

FALL OF LEMBERG IS EXPECTED SOON

Austro-German Columns Are Only Few Miles From Capital of Galicia.

ADVANCE IS PROGRESSING

More Than 33,000 Russians Captured During Battles Near Przemyśl, Says Official Announcement From Germany.

LONDON, June 7.—Telegrams from Vienna say that Lemberg, capital of the Austrian crown land of Galicia, now in the hands of the Russians, may be taken at any moment by the Austro-German forces, according to a despatch from Copenhagen to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

One message from the Austrian capital says that the Austrians after 25 miles from the town, and other advices estimate the distance at only 10 miles. The official Vienna communication says:

"The attacks of the central Austro-German forces are making considerable progress north of Mocsiska (Galicia). General Limington's army, after storming a bridge head at Zurawna, gained a firm footing on the northern bank of the Dunajec. The announcement of the German war office follows:

"During the battles at Przemysl 33,500 prisoners were taken. "East of Przemysl the troops of the Teutonic allies continued their victorious battle. They drove back the enemy towards Wyssnia to the north-east of Mocsiska. Part of the army under General Von Limington has crossed the Eastern Kurawa river and has taken the hill on the north bank by storm. Farther south, the pursuit reached the Nowica-Kausz-Tomaszow line.

"North of Kureschany our cavalry forced a passage across the Windau and advanced in a southeasterly direction. South of Kureschany and in the region east of Rawdyznki our offensive made good progress, and an additional 3,000 prisoners and ten machine guns fell into our hands. South of the Nemen, the bank of the river has been cleared of all enemies as far as the lines from Tolauze to Sapiezyski."

RUSSIANS WEAKEN IN NORTH

Most of Troops in Baltic Provinces Are Aged Reservists.

BERLIN, via London, June 7.—As a result of what is described in military circles here as almost complete exhaustion, the Russian offensive in Poland is declared to have shifted to a weak defensive, against which the Germans daily are making headway which is only overshadowed by their gains in Galicia.

The Russian troops in this section, it is said, are mostly old reservists, who are aided by leaders who have been hurriedly armed. The German advance northeast and south of Shavli was checked with difficulty by the Russians, who barely succeeded in bringing up their 15th corps to Mitau.

Directly before Libau the Russians are declared to have withdrawn their lines about 60 kilometers (about 40 miles). Their activity is limited to shelling the intervening villages, in order to make the German advance more difficult. Officers say the weakness of the Russians is not as serious along the line, but nowhere more so than near Mitau.

It is asserted that the Russian offensive movement near the Dubysa and Shavli were only weak and temporary and were accompanied by great losses. An illustration of what is declared to be the general attitude of the Russians was given by an officer thus: "Recently several hundred prisoners were being escorted from Mitau to Tilsit by a dozen German landwehr troops when a strong Russian cavalry patrol appeared. The Germans abandoned their prisoners to fight off the Russians. The engagement lasted an hour and drew the Germans several kilometers away.

"When they returned after defeating the Russians, expecting to find their prisoners gone, they were amazed to discover the prisoners seated in a ditch anxiously awaiting them and fearful lest the Russians should be victorious and they would have to go back into the service."

The situation at Libau is said to be improving daily. The factories are reopening and the population is returning to work, no longer fearful of the Germans.

KEEFE'S WOUND FATAL

YOUNG MAN SHOT AT UNION JUNCTION BY SHERIFF SUCCEUMBS. Relatives and Finances at Bedside as Life Ebbs Away—Prosecution of Officer Not Contemplated.

LA GRANDE, Or., June 7.—(Special.)—Death tonight ended the life of John Keefe, aged 30, of Moscow, Idaho, because of a prank. His parents, wealthy and willing to aid him in every way, and his pockets well filled with money, Keefe stole a ride on a passenger train bound for Baker, to see his sweetheart Friday. He was put off the train and a bundle of blankets he carried incited suspicion of the Sheriff, who stood nearby. When asked to explain he bolted and ran, and was shot through the lung. Since that night his death has been but a matter of hours. It is expected local Elks will have some service before the body is shipped to Moscow for burial.

Although relatives refrain from expressing their personal viewpoint for publication, it is understood on good authority that they do not contemplate prosecuting Sheriff Hug. It is understood that they entertain no bitterness toward the Sheriff. C. W. Keefe, a Great Northern conductor out of Spokane, was the brother to arrive, and the two brothers, father, mother and sweetheart waited at the bedside for the end to come, which all knew was certain.

