Clews May Solve Seattle Mystery

Woman's Garb Used

House burned by stranger and got paper from—British Vice-Consul Tells of Getting Warning of Explosion.

Seattle, Wash., May 26.—A woman who was burned to death in her home Monday morning just a few minutes after a stranger had warned in person of an impending fire, was identified by her husband Tuesday afternoon as the property records give her name as Mrs. Elizabeth Keeler.

The house was found fully burned when the firemen arrived, and the body was found on the second floor.

The woman, after the warning was given, went up the stairs to the second floor for a reason which was not clear. The body was found near the walls in an attitude suggesting that she was trying to reach something.

A stranger who was in the room at the time of the warning was unable to account for where he came from or where he was going, but left the house.

The body was identified by her husband, who came to the scene with detectives from Tacoma.
