The total contributions to the fund for maintenance of the work of the Associated Charities throughout the coming summer is now $924, nearly half of which was contributed within the past three days.

For a time after the campaign for the amount necessary to make continuation of the work in the summer months possible, which is $5000, was launched, the response was slow, and it was feared that the organization would have to close its doors until next October. The response of the past three days, however, have been so encouraging that it is now thought probable that the necessary fund can be raised.

During the three days of the Rose Festival the Charities will temporarily suspend its campaign, but it will resume at once after the festival and continue its work until the needed amount is raised.

One of the especially urgent causes of the heavy demand for support is the amount of unemployment, which is greater than usual at this season of the year.

Typical Appeal Recited.

"Excuse me for writing you this present letter."

FACTORY TOUR PLANNED

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MAN TO STUDY EASTERN METHODS.

George D. Lee Goes East to Investigate Means Employed in Other Cities to Build Up Industries.

George D. Lee, secretary of the bureau of manufactures and industries, of the Chamber of Commerce, left Saturday for a month's trip in the East, to investigate the means employed by distinctive manufacturing concerns in production and marketing of goods of a character such as might be manufactured in Portland, and to secure general information that may be of value in the future campaigns of the Chamber of Commerce in the upbuilding of local manufactures.

His first stop will be at Bay City, Mich., from which "knocked down houses" are sent out to the entire world. "Knocked down houses" are even shipped into Oregon, the greatest timber producer of all the states.

At Rochester, N. Y., Mr. Lee will spend considerable time in an investigation of the plans upon which a company is operated for the financing to Rochester industries.

"The surplus money of Portland has heretofore found investment in real estate, municipal bonds, savings accounts, etc.," said Mr. Lee. "If we can make industrial investments safe and attractive to our citizens, the Chamber of Commerce will have begun the work of building up a manufacturing business, to supply the ships which will come to Portland for cargo, and which will bring continental railroads as they are needed."

In addition to undertaking the industrial investigation outlined, Mr. Lee will be one of the delegates from the Portland Ad Club to the National convention of Advertising Agencies to be held in Chicago June 26 to 24.