PRISON FLIRTATION RECALLED

Correspondence Maintained With Girl Inmate During Jail Term. John Keefe, the young man shot by mistake by Sheriff Hug at Union Junction, Or., Friday night and reported to be dying, has been followed by a curious fatality since his arrest by Federal authorities last winter on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

His offense was not a vicious one, the amounts he obtained through his alleged fraudulent scheme being small ones, and Assistant United States Attorney Johnson, who prosecuted him, joined with others in asking Judge Bean to exercise leniency. Judge Bean sentenced Keefe to only 60 days in the County Jail in Portland. A physician's statement that he had contracted tuberculosis was another mitigating factor.

While he was in jail Keefe became involved in a harmless but spectacular looking-glass flirtation with a woman prisoner on the floor above him. He wrote notes which he hoisted on a string to the cell window above and returned the returned notes in the same way. This continued for several days before it was discovered and Keefe was put in solitary confinement.

After his release Keefe remained in Portland for some time, but finally decided to go to Baker, Or., where he has friends. Having no money he beat his way as far as Union Junction, where he was put off the train.

Sheriff Hug happened to be waiting by the track on the lookout for a couple of "yeggies." He challenged Keefe, who tossed his blanket roll at the Sheriff and ran. The Sheriff fired. Keefe fell from the train.

United States officials and others who had to do with Keefe here all say there was nothing vicious about him, and that his offense was more the result of reckless judgment than of deliberate lawlessness.

NOTED ARTIST IS DEAD

WILLIAM S. PARROTT SUCCEUMBS NEAR GOLDENDALE.

Entire Life of Pioneer of Kilkittat Valley Spent in Painting Pictures of Scenery of Northwest.

GOLDENDALE, Wash., June 7.—(Special.)—William Samuel Parrott, an early settler of the Kilkittat Valley and an artist of world-wide fame, died at the Golden homestead, near Goldendale today after a brief illness. He was born in Missouri in 1844 and came to Oregon with his father, Lewis S. Parrott, in 1857. In 1859 Lewis S. Parrott and his son-in-law, John J. Golden, founder of Goldendale, came to the Kilkittat Valley.

William S. Parrott, when a boy, displayed natural talent for painting outdoor scenery and spent his entire life reproducing the snow-capped mountain peaks, waterfalls and other landscapes of the Pacific Coast States. He opened a studio in Portland in 1867, where he resided for 20 years. A painting that he made of the Massacre of the Lava Beds during the Modoc Indian war in 1874 brought him into prominence in Portland. One picture that he painted of Mount Hood sold for $10,000 in New York. Other of his paintings are to be found in the Louvre, the Academy of Paris and London. In 1887 he closed his studio in Portland. Just a few days before his death he completed a last picture of Mount Hood.

The following brothers and sisters survive: Mrs. Jane G. Golden, Goldendale; Mrs. Ben E. Parrott, Seattle; Mrs. Elizabeth Ford, Seattle; Elgin Parrott, Seattle; John E. Parrott, Portland, and E. D. Parrott, Seattle.

ATTACK NOT REPORTED

GERMAN ADMIRALTY TRYING TO FIX NEBRASKAN CASE.

Official Report Says Several Submarines Were in Vicinity, but None Reports Any Activity.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Ambassador Gerard reported today that the German admiral's report on the submarine attack on the American steamer Nebraska, but was conducting an investigation of the intervening villages, in order to make the German advance more difficult. Officers say the weakness of the Russians is not as serious along the line, but nowhere more so than near Mitau.

As to the Lusitania, the German position thus far has been that she was an armed ship, according to the information in her possession, but when the United States Government declares definitely that its official position shows the ship was unarmed, then it is suggested the Berlin authorities will be in a position to accept this positive assurance from a friendly government, notwithstanding any report to the contrary.

Peace is Possible Result. The recent Von Jagow note, it is pointed out, was predicated on the fact that the Lusitania was an armed ship, but did not assert the principle that unarmed passenger ships would be similarly sunk. It is therefore that the principle of immunity to unarmed passenger ships is one which could be accepted by Germany as consistent with her attitude up to this time and would give the largest measure of protection to Americans in the future.

