BY GERTRUDE P. CORBETT

MOST propitious was yesterday for the lovely garden party for which Mrs. John H. Burgard was hostess. It was in every respect a "pink tea" insofar as the floral decorations were concerned, and many of the gowns of the assistants also carried out the glowing color scheme. It was the first of the season, and the season, which in a measure accounted for the throngs of smartly-gowned women who called during the afternoon. More than 250 matrons and maids strolled about the lovely gardens, and their gowns were enhanced by the effective foil of shrubs, trees and vines, intermingled with hanging baskets of brilliant-hued garden flowers.

Where the hostess and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Burgard, stood to receive the guests was a huge gaily-colored Japanese parasol, similar ones of enormous dimensions covering the tea and punch tables. Everywhere were clusters of pink roses and the house was a rose bower of the soft-tinted bloom. Pink snapdragons in artistic arrangement decked the refreshment tables and the broad verandas where Waldemar Lind's orchestra was stationed was also decked with pink blossoms.

Greeting the guests at the door were little Dorothy and Elizabeth Burgard, nieces of the hostess. The coffee and tea urns were presided over by Mrs. Theodore Nicolai, Mrs. Felix W. Isherwood, Mrs. Charles Kings and Mrs. Theodore Stoppach. Ices were served by Mrs. Wilbur E. Coman, Mrs. Thomas C. Denny, Mrs. George Kelly and Mrs. Dan Kellaher.

Stationed at the punchbowl were Mrs. William Lyon and Mrs. Bruce Stewart. Filting through the crowd about the grounds looking after the comfort of the guests were Mrs. William E. Clarke, Mrs. Wendell Poulson, Mrs. Augustus Hoffman and Mrs. Frederick Burgard. Assisting in serving were Misses May Coon, Mary Stuart Smith, Sara McCully, Elizabeth Humason, Mrs. Edith and Theodora Stoppach and Philena King.

The hostess and her assistants were charming in summery frocks of the lighter variety and Mrs. Burgard, senior, received in a handsome black charmeuse gown, trimmed with lace.

Mrs. Edwin Turnell and little son, Edwin, Jr., who have been passing a fortnight in Seattle, returned home yesterday.

Pan-Hellenic Association will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. C. Elliott King, 227 East Sixtieth street. Delta Gamma will be hostess. This is the last meeting until Fall.

Another affair of importance that will take place tomorrow afternoon is the tea for which the Neighborhood House, Council of Jewish Women, will be hostesses at the home of Second and Wood streets, from 3 to 5:30 P. M. The committee includes Mrs. S. M. Blumauer, Mrs. A. J. Meier, Mrs. M. Fleischner, Mrs. Julius Lipsett, Mrs. Gustav Simon, Mrs. L. Sweet, Miss Ella Hirsch, Miss F. Sonnenfeld, Ben Selling, Adolph Wolf, Rabbi Joseph Wise and A. Solis Cohen.

For the pleasure of Miss Shirley Fiske, who will become a bride next Wednesday night, and also honoring Miss Hazel Kennedy, house guest of Miss Marie Howells, Miss Fiske entertained about a dozen of the younger set yesterday afternoon with an informal tea and sewing bee. During the afternoon Miss Mabel Riggs and several selections and Mrs. Frederick A. Martin presided at the tea table.

Mrs. Mary G. Bellamy, of Laramie, Wyo., is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Conello. Mrs. Bellamy is a delegate to mid-annual convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Bellamy for some time has been state superintendent of Wyoming and also was a member of the State Legislature.

Among those who entertained for Senator and Mrs. Cummins, of Iowa, on their recent visit here was Mrs. H. C. Rinehart, president of the Iowa State Society. Monday evening Mrs. Rinehart entertained them at dinner at the Hotel Helena and later held an informal reception in their honor. The following day Mrs. Cummins was honored guest at a luncheon for which Mrs. Rinehart was hostess, and numerous other affairs marked her visit here.

Sympathy is being extended to the family of Mrs. J. W. Fordham Johnson, formerly of this city, whose death occurred Friday in Vancouver, B. C. Mrs. Johnson, as Miss Helen Guthrie, was very popular in this city and has made her home in Vancouver for years.

Mrs. W. U. Sanderson, of Yaquina ranch, at Nashville, Or., is passing a few days in Portland at the Hotel Nor-tonia.

Miss Marie Stevens, of Portland, returned home Tuesday after a two weeks' visit with friends and relatives in Seattle and Mount Vernon, Wash.

