to feel responsible for the success of the evening and entered into the spirit of the affair as if it were in their own homes.

A lovely thing about the decorations was a generous shipment of Oregon grape from M. L. Kline, of Portland, which arrived that day and made the reception-room a woodland of Oregon greens. The grape was hung over the chandeliers and used as a background for the cut flowers.

Dancing Follows Programme.

After the song recital, when every one had met Mrs. Bond, Mr. Clark directed many to the moving pictures, others went to the top floor for dancing, the orchestral music being supplied by Mr. Ruzzi, well known in Portland as an orchestra director.

A feature that held a continual throng of admirers was the children's corner, the only thing of the kind on the grounds. A child's delihouse, completely furnished with piano, library, russ electric lights and a Nosh's ark pletely furnished with plane, library, rugs, electric lights and a Noah's ark, a really pretentious structure, into which, across the end of the room, the animals are seen to be going "two by two"—every animal known to a child's animal book being represented.

The grown-ups were delighted with the childish toys, and they were delighted with the punch served in another room, and with the dencing, and with everything else.

PERFECT SUMMER DAYS BRING OUT PROLIFIC CROP OF STRAW HATS THROUGHOUT THE CITY.

SOME OF THE EARLY ONES CAUGHT BY CAMERA MAN. Ideal midsummer weather the past few days brought many a straw hat

Ideal midsummer weather the past few days brought many a straw hat from last year's hiding place, while the warm sun drove many citizens to their favorite haberdasher for a new lid of the latest vintage. Dealers, taking advantage of the recent straw-hat weather, have been featuring the Summer headgear of late, and many there were who could not resist the lure to replace their heavy Winter hat with one of lighter weight and more in harmony with the sunshiney weather.

Pictures of the first straw-hat wearers of the season show that no particular model is favored, but there are many styles, due, possibly, to many straws having been lifted from the wardrobe shelf, where they have been in storage since the first of last Septem ber.

Siraw hats are like the roses—earlier this year than ever. They were, however, entirely in harmony with the weather yesterday, and even the most timid may wear them with perfect propriety from this time forth whenever they suit the weather.

by Large Audiences.

Sparkling and effervescent is this week's Pantages bill, with a decorative cheme that embraces all the rainbow colors, music that runs from ragtime to Renalssance, singing, dancing, a sketch, acrobats, comedy and all the sition pleasing mixtures that blend best together in the name of vaudeville. A sweet bouquet heads the list. They are the dancing Forget-Me-Nots, and each one is as graceful and as dainty as the flower whose name they've taken. No one can forget the Forget Me-Not girls. They are spirited little dancers, vivacious, young and exceptionally clever. Of this sum, $20,000 had been expended on the new ride, the Mystic River, said Mr. Cordray yesterday.

The Mystic River is close to half a mile in length and several minutes are required to traverse it. The boats float along picturesque canals, through dash-ing rapids, over mountain peaks, ofer which aqueducts lead, and traverse deep canyons.

Thousands of Lights Are Used. The Mystic River is believed to be the most attractive amusement device in the West, and is, in fact, the only one on the Coast, with the exception of one at the Panama-Pacific Expo-ing taken from a spring in the hill at Sellwood. The attraction and its motors have been built above river level and there is no danger of a high-water condition requiring its suspension from operation. More than $100 32-candle-power ghts are required to illuminate the iterior and exterior of the river ride.
