Increasing interest in the organization of the new Chamber of Commerce was manifest last night, when more than 200 members were present at meetings held to elect directors of the bureau of industries and manufactures and bureau of publicity and conventions. Without ceremony the two groups of members proceeded to the election of directors and in little more than an hour six new members of the board of trustees had been selected. Out of a list of 19 candidates, A. J. Kingsley, A. G. Labbe and O. E. Heintz were chosen as the three directors to represent the bureau of industries and manufactures. Mr. Kingsley received the highest vote and will serve the three-year term. Mr. Labbe was next and he will serve two years. Mr. Heintz will be the one-year member. Directors Ask Support. The newly elected directors each made short talks and gave assurances that they would put forth their best efforts in bringing new industries to Portland and the state. They asked that they have earnest and hearty cooperation on the part of all the members of the bureau. Directors of the bureau of publicity and conventions were elected as follows: W. J. Hofmann, three-year term; Phil Metschan, Jr., two-year term, and J. C. Ainsworth, one-year term. Speaking for the new directors, Mr. Metschan said that it was the purpose of the bureau to make it one of the liveliest units of the organization and he appealed to every member of the bureau to get behind the trustees in carrying on exploitation work. Travelers to Be Entertained. He pointed out that with the thousands of tourists coming to the Pacific Coast it was necessary for every member to put forth his best efforts in entertaining the travelers who will visit Portland. Members of the Oregon Development Bureau, Grain Bureau and Legislation and Taxation Bureau will meet at 8 o'clock to elect directors, three to represent each bureau. On Monday night representatives of the trades and professions will choose their representatives and on Tuesday night the directors of the various bureaus will meet for election of trustees and officers of the Chamber.

Indians Among Spectators as Upper and Lower Columbia Come Together for Traffic-Wool Cargo for Boston Carried.

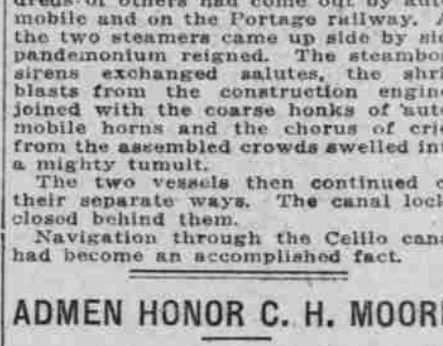

(Continued From First Page.) through. Section hands on the nearby railroad and laborers who are finishing up various details of the canal project, laid aside their tools and gazed with satisfaction on the scene. At frequent intervals Indian families, many of whom had crossed the Columbia in canoes, squatted on the shores and stolidly watched the procedure. Although the voyage was in the nature of a trial trip, the Inland Empire carried a cargo of 15,000 pounds of wool, consigned by George H. L. Sharp, of The Dalles, to a Boston firm. The wool will be brought to Portland and transhipped through the Panama Canal to destination. Mr. Sharp and other residents of The Dalles were on board. Among them were: Representative Sinnott, Judd S. Fish, C. F. Condon and H. G. Miller. To Mr. Fish the trip was of particular significance. He was a passenger on the steamer Maria Wilkins—the first boat to pass through the locks at Oregon City, recently taken over by the Government and also on the first vessel operated through the Cascade Locks a few years later. Many Women Aboard. An interested and interesting group on board were Harry Sloan, John Crowley and Mike Davis, who have worked on the upper river boats for the last 25 years. "We just wanted to see how it goes to travel on the waters of the lower Columbia, they explained as they registered their delight. The women, too, seemed to realize the importance of the event for a large party was on board. Among them were Charles E. Eckert, Mrs. Arthur Riggs, Mrs. J. E. Snyder, Miss Georgiana Snyder, Mrs. Norman Bray, Miss Alma Bunn, Miss Mary Bunn, Mrs. L. Jackson, Miss Madeline Jackson and Miss Eugenia Jackson. The officers of the Inland Empire were fully cognizant of the honor that attached to their trip. E. B. Hayden was acting mate and John Specknagle chief engineer. At 5:17 the vessel entered the upper one of the twin locks at Five Mile Rapids. "Just like Panama," exclaimed Mr. Teal, "we have twin locks." The Inland Empire quickly dropped to the level of the lower dock, where a passing basin had been prepared. Just as she reached this point the

PIMPLES ON FACE ITCHED AND BURNED

Also on Neck. Painful. Large and Very Red. Lost Many Nights' Sleep. Used Cuticura. Face and Neck Free From All Pimples. 317 Hughes St., Dayton, Ohio.—"My wife had pimples on her face and neck ever since she was a little girl. Her face would get so sore at times that she could hardly wash it. It was a very painful sensation which caused the loss of many nights' sleep. The pimples were large in size and very red. They would itch and burn so she would scratch and pick at them until they would bleed. The breaking out was so thick that I couldn't put my finger on her face without getting so sore at times that she would get so sore at times that she could hardly wash it. They would itch and burn so she would scratch and pick at them until they would bleed. I sent for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment which she applied and they gave instant relief. I immediately purchased two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment. When this supply was used up her face and neck were clear and free from all pimples." (Signed) Orin L. Brown, Oct. 5, 1914.
