

GERMANS ADVANCE ON BELGIAN COAST

More Ground Is Also Won in Flanders, Several Trenches Being Captured.

ALLIES GAIN NEAR LILLE

Army Reinforced by Four Corps Is Engaged in New Offensive and Penetrates First Line Between Carency and Neuville.

BERLIN, May 10, via London.—At the German War Office today the following statement was given regarding operations in Belgium and France:

"We made progress on the coast, in the direction of the enemy's trenches and machine guns. A counter attack by the enemy during last night advanced as far as Lombardystede, but was completely driven back.

"In Flanders we also gained more ground. We took 123 British prisoners at Verberchoven. Southwest of Lille, a great Anglo-French attack, anticipated as a reply to our successes in Galicia, was begun and directed itself against our position situated to the east of Fleurbaix, to the east of Richebourg, to the east of Vermelles, and at Ablain, Carency, Neuville and St. Laurent, near Arras.

500 British Captured. "The enemy, French as well as white and colored British, brought at least four new army corps into the fight besides the force which has been employed in the direction of the coast since the beginning of the present year. Nevertheless repeated attacks have been nearly everywhere repulsed with heavy losses to our opponents.

"Only in the region between Carency and Neuville did our opponents succeed in penetrating and establishing themselves in our foremost line trenches. A counter attack is now proceeding.

South of Steynbrueck, in the valley of the Fecht, the enemy, who had settled himself during a thick fog immediately in front of our position, was driven back by a counter attack and his trenches were destroyed.

One of our airplanes bombarded the fortified town of South End to the south of Thines this morning with a few bombs.

PART OF FAMILY SINKS

AMERICAN EX-SURGEON-MAJOR IS LUSITANIA MOURNER.

Two of Four Children and Their Two Nurses Are Lost and Wife Sustains Fracture of Arm.

QUEENSTOWN, May 10.—Dr. F. Warren Pearl, of New York, who was a surgeon-major in the United States Army during the Spanish-American war, and was on the Lusitania bound for Belgium on Red Cross work, was saved with his wife, who has a broken arm, and two of their children. Two other children and two nurses employed by Dr. Pearl are missing.

In the rush to the deck one of the nurses and two of the children were separated from the remainder of the family. Dr. Pearl left his wife in the care of Herbert Stone and Linden Batea, Jr., of New York, while he searched the ship for the missing members of his family.

When I reached the deck I found that one nurse and two of my children were missing," said Dr. Pearl. "I discovered later that they got into a boat which was launched safely on the starboard side, returned to the port side and jumped overboard just before the ship went down.

"I did not know whether any of my family was safe until I got ashore after three hours in the water, in which I floated with the greatest ease on my lifebelt. When I reached the land I found my wife at Adams House suffering with a broken arm.

FRANK IS RESENTENCED

Execution Is Set for June 22 in Atlanta.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 10.—Leo M. Frank today was resentenced to be hanged on Tuesday, June 22, for the murder of Mary Phagan.

When brought before Judge Hill to be resentenced, Frank said: "Again I reiterate that I am innocent of the murder of Mary Phagan. I have absolutely no guilty knowledge of that tragic occurrence. The record of the evidence conclusively proves this. No appellate tribunal has ever passed on this evidence. The only judge who has ever heard it said that he had the most serious doubts as to my guilt.

"My execution will not avenge Mary Phagan's death. A life will have been taken for a life, but the real culprit will not be paid. The penalty of death is just in God, who knows that my protestations of innocence are the truth. At some future date the whole mortal world will realize it."

Mrs. Frank, who sat at a table with her husband's attorneys, bowed her head upon her arms upon the table and sobbed.

PARKER COUNSELS CALM

Permit Wilson to Act Cautiously, Is 1904 Candidate's Advice.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Alton B. Parker, Democratic candidate for the Presidency in 1904, issued a statement today which said:

"The attempt to persuade the public what action the Lusitania disaster requires is the worst that can be done to him and may work great injury to us. He alone must bear the heavy responsibility of decision.

"Why then do we not let him alone? Why not give him time? There is certainly no need for hurry. On the contrary there is every reason for making haste slowly.

"Have we forgotten the Malnet? Cannot we see President McKinley, standing with his back to the wall in the face of the hoarse cry of angry men demanding war—and his refusal to hurry? He saw his duty to the end and performed it. True in the end war came—but not as a result of passion—and in the meantime the sentiment of the world had come to our side."

LUSITANIA WARNED, REPLIES CHURCHILL

Directions as to Course to Be Followed in War Zone Acknowledged by Captain.

FULL DETAILS WITHHELD

First Lord of Admiralty, Questioned in House of Commons, Says Merchantmen Must Look After Themselves at Sea.

LONDON, May 10.—The First Lord of the Admiralty, Winston Churchill, announced in the House of Commons today that Captain Turner, of the Lusitania, had acknowledged receipt of messages from the Admiralty giving him directions for the course he was to take.

"The Admiralty had general knowledge of the German warning issued in America," Mr. Churchill declared, "and from that knowledge and other information concerning submarine movements it sent warnings to the Lusitania and directions as to her course. I think, however, it is not right to go into that matter in detail, as it is going to be a subject of inquiry and it might appear that I was endeavoring to throw blame on the captain of the Lusitania in a matter which will be a subject of full investigation."

Lord of Admiralty Questioned. Continuing, Mr. Churchill said this investigation would be conducted by Lord Mersey, assisted by skilled assessors, and that it would be opened without avoidable delay.