Such an agreement on the status of the Lusitania and the principle of govern unarmed passenger ships, it is generally admitted, would be the way for a much wider adjustment of all the various conflicts which have arisen over American ships and the safety of the seas. The hope is expressed that this larger adjustment might even in turn lead to the supreme question of bringing the warring nations to peace.

Issue Is Put Squarely. Officials familiar with the situation dissipated the notion that any influence had arisen to delay the sending of the communication. One of the President's closest advisers declared that there had been no intentional delay, but that the note had required much scrutiny and careful consideration.

When the document finally is made public, these officials said, it will not only satisfy American public opinion, but would place squarely before Germany the issue as to whether the imperial government intends to adhere to the hitherto accepted principles of international law on maritime warfare. The President has been displeased by the numerous detailed accounts of what the note would contain when he himself had not yet settled finally on its contents. He is anxious that the course of the position of the United States shall not be clouded.

Issue Is Put Squarely. Officials familiar with the situation dissipated the notion that any influence had arisen to delay the sending of the communication. One of the President's closest advisers declared that there had been no intentional delay, but that the note had required much scrutiny and careful consideration.

When the document finally is made public, these officials said, it will not only satisfy American public opinion, but would place squarely before Germany the issue as to whether the imperial government intends to adhere to the hitherto accepted principles of international law on maritime warfare. The President has been displeased by the numerous detailed accounts of what the note would contain when he himself had not yet settled finally on its contents. He is anxious that the course of the position of the United States shall not be clouded.

COLONY WINS LAND SUIT

Contract for Purchase of $60,000 Tract Near Peoria Set Aside.

ALBANY, Or., June 7.—(Special.)—The colony of Russian Donkibhoras today won the case it instituted against B. J. Hecker to rescind the contract whereby it purchased for $60,000 the tract of 1000 acres which it occupies near Peoria. The decision was handed down by Judge Galloway, who took the case under advisement when it was tried the last week in April. The case will be appealed to the State Supreme Court.

AVIATOR WRECKS ZEPPELIN

Warnford's bombs were immediately effective.

"Unhappily the airship crashed down on the Grand Begunage de Sainte Elisabeth, one of the best known resorts in Belgium, which is situated in the suburbs of St. Amand.

The burning mass fired the buildings, which were filled with nuns and Belgian women and children refugees. Terrible scenes followed. A man, bent on rescue, leaped from a window with a child in his arms and both were killed.

The Zeppelin was one of the largest yet seen in Belgium. It was returning from a scouting expedition along the Belgian coast.

Use Sepsicidal After Shaving. Soothing, cooling, refreshing. Leaves soft, velvety finish. Instantly relieves and prevents irritation. Prevents infection. Keeps the skin clean, healthy odor. 50c. All drugists.

NOTE DELAY DUE TO CAREFUL WORDING

American People Will Be Satisfied With Reply to Germany, Say Officials.

ISSUE IS SQUARELY PUT

President's Desire Is to Present Document Which Cannot Be Interpreted by Any Expert in International Law.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—President Wilson let it be known today that the note which the United States is to send to Germany with respect to submarine warfare has been prepared with the utmost expedition and had not been subjected to an hour's unnecessary delay since it was first drafted.

The President's desire to have the document convey explicitly the position of the United States Government so that it cannot be misunderstood abroad or invite protracted discussion on the fundamental issues involved is chiefly responsible for the fact that the note has not yet gone forward.

Legal officers of the Government examined the note with minute care today and sent it back to the President with some changes. It may require further consideration by the President and his Cabinet tomorrow, and high officials did not know tonight just when it would be cabled. On the highest authority, however, it was said that as soon as the President regarded the communication as satisfactory in phrasing it would be transmitted to Ambassador Gerard.

Unimpeachable Note Is Desired. Questions of such serious moment are involved in the wording of the new note that the President is anxiously that the communication not only shall meet his own wishes, but should be unimpeachable from the point of view of the experts in international law.

While the President has been at work on the document, special agents of the United States Government have by their investigation corroborated in every detail the statement made in the first American note—that the Lusitania was unarmed. At the same time, however, personal envoy of Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, has been voyaging nearer to Germany, carrying important messages from the German embassy concerning the American point of view on submarine warfare. The latter circumstances, however, was declared in high official quarters to have been merely a coincidence and in no way to have influenced the progress of the note.

