"Now. atter of fact, Mr. Roosevelt," said ivins, "did you make an affidavit in 1897 in Oyster Bay that you were a resident of New York?"
"I do not remember. But I did become a resident of New York at that period."

Mr. Ivins produced a photograph of a letter which Colonel Roosevelt iden-tified as his. It was addressed to John J. Chapman. In it the Colonel said that if he were nominated for Governor it if he were nominated for Governor it would be on the same ticket with other candidates for other offices. He added, if elected Governor he would strive to serve the state and his party and that he would like the aid of independents. He said he could not accept a nomination on terms.

The withdrawal of Frank Black from the race for the Governorship was dis-cussed also. There was this sentence in the letter: "A Governor can only be elected by

It was also said that the writer had been informed that "you (Colonel Roosevelt) would play the devil with the organization."

The witness joined in the laughter.

"My Dear Mr. Roosevelt—The Senator (Platt) thinks that you should come to New York on Wednesday or Thursday of next week. The Senator says that he is going to make one more effort to induce Governor Black to withdraw. He does not mean that he will offer him any terms, but simply that he will try to convince him that, injustice to him-self, not less than the Republican party, he should get out of the way. All these stories that you may have read about attempted dickers with Black by which, as the price of his withdrawal, he is to be sent to the Senate are falsehoods. BERLIN, via London, April 22.-Amendments to the prize rules governing the operations of the German navy signed by Emperor William and Admir-al von Tirpitz, are published in the Reichs Anzeiger. They are designed as a "reprisal for the decision made by England and her allies contravening the Declaration of London of February

Under the new order field glasses nautical instruments, pig lead, aero-planes, coal and coke are made abso-iute contraband. Several other com-modities are added to the list of conmodities are added to the list of con-ditional contraband, including wool, rubber, iron and several other ores. The regulation prescribes that these articles shall be assumed conditional contraband destined for the enemy if consigned "to order to a person whose name does not appear in the ship's papers, or a person in the enemy's ter-ritory." In such a case, it is provided ritory." In such a case, it is provided that a ship shall be liable to capture even if bound for a neutral port.

The order directs also that condition al contraband may be confiscated with-out regard to the consignee when a ship is destined for a neutral country, from which the nations at war with Germany obtain articles of the kind in question.

WASHINGTON IS APPREHENSIVE

New Rule Thought to Embarras Neutrals in Efforts With Allies.

WASHINGTON, April 22 .- Press disatches from Berlin announcing im-ortant amendment to German prize rules were noted at the State Depart-ment today with some concern. While officials will await the text of these amendments before making any statements for publication, ap-prehension is expressed privately that if the new rules are correctly out-lined in the dispatches, they mark a noteworthy advance by Germany to-wards the absolute exclusion of neu-tral commerce from the high seas. This comes, it is pointed out, just at the moment when all of the neutra powers have been bringing pressure to bear on the allied powers to abate the severity of the blockade rules and prize laws, as embodied in the recent British orders in council.

CRANKS SEEK KITCHENER

Woman With Life Line Idea Typical of Callers at War Office.

LONDON, April 4 .- (Correspondence of the Associated Press.)-The average of the Associated Press.)—The average number of callers at the British War Office is now over 1200. Most of them are on business, but there is a considerable number of sightseers, who express a wish to be "shown around" or desire Lord Kitchener's autograph for their collection. This class of callers generally receives scant courtesy at the present time.

Perhaps the most difficult class to deal with are the people with strange inventions. A persistent woman visitor who sought a personal interview with Lord Kitchener wished to urge that every soldier in the trenches

Difficulty in maintaining the right of neutral nations to ship conditional contraband to other neutral powers is foreseen by officials, as a result of adoption of a German prize rule of the same provision as that in the British orders in council regarding goods consigned "to order," over which there has been so much discussion.

The United States Government has held consistently that this usual commercial procedure is perfectly legitimate and that before goods consigned "to order" can be seized the beligerent government attempting to make the seizure must assume the burden of proof that the goods are unneutral
