Bezdek Turns Attention to Oregon's 1915 Eleven.

TRAINING CAMP IS CHOSEN

Squad to Be Taken to Mouth of Sluslaw for Early Work—Several Former Stars May Be Gone. New Plays Being Framed.

EUGENE, Or., May 30.—(Special)—Football is next.

College baseball is over, and Bezdek, the Oregon coach, has already begun to turn the gridiron situation over in his mind. Several facts are already decided.

To begin with Hugo Bezdek, scout for Barney Dreppfus' Pittsburg National League baseball team for five years, will stay in Eugene this summer.

He will spend five or six weeks scouting up and down the Pacific coast during the summer looking over one or two likely Westerners, but the rest of his time is to be in Eugene preparing for football and "staying on the job," as he terms it.

Training Camp Selected. The annual pre-season training camp has been selected. Fourteen days before college opens the Oregon coach will lead 20 or 25 Oregon warriors and recruits into the Willamette Pacific train for a camp on the beach at the mouth of the Sluslaw.

The hard sand will be a gridiron for two weeks, and the mountains by their hunting will be used to tear down fat and put muscles into his men.

By the first of September the Willamette Pacific trains will be running within three miles of Eugene, and the trip will be easier than that up the McKenzie.

During the next week Bezdek will take a roll call of his men to determine how many veterans he will have. All are eligible to return; none graduate.

Several are doubtful. Oscar West, Oregon's Astoria end, is in Little Rock, Ark. He promised "Red" he would come back if he can get away, for he wants one more year of football.

Johnny Larson, half back, is in Alaska and his return is uncertain. Ray Bryant, full back, and "Cap" Poole are doubtful.

Dean Crowell may go to Columbia, and the others are hopeful. Malarkey will be back but may be unable to play because of his eyes.

Several openings for promising freshmen and Bezdek has his eyes on one or two of these.

New Plays Being Planned. He is figuring out new formations and plays and is getting ideas from the men he needs to execute them.

Immediately after school closes Bezdek will spend six weeks in Eugene teaching a summer school class showing Oregon teachers how to teach football, basketball and other high school sports.

During this time he will also superintend the improvement of the old athletic field or the construction of a new one. Bids were opened for the construction of the new field this week but all were rejected.

The new one will be completed in time for use this year, and if it is not he will claim that the present gridiron be crowned.

Monday Crawfish. "It Never Crabs". So Don't Take Precious Time to Tell Us Again.

PORTLAND, OREG., MULT. CO., MAY 30, 1915.

had the interest of the people at heart, but L. Lane, who got some time yesterday, best him to it, for he said the same thing as soon as he got here.

When the Congress of Mothers and several other important congresses here and at The Home came out strong for the peace of Europe, the Crawfish predicted that results would follow.

We believe our predictions have been justified. Within the past week Italy has joined the other nations striving for the peace of Europe.

We cannot help feeling, however, that the report from the congress suggesting that they strive to bring about the peace of Europe, but the report in revised spelling.

Our ears thus, from the important events of the past week, that you can't be too careful that you say over the wire.

C. Sutherland Sunday on the Deschutes last week, and brought back a nice mess of trout, two of which he had the pleasure of eating.

Jim Fielder was in from New Jersey yesterday visiting among the boys. He is now governing that state, and he needs a pretty good job, for he looks like a man who will make a good one.

F. Kingsley, who helps run the Bibles Gutter, took the queen of the Rose Festival for a trip up the river yesterday to see the Cascade locks.

He is figuring out new formations and plays and is getting ideas from the men he needs to execute them.

DIG FLEET DUE HERE

Many Grain Ships on Way to Portland for Cargo.

VESSELS' TONNAGE 32,438

Opening of Panama Canal Important, as Already There Are Seven Steamers Aggregating 26,090 Tons, on Way to This Port.

Despite the fact that war conditions have caused almost a trebling of rates for chartering vessels, there now is en route for Portland from various ports of the world a large fleet of ships and steamers for taking on wheat and miscellaneous cargo.

Sixteen grain vessels are on their way to this port and in addition there are a total aggregate tonnage of 32,438. Compared with the two preceding years this is low, but with the advance in rates, shipping men consider it to be a good showing.

At the same date last year there was a total of 30 grain vessels en route for this port comprising a total tonnage of 69,137. In 1913 there were 29 vessels en route of a total of 57,714 tons.

The regular rate for vessels is about 27 shillings 6 pence per ton, but has advanced to as high as 77 shillings 6 pence, with little possibility of any decrease for some time to come.

The opening of the Panama Canal, already has had its effect on the tonnage handled at this port and shippers are of the opinion that this will increase with the advance of the season.

There are now en route from New York City for Portland, by way of the canal, seven steamers aggregating 26,090 tons. Grain ships now en route here follows:

Amure, British bark, 1320 tons, from Guayaquil; Andre Theodore, French ship, 2418 tons, from Rotterdam; Barnegate, French bark, 1875 tons, from Ipswich; Bell, Norwegian bark, 3000 tons, from York; Bepko, British steamer, 2070 tons, from Comox; Cornil Hart, French bark, 1908 tons, from the South; John Egan, American bark, 2708 tons, from Kobe; Killamite, British bark, 1219 tons, from San Francisco; Le Frier, French bark, 2006 tons, from Callao; Invernesshire, British bark, 1687 tons, from Buenos Ayres; Jules Gomme, French ship, 1902 tons, from Montevideo; Inverlyon, British bark, 1687 tons, from Buenos Ayres, and Galapago, British ship, 2227 tons, from Guayaquil.

Miscellaneous tonnage en route include: Bankoku Maru, Japanese steamer, 2015 tons, from Kariatu; Cuzco, Norwegian steamer, 2774 tons, from Tacoma; George W. Fenwick, American steamer, 1745 tons, from San Francisco; Kenkon Maru No. 1, Japanese steamer, 2507 tons, from Tacoma; Bolcor, Norwegian steamer, 2207 tons, from Tacoma; W. H. Marston, American schooner, 1110 tons, from East London.

VISITORS TO COME BY BOAT. Lewiston Excursion to Arrive on Steamer for Festival.

People of Lewiston are planning to take advantage of the new water transportation to Portland by visiting the Rose Festival this year. An excursion to the carnival has been arranged for on the steamer J. N. Teal and a large delegation from Idaho points is expected.

The schedule of the steamer has been arranged to accommodate the upper river visitors to the festival. The Teal will leave Lewiston Monday, June 7, at 10:30 a. m.