Hope of Adjustment Held. To what extent the German viewpoint here regarding the situation between the United States and Germany is the same as that held at Berlin is not clear as yet. But certainly the general view in German quarters at the capital is that the recent trend of events gives the United States an adjustment. This is based not alone on the probable course of the German navy, but also on the fact that the American course, which is regarded as developing along lines which will permit of a satisfactory conclusion.

The most promising factor in the solution, according to the German viewpoint, is one which would combine the principle of immunity to unarmed ships, and also a general agreement guaranteeing immunity from attack hereafter to all unarmed ships carrying passengers.

As to the Lusitania, the German position thus far has been that she was an armed ship, according to the information in her possession, but when the United States Government declares definitely that its official position shows the ship was unarmed, then it is suggested the Berlin authorities will be in a position to accept this positive assurance from a friendly government, notwithstanding any report to the contrary.

Peace is Possible Result. The recent Von Jagow note, it is pointed out, was predicated on the fact that the Lusitania was an armed ship, but did not assert the principle that unarmed passenger ships would be similarly sunk. It is therefore that the principle of immunity to unarmed passenger ships is one which could be accepted by Germany as consistent with her attitude up to this time and would give the largest measure of protection to Americans in the future.

Such an agreement on the status of the Lusitania and the principle of govern unarmed passenger ships, it is generally admitted, would be the way for a much wider adjustment of all the various conflicts which have arisen over American ships and the safety of the seas. The hope is expressed that this larger adjustment might even in turn lead to the supreme question of bringing the warring nations to peace.

Issue Is Put Squarely. Officials familiar with the situation dissipated the notion that any influence had arisen to delay the sending of the communication. One of the President's closest advisers declared that there had been no intentional delay, but that the note had required much scrutiny and careful consideration.

When the document finally is made public, these officials said, it will not only satisfy American public opinion, but would place squarely before Germany the issue as to whether the imperial government intends to adhere to the hitherto accepted principles of international law on maritime warfare. The President has been displeased by the numerous detailed accounts of what the note would contain when he himself had not yet settled finally on its contents. He is anxious that the course of the position of the United States shall not be clouded.

Issue Is Put Squarely. Officials familiar with the situation dissipated the notion that any influence had arisen to delay the sending of the communication. One of the President's closest advisers declared that there had been no intentional delay, but that the note had required much scrutiny and careful consideration.

When the document finally is made public, these officials said, it will not only satisfy American public opinion, but would place squarely before Germany the issue as to whether the imperial government intends to adhere to the hitherto accepted principles of international law on maritime warfare. The President has been displeased by the numerous detailed accounts of what the note would contain when he himself had not yet settled finally on its contents. He is anxious that the course of the position of the United States shall not be clouded.

Issue Is Put Squarely. Officials familiar with the situation dissipated the notion that any influence had arisen to delay the sending of the communication. One of the President's closest advisers declared that there had been no intentional delay, but that the note had required much scrutiny and careful consideration.

When the document finally is made public, these officials said, it will not only satisfy American public opinion, but would place squarely before Germany the issue as to whether the imperial government intends to adhere to the hitherto accepted principles of international law on maritime warfare. The President has been displeased by the numerous detailed accounts of what the note would contain when he himself had not yet settled finally on its contents. He is anxious that the course of the position of the United States shall not be clouded.

Issue Is Put Squarely. Officials familiar with the situation dissipated the notion that any influence had arisen to delay the sending of the communication. One of the President's closest advisers declared that there had been no intentional delay, but that the note had required much scrutiny and careful consideration.

When the document finally is made public, these officials said, it will not only satisfy American public opinion, but would place squarely before Germany the issue as to whether the imperial government intends to adhere to the hitherto accepted principles of international law on maritime warfare. The President has been displeased by the numerous detailed accounts of what the note would contain when he himself had not yet settled finally on its contents. He is anxious that the course of the position of the United States shall not be clouded.

Issue Is Put Squarely. Officials familiar with the situation dissipated the notion that any influence had arisen to delay the sending of the communication. One of the President's closest advisers declared that there had been no intentional delay, but that the note had required much scrutiny and careful consideration.

When the document finally is made public, these officials said, it will not only satisfy American public opinion, but would place squarely before Germany the issue as to whether the imperial government intends to adhere to the hitherto accepted principles of international law on maritime warfare. The President has been displeased by the numerous detailed accounts of what the note would contain when he himself had not yet settled finally on its contents. He is anxious that the course of the position of the United States shall not be clouded.