Mr. Churchill's remarks were drawn by questions from Lord Charles Bessford and others asking for details as to what speed the Lusitania was making when she was torpedoed; whether there was a patrol boat in that locality; whether all points where vessels arrive and depart are now adequately patrolled; what provisions were made in the case of the Lusitania in view of the warning issued in America; whether Mr. Churchill was aware that previously to last Friday German submarines had for some time been actively at work on the south coast of Ireland; whether he was aware that the Admiralty had provided torpedo-boat destroyers and other vessels to meet on the south coast of Ireland steamers carrying horses from the United States on government account to convey them to Liverpool, and finally, what arrangements, if any, were made to convey and protect the Lusitania.

Merchantmen Look After Selves. Mr. Churchill, replying to further questions, spoke as follows:

"The shocking exception of the Lusitania should not divert the attention of the House of Commons and country from the fact that Great Britain's entire seaport trade has been carried on without appreciable loss. The general principle regarding the providing of escorts is that merchant traffic must look after itself, subject to the general arrangements of the Admiralty, and there is no reason to suppose that this principle is not entirely successful."

CREW HELD MURDERERS

The men in charge of the German submarine were guilty of willful murder." Ship's Bugler Livermore testified that the water-tight compartments were closed, but that the explosion and force of the water must have burst them open. He said that all the officers were at their posts and that early arrivals of the rescue craft would not have saved the situation. Captain Turner testified briefly. The coroner asked him:

"You were aware threats had been made that the ship would be torpedoed?"

"We were," the Captain replied. "Was she armed?"

"No, sir."

Boats Swung Outward. "What precautions did you take?"

"We had all the boats swung when we came within the danger zone, between the passing of Pastnet and the time of the accident."

"Did you receive any special instructions as to the voyage?"

"Yes, sir."

"Are you at liberty to tell us what they were?"

"No, sir."

"Did you carry them out?"

"Yes, to the best of my ability."

"Tell us in your own words what happened after passing Pastnet."

"The weather was clear," Captain Turner answered. "We were going at a speed of 18 knots. I was of the port side and heard Second Officer Hefford call out: 'Here's a torpedo.' I ran to the other side and saw clearly the wake of the torpedo. Smoke and steam came up between the last two funnels. There was a slight shock. Immediately after the first explosion there was another report, but that may possibly have been internal."

Sympathy Given America. "I once gave the order to lower the boat down to the rails and I directed that women and children should get into them."

"I also had all the bulkheads closed. Between the time of passing Pastnet, at about 11 o'clock, and of the torpedoing, I saw no sign whatever of any submarine. There were 25 knives along the Irish coast, and when we were near Pastnet I slowed down to 16 knots an hour. I was in wireless communication with shore all the way across."

Captain Turner was asked whether he had received any messages in regard to the attack of submarines. He replied the Irish coast. He replied in the affirmative. Questioned regarding the nature of the message, he replied:

"I respectfully refer you to the Admiralty for an answer."

Liner Unable to Stop. "I also gave orders to stop the ship, but we could not stop. We found that the engines were out of commission. It was not safe to lower boats until the speed was off the vessel. As a matter of fact, there was a perceptible headway on her up to the time she went down."

"When she was struck she listed to starboard. I stood on the bridge and saw the sink and the Lusitania went down under me. She floated about 18 minutes after the torpedo struck her. My watch stopped at 2:56. I was picked up from among the wreckage and afterward was brought aboard a trawler."

"No warship was conveying us. I saw no warship, and no one was reported to me as having been seen. At the time I was picked up I noticed bodies floating on the surface, but saw no other remains which will effect a permanent cure. One remedy which I have used largely in my practice is Anti-kamnia Tablets. Many and varied are their uses. I have put them to the test on many occasions and had my former headaches relieved. They appear to prevent the bad after-effects of the quinine. Anti-kamnia Tablets are also excellent for the headaches from improper diet, also for headaches of a neuralgic origin, and especially for women subject to pains at certain times. Two Anti-kamnia Tablets give prompt relief, and in short time the patient is able to go about as usual. These tablets may be obtained at all druggists. Ask for A-K Tablets. They are also unexcelled for headaches neuralgic and all pains."

"Was there any panic on board?"

"No."

By the foreman of the jury: "In the face of the warnings at New York that the Lusitania would be torpedoed, did you make any application to the Admiralty for an escort?"

Captain Would Sail Again. "No. I left that to them. It is their business, not mine. I simply had to carry out my orders to go, and I would do it again."

Captain Turner uttered the last words of this reply with great emphasis.

"Was the course of the vessel altered after the torpedoes struck her?"

"I headed straight for land, but it was useless. Previous to this the watertight bulkheads were closed. I suppose the explosion forced them open. I don't know the exact extent to which the Lusitania was damaged."

"Were the passengers supplied with life belts?"

"Yes."

"Any warning given you before you were torpedoed?"

"None whatever. It was suddenly done and finished."

"If there had been a patrol boat about, might it have been of assistance?"

"It might, but it is one of those things one never knows."

With regard to the threats against his ship, Captain Turner said he saw nothing except what appeared in the New York papers that day before the Lusitania sailed. He never had heard the passengers talking about the threats.

After physicians had testified that the victims had met death through prolonged immersion and exhaustion, the

ANTI-KAMNIA TABLETS FOR ALL PAIN

"The efficiency of any drug," says Dr. C. P. Robbins, "is known to us by the results we obtain from its use. If we are able to control pain and disease by means of any preparation, we certainly are warranted in its use. One of the principal symptoms of all disease is pain, and this is what the patient most desires relief from. It is something to relieve his pain. If we can arrest this promptly, the patient is most liable to trust in us for the other remedies which will effect a permanent cure. One remedy which I have used largely in my practice is Anti-kamnia Tablets. Many and varied are their uses. I have put them to the test on many occasions and had my former headaches relieved.
