HONORING Miss Dorothy Effinger, of Honolulu, who is the house guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Flanders, and aunts, the Misses Flanders, Mrs. Kenneth Beebe yesterday asked a few of the visitor's close friends for tea. A number of informal affairs are making this attractive girl's visit delightful.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Taylor announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary J. Taylor, to Roy P. Hulce, of Moro, Or.

Mrs. A. S. Emery, a charming matron from New York, is the house guest of Mrs. P. P. Morey, and is being entertained delightfully with teas, theater parties and dinners.

Miss Shirley Eastman will have as a house guest a New York belle, Miss Laverne Edmund, who will reach here Saturday.

With anticipations of one of the largest and jolliest parties of the season, the Maxilians will entertain a shirteasie party Friday. The following are the committee members: George E. Love, Paul Dickinson, Hilda Miller, Edith Miller, Charles Bauer, Walter Dickinson, Carl Taylor, Dick Mullin, William Gwaltney, Harvey Altrow, Martha Weiderhold, Mable Mascott, Irene Mosher, Hazel Gallagher, Margaret Harvey and Alice Burke.

Unique invitations have been issued for the high jinks that is to be by the young belles and beaux of the city, Friday evening, May 21. Several new features in the way of dancing and entertainment will be introduced at this jinks.

A box party at the Heilig Theater to see John Drew in "Rosemary," followed by a supper at Hotel Portland, in which Mr. Drew and members of the company were included, was the diversion given by Miss Polly Young, of the Army, last night. Miss Young is the daughter of Colonel and Mrs. George S. Young, of Vancouver Barre, and the former being an old-time friend of Mr. Drew's. Miss Young's guests included Misses Louise Burns, Violet Eskine, Irving Webster, Harriet Weiss and Harry.

"Alice in Wonderland," to be presented on Saturday afternoon and evening at the Heilig Theater, is claiming the attention of all the society folk of Portland. Young and old alike are impatiently awaiting the first performance, and the little children will shine as hosts to their tiny friends at box parties and "tea" parties following. Rehearsals are going with a snap and finish that make the production the performances notable in many ways.

Miss Frank Towles, assisted by several members of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, who are sponsoring the affair, are working constantly to make the production artistic. At the dress rehearsal Friday afternoon at the Heilig Theater, the people from the institutional homes of the city, both the grownups and children, will be in attendance.

The women of St. Patrick's Church will be hostesses for a benefit dinner on Sunday from 2 to 6 o'clock in the auditorium at Nineteenth and Savier streets.

Utopia Lodge, No. 62, L. O. O. F., will give its regular monthly card party this evening in its hall, East Sixth and Alder streets. Handsome prizes will be awarded and refreshments will be served. All visiting Kakekaha and their friends will be welcomed.

On Tuesday evening, May 18, the Rose City Park Club will give a special vaudeville entertainment and dance. The committee in charge has been working hard to produce something a little out of the ordinary and they hope all friends and friends of the club will be present.

Miss Augusta McCormick, who recently returned from the University of Pennsylvania, entertained Saturday afternoon for Miss Kate McKee, who is visiting here from the East. Cards were played during the afternoon, honors falling to Miss Zimmerman and Miss McKee.

Those present were the Misses Naomi West, Edna Larson, Virginia Miller, Anna Grace Pallett, Virginia Miller, Vivian Pallett, Marion Stephenson, Eva Zimmerman, Margaret Mansfield, Bernice Zimmerman, Dorothy Bennett, Edith Larson, Mabel Ryder, Helen Coe, Elizabeth Pallett, Kate McKee and Augusta McCormick.

Mrs. W. G. Jackson announces the engagement of her daughter, Florence Elizabeth, to Frederick W. Young, of this city, formerly of Lawrence, Mass. The bride-to-be is a Portland girl, and is well known in musical circles of this city. The wedding, which has been set for the early part of June, will be a very quiet affair, due to the recent death of Miss Jackson's father.

Mrs. Moore, wife of Chief Justice F. A. Moore, of the Supreme Court of Oregon, came down from her home in Salem, Wednesday, and will be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Frank M. Miles, of 327 Eugene street, this city, for the next few weeks.

Little Marian Lee Martin celebrated her seventh birthday anniversary yesterday with a charming children's party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Martin. Games, music and refreshments made the affair a merry one, and the usual lighted birthday cake formed part of the decorations.

Women's Clubs

By Edith Houghton Holmes

THE Current Literature department of the Portland Woman's Club will be entertained today at the home of Mrs. S. E. Gilbert, 1169 East Salmon street. Mrs. W. H. Seigner will assist the hostess. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock. Election of officers, memory games and short stories will close the meetings.

Psychology Club Circle 21 will meet tonight in the Theosophical Hall, 726 Morgan building, at 7:45 o'clock. The subject for discussion is "Fullness of Life or Bodily Health and Vigor," led by Miss Florence Sillenberg. All who are interested are invited to attend the meetings.

The Portland Woman's Club will hold its regular meeting Friday at 3 o'clock. The social hour will be omitted, owing to the death of Mr. H. Lamond, husband of one of the prominent members who was formerly assistant social chairman.

The Patrons Home board members at their last meeting decided upon several of the details for their annual tea, which will be held in the home at Mississippi avenue on May 18. Mrs. John H. Burgard will have charge of the programme and she has arranged for the appearance of some of Portland's best talent. The home now houses about 100 elderly people who are anticipating in the tea with as much interest as high school girls would display in the event of an approaching festivity. Mrs. D. H. Rand is president of Patton Home and is assisted by a board of prominent women.

Woodlawn Parent-Teacher Association met yesterday when an address was given by Mrs. A. Alexander of the Girls' School of Trades.