Issue Is Put Squarely. Officials familiar with the situation dissipated the notion that any influence had arisen to delay the sending of the communication. One of the President's closest advisers declared that there had been no intentional delay, but that the note had required much scrutiny and careful consideration.

When the document finally is made public, these officials said, it will not only satisfy American public opinion, but would place squarely before Germany the issue as to whether the imperial government intends to adhere to the hitherto accepted principles of international law on maritime warfare. The President has been displeased by the numerous detailed accounts of what the note would contain when he himself had not yet settled finally on its contents. He is anxious that the course of the position of the United States shall not be clouded.

Issue Is Put Squarely. Officials familiar with the situation dissipated the notion that any influence had arisen to delay the sending of the communication. One of the President's closest advisers declared that there had been no intentional delay, but that the note had required much scrutiny and careful consideration.

When the document finally is made public, these officials said, it will not only satisfy American public opinion, but would place squarely before Germany the issue as to whether the imperial government intends to adhere to the hitherto accepted principles of international law on maritime warfare. The President has been displeased by the numerous detailed accounts of what the note would contain when he himself had not yet settled finally on its contents. He is anxious that the course of the position of the United States shall not be clouded.

Issue Is Put Squarely. Officials familiar with the situation dissipated the notion that any influence had arisen to delay the sending of the communication. One of the President's closest advisers declared that there had been no intentional delay, but that the note had required much scrutiny and careful consideration.

SUFFERED 15 YEARS WITH PSORIASIS

Weeks at a Time in Such Misery Did Not Get a Night's Rest. Used Cuticura. In 18 Weeks Entirely Well.

107 N. Mesaba Ave., Virginia, Minn.—"Since I was fourteen years of age I suffered with psoriasis. I was suffering for fifteen years. For the first nine or ten years it would come and go but each appearance would be longer and more severe until it refused to leave at all until I got so bad that I could not do any work. At times there was not a place on my entire body, excepting my face and hands that was not covered. Weeks at a time I would be in such misery that I did not get a night's rest. My body was covered with shiny white scales and under scales was red and inflamed as blood. They would crack open some half an inch in length.

"My husband was telling a friend of the condition I was in, and he too had been a sufferer of the same trouble and had been healed by Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I at once commenced the treatment. In eighteen weeks I was entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Edwin Mitchell, June 22, 1914.

Sample Each Free by Mail With 32-p. Skin Book on request. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston." Sold throughout the world.

abroad and that the American people shall suspend judgment until they read the text of the document.

Diplomats Are Interested. In diplomatic quarters the dispatch of the note is awaited with intense interest.

Dr. Constantin Dumba, the Austrian Ambassador, leaves tomorrow for Lenox, Mass., for the Summer. Count von Bernstorff will wait for the sending of the note before going to the summer quarters of the Embassy at Cedarhurst, L. I.

CHARGE OF SLANDER FILED

H. D. Harms Says Neighbor Accused Him of Committing Felony.

OREGON CITY, Or., June 7.—(Special.)—H. D. Harms wantonly poisoned two of his pedigreed Airedale dogs and has remarked to persons in the Mackayburg district recently.

Today Mr. Harms, through Attorney Brownell & Slevens, filed a suit in the Circuit Court for $5000. To kill a dog is a felony, punishable by a penitentiary sentence, argues the plaintiff. Therefore, Steward is alleged to have accused him of committing a felony of this nature, he says, he is innocent. The suit is considered unusual by local attorneys.

BOGUS PASS PLANT HINTED

German Officer Counterfeits American Documents, Says Rumor.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Ambassador Gerard has advised the State Department of the circulation in London of stories to the effect that Robert Rosenthal, a German held there as a spy, recently made a contract with the German Captain von Prieger, of the German admiralty office, with having a complete equipment for issuing fraudulent passports.

Department officials said today it was presumed the Ambassador was investigating and would report later.

VISITOR ASKING PEACE

(Continued From First Page.) efforts by neutrals to mediate if begun now would be successful.

Germany Not All for War. Most significant of the impressions which Mr. Geldemeester brought from Berlin, it was said today, was that a large section of the populace and an important element in the German government itself were not in sympathy with the extreme militarists and believe a discussion of peace terms is not undesirable.

