

ELECTRIC PAGEANT TO BE IN FESTIVAL

Board Harkens to Plea of Jovians and Others for Addition of Feature.

PARADE'S VALUE RELATED

Financial Difficulties Easily Met by Theatrical Benefits and Other Means, Says Request to Governors of Show.

The electrical pageant, which has been one of the most distinctive features in the Rose Festival, will not be omitted this year.

The board of directors of the festival made this decision last night after receiving the formal resolutions from the Jovian League.

This decision is the result of a campaign inaugurated by the Jovians a little more than a week ago.

The board immediately appointed a committee and called upon all other civic organizations of the city to cooperate in a movement to have the electrical parade reproduced as given in the festival last year.

C. E. Warner submitted the resolutions resulting from the activities of the Jovians and other organizations to the board of directors of the festival last night.

The board replied with resolutions, unanimously adopted, to reproduce the pageant and appointed F. W. Hild chairman of a committee.

The plan will be to give not only a reproduction of the brilliant pageant of last year, but to amplify it with innumerable new features.

The Jovians, in whose membership is included practically all of the electrical engineers and electricians of the city, have pledged their cooperation and will arrange for a large number of the proposed new features.

After arguing that the electrical parade has created a great deal of interest in the festival and that many thousands of visitors would be disappointed if it were omitted.

Completely overlooking the objections of the few obstructionists among their number, the people of Oswego, in mass meeting assembled, Tuesday night adopted resolutions endorsing the cement plant.

It was pointed out that probably 150 workers would get profitable employment throughout the year.

The plant was started three or four years ago, but the magnificent buildings and machinery never were completed.

PLEA FOR PRINCIPAL MADE Woodlawn Patrons to Have Hearing Before Board for C. M. Stafford.

NEW RATE SCHEME BLOW AT PORTLAND

J. N. Teal, Back From East, Says Roads Would Strip City of Advantages.

WHOLE COAST AFFECTED

Industries of Cities in Balance, Is Assertion, and Plan Is 'Bared' to Build Up Spokane Trade at Others' Expense.

"A much greater question than that of mere rates is involved in the application of the carriers for readjustment of transcontinental rates to the interior," says Joseph N. Teal.

"It is the question," he continued, "of retaining the natural advantages given them by their position on tidewater."

Mr. Teal points out that in the pending application of the carriers an effort is being made to give Spokane and other interior cities the advantage of water competition when, in fact, water competition does not exist.