The members of the Brooklyn School Alumni Association will present the three-act comedy, "Between the Acts," in the school assembly hall tonight at 8 o'clock.

The cast includes several of Portland's clever amateur performers. The members of the cast have been working hard. The girls will sell homemade candy and the boys will act as ushers.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

By EDITH KNIGHT HOLMES

A NEW club was formed yesterday which is called the Presidents' Club, and which consists of the presidents and past presidents of federated clubs. This new organization has as its object the promotion of mutual fellowship and a closer relationship between the various clubs and a clear understanding of the purposes of each organization of the federation. Presidents and past presidents will be the members, and past presidents becoming so upon invitation.

The Oregon Congress of Mothers plans to arrange a number of restrooms for mothers and children during the Rose festival week. These rooms, which will be for most part, restrooms already established, will be along or near the line of march of various parades. Mrs. J. C. Elliott King, on the committee of arrangement, gives the following places, already provided: Unitarian Church, Catholic Women's League, First Presbyterian Church and Ladd School. International Polleagues.
A WELL-KNOWN lecturer in discussing the war recently said in advocating disarmament, "Where nobody is loaded nobody explodes." Without doubt the continual increase of armament, the growth of the war thought and war spirit that inevitably follows, the desire of the war lords to try their new toys, to play the war game, all lead to an explosion such as the world is seeing. If words long ago had been turned into punning books, if the thoughts of all were turned upon industry and productive-ness and the making of happy homes and the living of life in peace and contentment, there would have been no explosion.

But many aver that complete disarmament is impossible; that some nations, predatory, ferocious, would seize lands or invade rights of smaller peoples and that with no means of defense the weaker folk would be helpless to prevent such aggression. But hasn't the time come for nations, as it came long ago for individuals, to have courts and policemen? The individual can no longer go about armed to the teeth, taking what he wishes, murdering and robbing as the lawless seize him. He is compelled to disarm. And if he defies law and breaks in and pillages, the policeman protects those whom he would harm; and he is taken before a court of law and compelled to abide by its decisions.

This proposal of an international police force is not new. But isn't it time for it to be considered more seriously than it has been? War no longer affects the few nations concerned. It disturbs the whole world. Scarcely a people upon the face of the earth but has suffered because of the present conflict in Europe. Haven't they a right to say whether that shall be or not? Should a few ruffians be allowed to "shoot up" the world because they happen to have some differences of opinion among themselves? Isn't it time for the world to have a police force and a court of law where disagreements can be settled according to what is just and right and not according to the strength of the mailed fist? We have through the ages made such a fetish of war, we have glorified it as an expression of patriotism, we have honored as heroes those who have marched away in its ranks, that we have failed to see that after all it is only on a big scale what a squabble between schoolboys or a fist fight of men on a small scale. But we have passed beyond the time when such things are allowed to disturb the peace of civilized society. Law and order have come to the front and such differences are settled according to the rights of the matter and for the good of the community as well as of the combatants.

And when we get down to the naked truth of war, isn't it of the same breed and shouldn't it in the interests of civilization be settled in the same fashion? Shouldn't the nations have a police force strong enough to handle any unruly member of the family of man and shouldn't there be a court where justice will be dispensed to all alike? Haven't we reached the stage of development where this is the next step? And doesn't the present war bring home the need of it so terribly that ought we not to get about making it an actuality?

Don't Let Prejudice Against Baker's Bread Keep You From Buying HOLSUM

MADAM, you owe it to yourself to at least try HOLSUM Bread and compare it with your own baking results. Very few women bake because they like it. On the contrary, the certainty of a hot, disagreeable task, and the uncertainty of success make most home-baking a dreaded task.

HOLSUM makes home baking a useless waste of time and energy. There's nothing in home made bread that you do not get in HOLSUM. On the other hand there is a great deal in HOLSUM that you do not get in home made bread.

Save Your Bake Day Energy for Better Things

No kitchen is cleaner or more sanitary than the HOLSUM bakery. No housewife has the scientific facilities for mixing, kneading, raising and baking that you will find in the HOLSUM bakery. No housewife has the time or apparatus to test and measure the ingredients for her bread as carefully and accurately as the ingredients for every batch of HOLSUM are measured and tested. No ordinary kitchen oven can maintain the constant even temperature of 550 degrees maintained by the HOLSUM ovens and which is necessary to properly kill the yeast germs. It stands to reason that the varying conditions of home baking can not produce bread so uniformly firm, evenly baked and digestible as bread baked by the scientific HOLSUM process.
