

PROMPT PEACE IN MEXICO DEMANDED

President Wilson Gives Faction Leaders Brief Time to End Their Conflict.

AMERICAN PATIENCE ENDS

Failure of Armed Organizations to End Strife Will Be Followed by United States Deciding on Means to Bring Quiet.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The text of the announcement to the American people, in which President Wilson today made known his attitude toward Mexico, was as follows:

"For more than two years revolutionary conditions have existed in Mexico. The purpose of the revolution was to rid Mexico of men who ignored the constitution of the republic, and used their power in contempt of the rights of its people, and with these purposes the people of the United States instinctively and generously sympathized. But the leaders of the revolution in the very hour of their success, have arrogated and turned their arms against one another.

"All professing the same objects, they are, nevertheless, unable or unwilling to co-operate. A central authority at Mexico City is no sooner set up than it is undermined and its authority denied by those who were expected to support it.

"Mexico is apparently no nearer a solution of her tragical troubles than she was when the revolution was first kindled. And she has been swept by civil war as if by a flood, her fields lie unseeded, her work cattle are confiscated for the use of the armed factions, her people flee to the mountains to escape being drawn into unavailing bloodshed and no means seems to see or lead the way to peace and settled order. There is no protection either for her citizens or for the citizens of other nations resident and at work within her territory. Mexico is starving and without a government.

"In these circumstances the people and Government of the United States cannot stand idly by, and do nothing to serve their neighbors. They want nothing for themselves in Mexico. Least of all do they desire to settle her affairs for her citizens or for the citizens of other nations resident and at work within her territory. Mexico is starving and without a government.

"Patriotic Mexicans are sick at heart and cry out for peace and for every self-sacrifice that may be necessary to procure it. Their people cry out for food and will presently hate as much as they fear every man in their country for out of it they stand between them, and their daily bread.

"It is time, therefore, that the Government of the United States should frankly state the policy which, in these extraordinary circumstances, it becomes its duty to adopt. It must presently do what it has not hitherto done or felt at liberty to do. Its active moral support to some man or group of men, if such may be found, who can rally the suffering people of Mexico to their support in an effort to ignore, if they cannot unite, the warring factions of the country, return to the constitution of the republic, in the absence, and set up a government at Mexico City which the great powers of the world can recognize and deal with, a government in which the programme of the revolution will be a business and not merely a platform. I therefore publicly and very solemnly call upon the people of Mexico to feel it to be my duty to tell them that, if they cannot accommodate their differences and unite for this great purpose within a very short time, this government will be constrained to decide what means should be employed by the United States in order to help Mexico save herself and serve her people."

YAQUIS BEYOND ALL CONTROL

Mexicans Curious to Know What Americans Will Do About It.

DOUGLAS, ARIZ., June 2.—So far as Sonora, Mexico, is concerned, President Wilson's warning to the Mexican chiefs to join in the establishment of peace is not expected to have much effect, for the reason that the Yaqui Indians are beyond all control and have proclaimed an independent government of their own. What the United States will do in their case is a matter of curiosity to Mexican leaders in this country, who are wholly unable to cope with them.

For 30 years prior to the outbreak of the Madero revolt in 1911, Sonora was more or less under military law, owing to the turbulence of the Yaquis, who had been expelled of their rich lands in the Yaqui Valley on the west coast of Mexico by Porfirio Diaz.

These lands have passed in large areas into the hands of Americans and other foreigners. Revolutionary leaders of various political affiliations have won temporarily the support of the Yaquis by promises of the restoration of the lands to the Yaqui country, to redeem these promises, the Yaquis turned against them. The last man they supported was Jose Maytorena, Governor of Sonora and Villa leader. Lately the Indians rebelled against him, set up an independent nation and declared war on all Mexicans.

NEW YORK, June 2.—General Victoriano Huerta, ex-Provisional President of Mexico, after he had read President Wilson's message regarding the situation in Mexico, today issued the following signed statement:

"As a foreigner, enjoying the hospitality of a foreign country, I should not criticize nor even discuss statements of the Government or officers of the foreign country I live in. But I may say this:

"Any foreign country that is sincere and honest in its endeavor to help our nation would concentrate its efforts on giving its moral support or assistance to any person or faction.

"Such actions instead of bringing the results desired, would have the opposite effect.

"The Mexican nation as a whole will never accept any such party, even if it would only be suspected that that party received any help from a foreign country.

Thousands of exiled Mexicans who were driven from their country by the Constitutionalists expressed their approval of the President's plan but doubted whether the Villa and Carranza and Zapata elements could reach an agreement. The possibility of another revolutionary movement to take under its standard the best elements in the Villa and Carranza ranks was widely discussed.

Foreign Nations Approve. Foreign nations have been taken into the confidence of the United States and those European diplomats who the constitution of the republic, so long in abeyance, and set up a government at Mexico City which the great powers of the world can recognize and deal with, a government in which the programme of the revolution will be a business and not merely a platform. HOUSTON, Tex., June 2.—Captain Oscar Lane, of the steamship Winifred from Tampico, which docked here today, says he "positively knows of six American citizens who were killed near Tampico in the last few days." John Smith, an engineer for the East Coast Oil Company, he said, was assassinated in a rowboat last Saturday. He added he feared a general uprising and massacre of Americans in and near the Panuco oil fields.

After detailing the several instances of which he said he had knowledge, Captain Lane made this statement: "If conditions are not changed down there soon, I believe all Americans will be driven out of the district. There seems to be a general feeling there against all citizens of the United States. One side is no more to blame than the other."