The civic department of the Portland Woman's Club, which convenes in the library, will change its meeting place this week and the members will assemble in the committee room of the Women of Woodcraft building. The change was made on account of the National Congress of Mothers convention, which is meeting at the library this week. Mrs. J. M. Reeve is chairman of the department.

Circle No. 7, Portland Psychology Club, will meet today at 1:30 o'clock with Mrs. Robert A. Bennett, 333 East Forty-fourth street North. Mrs. Fanny Perry is leader.

THE SANDYMAN STORY FOR TONIGHT

By Mrs. F. A. Walker

Mr. Fox and Old Reddy Fox.

YOU remember that Old Reddy Fox and Mr. Fox were left in the hole when Madam Goose and Old Black Hen escaped and there they had to stay without any breakfast.

"A nice fix you have me in," said Mr. Fox, thinking of what his wife would say if he ever got out and went home without any breakfast.

"Don't fret about yourself; think of me," said old Reddy Fox. "I am in more trouble than you are; you have only lost your breakfast, while I have a cross wife at home waiting with a brooding hen because I did not get her a fat goose last night."

Old Reddy Fox seemed pleased to find Mr. Fox was afraid of his wife as well as himself, and he smiled and patted his paw together and said: "Now, let me see, my friend; let me think a bit. I am sure we should be able to get out without help from outside."

"I have it! I have it!" he said, after a few minutes of thinking. "You just stand on my hind legs that will make me tall enough so you can reach to the top and climb out."

Mr. Fox looked at Old Reddy to see if he really meant it, for he could not believe he would trust him to go up first, for what was to prevent him from running off and leaving Old Reddy Fox in the hole?

But Old Reddy did mean it, every word. He stood on his hind legs and let Mr. Fox climb up. Just as he was drawing up his last leg Old Reddy said: "And after I am out I have thought of a plan which I will tell you that will keep both of us from getting a scolding. I am sure."

So down on his stomach went Mr. Fox and reached a helping paw to Old Reddy, who stretched and clawed at the sides of his prison, and after a while he was safe at the top. Old Reddy and Mr. Fox stood up and shook themselves and grinned rather foolishly at each other, and Mr. Fox said:

"Well, what is your plan for saving us from a scolding and perhaps worse?" "It is this," said Old Reddy, and he grinned again: "we must each blame the other. I'll tell my wife I had the goose and the hen and that you fell upon me with a club and took them away and then threw me into the hole, from which I managed to escape."

"That is all very well for you," said Mr. Fox, "but where do I come in?" "Why, don't you see," said Old Reddy, "you are to tell your wife the same thing that I took the goose and hen from you and beat you, then threw you into the hole, and if she does not believe you she can come here and look at the earth around the side of the hole shows that some one scrambled out?"

"Don't you think that is a good scheme?" "Yes," said Mr. Fox, "but where do I come in?" "Why, don't you see," said Mr. Fox, "you are to tell your wife the same thing that I took the goose and hen from you and beat you, then threw you into the hole, and if she does not believe you she can come here and look at the earth around the side of the hole shows that some one scrambled out?"

with other fresh fruits or with oranges and raisins to make jam or conserve. I should think you would be wise to salt or smoke or pickle some of the goat meat instead of simply canning all of it. If you wished you might also make some smoked or cured sausages of some of it combined with pork and flavoring herbs or spices. "Mutton ham" is an old-fashioned dish, by no means to be despised, and well fed, carefully prepared goat meat is difficult to distinguish from mutton, so I think likely that it might be similarly cured. Let me know if you need any detailed directions. Perhaps some roaster may have other suggestions to offer.

ELKS WILL GO TO SALEM

Excursion Arranged From Portland for Induction of Officers.

Portland Elks will have a special excursion to Salem Saturday night, where they will conduct the induction of officers of the Salem lodge. They will go by special train, taking along the Elks' Band, and will be joined by delegations from nearby cities.

The members of the order will meet in the clubrooms Saturday night at 8:15 and will parade about the principal streets, headed by the band, on their way to the special train at Fourth and Stark streets, which will leave that corner at 9:30. About 175 Portland Elks will go, and a delegation of 50 will be taken from Oregon City. Vancouver, Wash., is expected to send 40 Elks, and there will be a number from The Dalles.

FORESTERS WELCOME RAIN

Thousands of Dollars Saved for Government, Is Opinion.

The rains of the past few days have meant thousands of dollars to the Government when the timber which they unquestionably saved from forest fires is taken into consideration, is the opinion of Acting Assistant District Forester Buck, who said yesterday that the rains had delayed the fire season materially.

"The rain," he said, "has rendered the forests comparatively safe for a while and thus greatly shortened the fire season. Things were getting awfully dry and several fires already had started, particularly in the Washington forests."

Redfern Corsets

In their variety of fabrics, in their trimmings, in their comfort features, you will be charmed. In the new styles you will find exemplified every note of the season's fashion—normal waistline, higher back, more boning—a tendency away from the so-called topless and boneless models which are no longer in vogue. Indeed, there is nothing that should be in a corset that is not in a Redfern Corset. You may select either a laced-back or a laced-front model, whichever you prefer.

The spirit and purpose of Redfern is satisfaction at exactly the price you care to pay. Then why not Redfern?

French Buying Horses at Colville.

COLVILLE, Wash., May 12.—(Special.)—Jean de Levis and H. Robin, representing the government of France, occupied the day here yesterday in the inspection of horses offered for sale to the French agency for military service of the allies in the European war. Of the 148 animals put through inspection only six were accepted; the price paid running from $50 to $125. E. E. McClintock, of Wilbur, and W. J. Maxwell, of Spokane, handled the stock on the grounds for the foreign agency. They went to Chewelah for inspection today and tomorrow they will receive horses in Spokane.
