An old couple living in a tiny shack, with no windows in the dwelling, no furniture except a bed and a stove, the man recovering from an operation and the wife falling mentally—these are charges of the Associated Charities, which is raising funds to meet just such cases of destitution. Visitors to this particular case note that the unfortunate couple needs everything.

Another case that has come to the attention of Secretary Manning is that of a woman so ill that her husband must remain at home to care for her and cannot work. Two children are to be cared for in this home and food is needed.

Family of six in need. Secretary Manning's attention has been called to a needy family of six. The father has been ill and work has just been secured for a boy of 16, but food and fuel are needed to tide the family over until he can draw his first pay. The income thereafter, it is thought, will be sufficient for the needs of the household.

A young couple also needs assistance, the husband having been injured in an accident and is out of work. A baby is expected soon and both food and clothing are needed. Another family with a 3-days-old babe needs assistance urgently.

A painter out of work is the head of another family that needs attention. There is nothing in the house to eat and a small rent payment must be made. A drinking husband has depleted the resources of another family until four children are in want. The husband has gone to a camp to work as cook, but food is needed at once and the secretary of the Associated Charities will make arrangements to have the wages of the husband go to the wife.

All these cases were referred to the Associated Charities yesterday for assistance. There are many others in which the organization is active in giving assistance.

Frank Monner has generously come to the aid of the relief work by giving a benefit tonight at the skating rink, Alberta street and Grand avenue. Contributions to the charity fund are urged and may be sent to Secretary V. R. Manning, 411 Commercial block, or to R. S. Howard, treasurer, at Ladd & Tilton Bank.

PAINTING EXHIBIT LAUDED

Mutual Art Association Display Will Close on June 5.

Praise is being showered upon the Mutual Art Association for its splendid display of paintings now being exhibited at the Central Library. The collection is a large one and comprises all mediums of painting and many subjects. The majority of the paintings are landscapes, many of them studies of Oregon woods, and subjects of much interest to Oregonians. The Mutual Art Association is composed of Portland artists and others who have signified their intention of becoming affiliated with Portland art interests. Artists of note who have studied and painted in the most prominent American and European cities are displaying their work. Special ceramic and photographic departments are attracting great interest. The exhibition will close June 5.

DOG TEAM SPEEDING HERE

Edward Morrow Hurrying From Fair North to See Festival.

Edward Morrow, brother of L. P. Morrow, of this city, former resident of Portland, left from a point above Dawson City, Alaska, yesterday, with a fast dog team, with which he expects to arrive two days in time for the Rose Festival, according to word received by his brother yesterday. A record of 150 miles over the snowfields was made the first day. Should the team arrive in Portland on schedule, wheels will be mounted on the sled and the "huskies" will "mush" along in the final daylight parade of June 11.

MAZAMAS TO TAKE HIKE

Two Parties Will Leave Saturday for Week-End Trip to Silver Creek.

The Mazamas will visit Silver Creek Falls for their week-end trip. The party will leave over the Southern Pacific Saturday in two parties, one at 2 o'clock and the other at 6:10. At Silverton, the terminus of the branch from Woodburn, the party will leave the train.

PAGEANT PLAY SHOWS WORKERS AND TOILERS

Varied Array of Women Who Are Wasters, Those Who Tend the Flame and Others Presented in "Everywoman's Road."

MISS HAMMOND'S pageant play, "Everywoman's Road," to be presented at the Hellig June 2 and 3, presents a long and varied array of workers, toilers, bearers of burdens and keepers of the hearth. The women who are wasters, those who tend the flame, those who live emburdened, those who humbly serve, are represented by Reed College people appearing in a motley of color and costumes. They drag heavy bundles of fagots, baskets of farm produce, the toil of loom and laundry, huge bales of clothing stitched at night in crowded rooms. A part of the spectacle will be filled with these workers, bearing their loaded sacks and trays, their baskets, jars and nets. Passing through the picture will be peasants and pioneers, the gatherers of food and fuel. The costumes appear in striking variety. The coarse textures of the peasants suggest the dirt floor of hovels; shredded rags bespeak the tenement. The picturesque garb of the Dutch seamstress, the Hindu head carrier, and Spanish water muller mingle into one picture and are framed by Miss Hammond's symbolic lines. The decorations are full of strong effect, and heighten the interest aroused by the variety of dress, insignia and costume. All the settings of the stage quickly impress their meaning; some details of the close symbolism must even produce a momentary shock, so quickly does their significance strike home.

"Everywoman's Road" is not adapted for the ordinary stage. It is a production which depends on variety of personages, and assemblages of complexity and size impossible for professional performance. In addition to the dramatic side of "Everywoman's Road," singers and dancers who undergo separate training contribute elaborate effects. The coming performance will include the voices of Mrs. Delphine Marx, Mrs. Jane Burns Albert, Mrs. Herman Bohman and Miss Clara Wiest, besides the women of the Reed chorus.

15 cents for small boxes and 25 cents for large.

'NEIGHBORHOOD SING' GOOD

Jefferson High School Students Give Pleasing Programme.

Notable among the High School affairs was the "Neighborhood Sing" Wednesday night by the Jefferson High School, directed by Professor W. H. Boyer.

Di Chiara's "In Spain" sung by the Girls' Chorus and the Boys' Glee Club was effective. Frances Pease was encored repeatedly after her popular number "Sleep Me To Sleep." "When the Bell in the Lighthouse Rings," by Leveritt Toils and the Boys' Glee Club was strong and harmonic, and the violin solo that followed, played by Miss Myrtle Hall, was sweet and expressive.

