Portland won, 5 to 4. Derrick was directly responsible for four of the Benvers' five runs. In the third inning, with second and third filled, his single scored Lush and Davis, and in the eighth, with the score to 3 against Portland, he whaled out home run over left-field fence, driving Davis, who had walked, in ahead of him and won the game for his team. It was the first game played here since Sunday, and the fans, whose ardor had been considerably cooled by the death of Hap Hogan, were not out in force.

Acting Manager Bayless sent Henley to the mound to oppose Lush, and Cack did a good job of opposing until Derrick nicked him for that home run in the cighth. McCredie desired to give the Tigers a new mark to shoot at and sent Coveleskie to work the last three innings. The big Fole got through all right, and Mac is again a hero in the foresight business.

After Portland had scored three men in the third, two infield singles and a double gave the Tigers one. Thus it ran until the sixth, when the Tigers bepped on Lush for three hits and three runs, taking the lead by one count, and looked a pretty sure winner

In games won he is close to the top with five wins and three defeats; in ratings, based on "runs responsible for," Burns is one of four regulars with less than two runs per nine innings, and now the records for all games up to May 17 show that Burns leads the league pitchers in holding the opponents to low batting averages.

"Slim" Love, another Los Angeles pitcher, ranks next to Burns, holding his opponents to the low average of 216. Southpaw Scoggins leads the league in wins and losses with five wins and no defeats. He is also among the leaders in run efficiency and in low batting. Hughes, of the Angels, has allowed opponents to bat at only a .253 clip. Scoggins .237. Ryan .244 and Polly Perritt .310.

Leaving Perritt out of consideration for the time being, because Folly has been ill this Spring. Los Angeles still has five reliable gunners capable of holding opponents below a .244 bat pace. One thing is sure, no other Coast club possesses so effective a twirling crew as this.

Constant growth is the best proof that we have struck the right chord in our selection of styles for young men, and men who stay young. This Removal Sale means a positive and radical reduction on every garment in the shop. Savings are larger than we can ever remember in a clothing event at this time of year.
