C. B. Regley Declares Strife Is Ruin of Grangers in Its Effect on Sale of Produce-Extension of Parcel Post Favored.

CENTRALIA, Wash., June 2 .- (Special.)-Opposition of corporations was said to be responsible for the loss of 2432 members and 32 organized granges of the state, according to the report of Secretary Lewis to the State Grange in session here today. The convention opened yesterday with more than 400 delegates representing the subordinate granges. Mr. Lewis reported that there are now 310 granges in the state, that 32 had been lost, 20 new ones formed and seven reorganized. Several of the granges had falled to make reports for two quarters. There are 26 Pomona granges, Mr. Lewis reported. Statements of the financial condition of the State Grange were made by the treasurer, while W. E. Powell, le. urer, reviewed the work that had been done during the year. Practically every county in the state is represented with full delegations. A big delegation from Skagit County has launched a campaign in favor of Burlington for the 1915 meeting. It is expected that other cities, however, will put in bids later for next year's meeting. senting the subordinate granges. Mr music and other details.

Part of the day was taken up with work in the fourth degree as regular order of business, with memorial exercises this afternoon.

Master Kegley, in his memorial address, touched especially on life work of Mrs. B. B. Lord, classing her as one of "most faithful, honest and true-hearted patrons I have ever known." Mrs. Lord joined the Grange during its carly organization in New York State and on August 24, 1877, united with Pomona Grange, later serving as master and lecturer of Chautauqua County Pomona Grange and lecturer of New York State Grange. Coming to Washington in 1994 to make her home with her only son, C. J. Lord, of Olympia, she instantly put her heart into Grange work in this state.

Tomorrow new officers will be elected and the 1916 meeting place chosen.

The opening session of the grange yesterday was a secret one, work in the fourth degree being exemplified and the personnel of the numerous committees announced. Later in the day C. B. Kegley, master, delivered his address.

Referring to the parcel post, Master Kegley suggested as lines of development the possibilities of co-operative effort by the organization of farmers exchanges, with the rural storekeeper as manager of the exchange, to take charge of supplying city consumers direct by parcel post. He urged the support of the grange to the work of the Rural Credit League of America, and Rural Credit League of America, and favored resolutions urging upon Congress the importance of again taking up the conservation bills recently used by the House but blocked in High Taxes Condemned. Master Kegley put up a strong plea for prohibition, woman suffrage and good roads. He condemned the present high taxes in the state and urged the grangers to consider carefully a tenta-tive pian for the organization of a Na-tional committee to revise the present tax system, which will later be submitted to the committee on taxation.

He commended the commission form of government for cities and urged its adoption in state government, asserting that "It is simply business applied to politics and seems to be the only way to eliminate the grafter, and most especially is this true of our Legislature."

The grange master said that the grange has decided to work with other forces in the state in invoking the reftorces in the state in invoking the ref-erendum on laws passed by the last Legislature, and which he said are op-posed to direct legislation, and urged the grangers to sign these referendum petitions. He urged upon the grangers to take a strong stand at the present assign on behalf of Washington farmers in support of National peace and prosperity, condemning war as "a heli that engulfs farmers in its destroying

The local Commercial Club tendered the grangers a public reception in the auditorium last night.

Engineering Instruction Is Carried to People of State.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, attempt on the part of the Agricultural College to carry its engineering in-struction out to the people of the state has just been successfully concluded. For three months, a series of lectures and demonstrations have been given to the Portland branch of the International Union of Steam Engineers. The course has been attended by from 150 to 175 members of the organization.

Demonstrations have been carried on at various plants in the city and a number of experiments and exercises have been conducted by individuals, One typical instance resulting from this instruction was a saving of 8 per cent in the cost of fuel in one of the largest plants in Portland. The work taken up was "combustion control."

Mary L. J. Walker, M. L. D., Olean, N. Y., writes:

"I must tell you of a case of Constipation lasting for twenty years, that was cured by your Cascade treatment.

"The physician in charge said the patient had a tumor lying between the stomach and intestines. The patient being 62 years old, he claimed no help could be given except the knife; but finding the intestines in a very bad state, I advised the "J. B. L. Cascade," which resulted in a complete recovery. When I took the case she was taking a laxative three times a day, and had been for three weeks; couldn't get along without it—now she never takes any laxative."

Upon the report of the inspector will be de-cided whether the state will be aided in reclaiming the land or whether it shall be thrown open at once for settlement.

The larger part of the tract, 34,000 acres, was filed on six years ago by an Eastern irrigation company, under the Carey act. After expending about $7000 on the project, the company decided last year that it could not carry the project to completion and the matter was put up to the state officials, who in turn appealed to the United States Reclamation Service.

In addition to the 23,000 acres filed on by the Eastern concern, there are 13,000 acres which would be taken up if the larger tract was thrown open.