"Angelus" from "Marilyn," and the "Chorus of Peers," "Iolante" were numbers by the Girls' and Boys' Chorus. When Irish Eyes are Smiling," by Helen O'Day, "Fish Lullaby," Harry L. Hammer and the Technical Club quartette, were especially well sung. "Moonlight Meadows" was well adapted to the voices of the Girls' Chorus. Miss Frieda Shaw, who has a high lyric soprano voice, sang Del Riego's "Happy Song." "Land Sighting" was highly expressive and well sung by the Girls and Boys' Chorus. Miss Alma Gruenig accompanied throughout the entertainment.

JANITOR'S FALL IS FATAL

Clyde Bradbury's Wife at Spokane Is Notified of Death.

Clyde E. Bradbury, janitor of the San Marco Hotel, 422 1/2 Washington street, who fell from the third story of that building between 2 and 3 o'clock last Sunday morning, died of internal injuries at the Good Samaritan Hospital yesterday. The body was taken to the coroner's and the man's wife, who is at Spokane, was notified of the death.

WORKER FALLS 3 STORIES

Carl Neuman, Plasterer, Only Slightly Hurt, Says Physician.

Carl Neuman, a plasterer, fell three stories down an elevator shaft in the new Meier & Frank building yesterday at 4:50 o'clock and received a bad abrasion over the left eye. Dr. Alvin Welch Smith attended the man at the St. Vincent Hospital and reported that he was not in a serious condition.

Good Things in Markets

OREGON'S home-grown good things have come to market with a rush. The raspberries that were promised last week are here from Ashland at

Bread You Are Sure Is Clean And Pure

To make bread cleaner than HOLSUM is made would be simply impossible. If HOLSUM were made right in your kitchen, under your own eyes, the surroundings couldn't be cleaner, the ingredients couldn't be better, the care taken in the baking couldn't be greater.

Absolute cleanliness is habit at the HOLSUM Bakery. There are clean walls, clean floors, clean machines, clean bakers and a corps of clean attired men whose only duty it is to keep the HOLSUM Bakery spotlessly clean.

"HOLSUM" Bread

Comes to You in Dainty Waxed Wrappers

Fresh from the oven HOLSUM Bread is popped into dainty waxed wrappers, which keep the loaf with all its new-baked cleanness and purity unchanged—for the enjoyment and protection of your household.

You must agree that for cleanness and purity, HOLSUM leaves nothing to be desired. It is as good as it is clean.

HOLSUM Leaves no Excuse for Home Baking

Everything you have desired in bread is embodied in HOLSUM. It looks appetizing. It serves daintily. It is fine, even grained and very satisfying. You'll like its rich butter flavor. It is, in a word, everything that home baked bread can be, minus the heat, the worry and the drudgery, which home baking always imposes upon the housewife.

Try HOLSUM a week and see how you like it—and how it seems to be relieved from the drudgery of bake day.

6 cents each, of six for 25 cents. A new arrival of Hawaiian pineapples is heralded—10 cents a pound, or 25 and 35 cents each. Bananas, 20, 25 and 30 cents a dozen; coconuts, 15 cents each.

Red-cheeked Pippins—about the last of the really good apples—are $3 a box; Yellow Newtowns and Roman Beauties, from 15 to 50 cents a dozen.

The latest new arrival from California is loganberries, looking large and luscious, at 19 cents a box, and for early next week Florida promises the first of her watermelons.

In the vegetable market the newest thing is okra or gumbo, beloved of Southern folks for soup. It is sent up by California, the first of the season, and sells for 25 and 50 cents a pound. The Dallas is forward with wax and green beans at 15 cents, and telephone peas at 10 cents a pound. In less pretentious quarters, however, fat, well-filled Oregon peas can be had at 8 cents.

California new potatoes, extra large, are now four pounds for a quarter. From Arizona come tomatoes at 20 cents a pound, and silver-skinned onions, from Bermuda, are three pounds for 25 cents.

Green and red pepper, from Florida, is 50 cents a pound; eggplant, 20 cents, and Summer squash, two pounds for a quarter; cucumbers, 10 cents each for large ones, and small ones three for a dime.

Oregon cauliflower is 10 and 15 cents a head, and local cabbage, 5 cents a pound.

Last season's potatoes—not a sign of softening—are 11 pounds for a quarter, but, by the sack, 2 cents a pound. Lettuce heads, 5 cents each, and curly lettuce, fine bunchy stalks, for as many cents.

Artichokes, 10 cents each; local mushrooms, 15 cents a pound; Oregon asparagus, 10 cents a bunch; spinach, two pounds for 15 cents.

California wax beans, 15 cents a pound; celery hearts, 15 cents a bunch, and rhubarb, six pounds for a quarter.

The good old standbys—green onions, carrots, turnips, beets, parsley, etc.—are each and all strongly in evidence at almost nominal prices.

In the fish market sturgeon is 20 cents a pound and Chinook salmon 15 cents. Salmon is plentiful, for 50 and 60-pound fish are coming up the Columbia River every day.

Black cod and silver smelt are each 12 1/2 cents a pound, and so are halibut cheeks. Fresh herring, flounders, soles and halibut are each 10 cents a pound, and herring can be had at two pounds for 15 cents.

Fresh mackerel is 15 cents a pound and salmon trout 25 cents. Columbia River shad is 8 cents a pound, but in some markets a whole shad can be had for 15 cents; shad roe, 20 cents a pound.

Shrimps, 25 cents a pound; crabs, 15, 20 and 25 cents each; razor clams, 15 cents a dozen (very scarce).

In the poultry market: Hens, 18 and 20 cents a pound; broilers and friers, 20 and 25 cents; geese and old ducks, 20 cents; spring ducks, 25 cents a pound.

Butter, 60 cents a roll; eggs, 35 and 25 cents a dozen.

New grass Edam cheese, from Holland, at $1.25 each. Home-made Swiss cheese, 25 cents a pound.
