BY ROSCOE FAWCETT. While most of the fans were at home in their igloos reminiscing of blizzards and frosts, Portland's perennially latestarting champs again drubbed Los Angeles yesterday afternoon, evening up the series two games aplece.

It was an exciting battle, withal a polar expedition, and the score 2 to 1. "Long Tom" Hughes lasted only onethird of an inning against the Beavers. With two runs already across on a single by Doane with the bases full, Southpaw Scoggins was rushed out to the mound and brought the onslaught to an

This two-run lead proved sufficient, as Southpaw Evans pitched excellently and had some sterling support, notably by Catcher Fisher, Outfielder Doane and

Davis Comes Close to Record. Davis handled eight putouts and six assists without a skip, which is about as close to a league record for nine innings as this young shortpatcher will maneuver for several chilly days to

In the matter of base hits the visitors had an edge, for their total was eight to six for Portland. Portland showed much more class in the pinches, and that's how the game was won. When Evens wasn't catching the Angels asleep off first base, Fisher was head-ing them off at second by some brilliant

And during the intermissions Walt And during the intermissions Walt Doane was busy pulling them down off the right-field fence. Doane made two star catches in a row in the seventh, and in the ninth, after setting himself poorly for Buemiller, he sailed almost over to the foul line and yanked into his maws a liner that looked good for two bases.

How Game Is Won Told. Here's how the game was won by the Beavers:

Murphy, first up, was given a life when Hughes dropped Abstein's throw, covering first base. Derrick was hit in the back by a pitched ball. Speas advanced both runners by a nifty bunt. Stumpf walked, filling the bases, with one out. Doane then bounced one over second base and scored two.

Scoggins replaced Hughes and refired Fisher and Lober on infield grounders. In his remaining six inning Scoggins allowed only four hits, although he didn't seem to have one-half the "stuff" exhibited in his Wednesday's appearance. Southpaw Burns twirled the last inning after Boles batted for Scoggins. batted for Scoggins.

Matters broke nicely for Evans until the fourth, when four hits in a rew— Maggert, Beumiller, Weiter and Mc-Mullen, seored one run.

Maggert Loses Game. Maggert lost the game for the Angels

Maggert lost the game for the Angels in this frame by permitting himself to get caught off first by Rube Evans. In the sixth Harl again tried to put one over on the Beavers only to die in the attempt. He was on third with one out and tried to score on Wolter's tiny tap to Murphy, figuring that the young tap to Murphy, figuring that the young third baseman would throw to first base. Murphy turned that trick earlier in the week but not yesterday. Quick as a flash he wheeled and nalled "Maggie" mid-way between third base and home and it was only a moment's work to run him down.

McMullen cut off a Beaver tally by a nice stop and throw to the plate in the seventh inning, following Lober's two-bagger.

Notes of the Game.

Pisher turned Boles back at second i the eighth inning and brought disaster t Wolter in the ninth by another quick three to Davis. Fred Derrick had tough luck with higher pasterday. He was entitled to a couple of hits.

pte of hits.

Speas nabbed Wolfer at third base for the fourth after a corking throw from center, and it cut considerable figure in the ultimate result.

Elither Leonard or Coveleakie will twirt for Portiand today, and once again we guess Perrint. "Polly" has been a trifle indisposed this Spring.

Evans and Fisher crabbed about an alleged third strike on McMullen in the sixth but Umpire Williams was right. It was three or four inches outside.

Frank Dillon switched Wolter from first to third position in the batting array, presumbly because of Wolter's terrific hitting of the series.

Outfielder Hill-ard, the Beavers' Cleveland recruit, did not show up at the park.

If was ladles' day, but the pass gate wasn't kept very busy assimilating spirat skirts.

IDAHO VICTORY PREDICTED

Relay Race to Decide Meet With Washington State, Is Opinion.

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow April 30.—(Special.)—"Idaho will win the dual track meet with Washington State College next Saturday by winning the relay race," said Coach Edmundson yesterday. Edmundson is of the opinion that the relay race will be the deciding factor of the meet.

Morrison will start the relay and Massey will end it, but the competition for third and second place on the team is keen between Gerlough, Betty, Dingle and Dewald. Massey broke the college quarter-mile record Wednesday in practice. It had stood since Coach Edmundson made it when he attended college here. Idaho should win both win both the quarter and half with Massey. ceach gives both Morrison and Betty places in the sprints and in the jumps. Gerlough will win the mile and Campbell will get the two-mlle grind handily the coach believes. Cunningham and Cassidy have broken the college record in the pole vault, and they are expected to place in it. "Buck" Phillips is picked for the weight events easily.
