Fearey was a son of the pioneer Portland shoe merchant of that name and a brother of Joseph L. Fearey, 745 Irving street, and Lewis C. Fearey, of Oswego, both of whom are members of the firm of Fearey Bros., Incorporated, of 245 Salmon street. Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Fearey, parents of the dead man, now make their home on a farm one mile porth of Springbrook, which one mile north of Springbrook, which is two miles from Newberg. Patrolman C. G. Crampton, who had arrested Fearey an dbrought him to the police station, was detailing the cir-cumstances of the case to acting Captain Thatcher when the arrested man's head was seen suddenly to drop on his breast and he then toppled over backwards. Fearey was rushed to the Police Emergency Hespital. As the officers lifted him from the floor to take him up the elevator they saw the knife sticking in his breast.

Knife Penetrates to Heart. A hurried investigation in the hos-pital showed that the knife had penetrated the man's heart and that he had died a few minutes afterwards. As the man was being brought into the sta-tion Crampton noticed that he had his right hand under the left side of his coat, but thought nothing of it at the He now believes that had his knife in his hand at that time V. O. Lengacher, driver for the Royce Taxicab Company, said that Fearey hailed him about 7 o'clock at the cor-ner of West Park and Morrison streets and ordered him to drive down Morri-son to Park. When he reached the corner he said that Fearey left the cab and entered a saloon, after which he came out and walked down the street. Lengacher, thinking the man was trying to get away without set-tling his cab bill, summoned Officer Cyampton and had the man arrested.

Small Stores Affected. Small grocers, cigar counters and confectionery stores that sell certain brands of chewing gum likewise are subject to the new law. The manufacturers of this gum give coupons with purchases of certain quantities. The coupons are redeemable in securities of the company. It is said that this transaction is affected by the law, and under terms of the measure a merchant who handles the gum must pay a 5 per cent premium, not only on the sale of the gum, but on all other the sale of the gum, but on all other sales made in his store. If a department store, for instance, sold only $100 worth of gum in a year, but $1,000,000 worth of other merchandise, a 5 per cent excise tax on the $1,000,000 sales would be required.