Just how far Mr. Geldemeester may have been encouraged in Berlin to present his views to the people in the United States is not definitely known. Jane Addams and others interested in peace who have recently visited Berlin have been encouraged in Berlin to present his views to the people in the United States is not definitely known.

Mr. Geldemeester is expected back in Washington in a few days. He may see officials, but to inform himself in other ways on the feeling concerning peace as it would be reflected in the diplomatic and official quarters of the capital of the largest neutral Nation. He plans to return to Europe soon.

IF YOU ARE TROUBLED WITH INDIGESTION, CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS WILL DO YOU GOOD.

"Some months ago I was troubled with indigestion," writes Mrs. Albert Horner, Jamesville, N. Y. "I used Chamberlain's Tablets and am only too pleased to give this medicine my endorsement, for it did me a world of good. It not only cured me of stomach trouble but invigorated my whole system."

YOU go into a cigar store. Your smoke palate says, "Havana!" Cool judgment says, "Mild Havanas."

The Gen'l Arthur contains just the proportion of Havana and other milder tobaccos to please a moderate smoker—which we trust you are!

The Gen'l Arthur Cigar invites all friends, old and new, to enjoy the hospitality of his "Exposition home" in the M. A. Gunst & Co., Inc. Building on the "Zone".

Gen'l ARTHUR CIGAR. TEN CENTS. Also a 3 for a quarter size.

For the Smoke-wise of the Coast. M. A. Gunst & Co., Inc., Distributors.

Continuous From 11 A. M. to 11 P. M. Show Starts Promptly at 11 A. M. Every Day. Leads in Photo Plays Today 8 Big Reels ANY SEAT 10c

THE HEART OF MIDLOTHIAN

SIR WALTER SCOTT'S NOVEL BEAUTIFULLY PORTRAYED A THRILLER IN 5-REELS-5

SPECIAL MUSIC BY PEERLESS ORPHEUM ORCHESTRA COMING NEXT SUNDAY VITAGRAPH'S 5-PART BLUE-RIBBON FEATURE

THE JUGGERNAUT

The Most Stupendous Motion-Picture Production Ever Brought to Portland

FOE HELD SUPERIOR

British Military Expert Says Germans Hold Advantage.

CHANGED PLAN IS URGED Major Redway Declares Enemy Is Victor Thus Far and Has Established Impregnable Hold on West Front.

LONDON, May 26.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—"It is no use to cry over spilled milk. Let us admit that our first and second campaigns against Germany have been failures, and start a new one," writes Major G. W. Redway, a well-known British military expert, to the Daily Mail, urging the seriousness of the war situation and the necessity of a complete reconstruction of the British plan of campaign on a broader and far more intensive basis.

Major Redway puts it even stronger. "The contest, if now stopped," he declares, "would be decided in favor of the Austro-German alliance. Germany has been opposed by British inertia, and science has won."

"It is very difficult to be precise in suggestions which may sever of criticism, because this war is not a British war primarily, and our gallant ally across the channel must always figure as the senior partner in the enterprise. That the French have upheld their old reputation as dashing fighters is evidenced by their losses uncomplainingly borne; but it were much to be desired that we could as easily recognize the value of General Joffre's strategy."

Major Redway's criticism of the present campaign is not without foundation. "The contest, if now stopped," he declares, "would be decided in favor of the Austro-German alliance. Germany has been opposed by British inertia, and science has won."

"It is very difficult to be precise in suggestions which may sever of criticism, because this war is not a British war primarily, and our gallant ally across the channel must always figure as the senior partner in the enterprise. That the French have upheld their old reputation as dashing fighters is evidenced by their losses uncomplainingly borne; but it were much to be desired that we could as easily recognize the value of General Joffre's strategy."

Major Redway's criticism of the present campaign is not without foundation. "The contest, if now stopped," he declares, "would be decided in favor of the Austro-German alliance. Germany has been opposed by British inertia, and science has won."

"It is very difficult to be precise in suggestions which may sever of criticism, because this war is not a British war primarily, and our gallant ally across the channel must always figure as the senior partner in the enterprise. That the French have upheld their old reputation as dashing fighters is evidenced by their losses uncomplainingly borne; but it were much to be desired that we could as easily recognize the value of General Joffre's strategy."

Major Redway's criticism of the present campaign is not without foundation. "The contest, if now stopped," he declares, "would be decided in favor of the Austro-German alliance. Germany has been opposed by British inertia, and science has won."

"It is very difficult to be precise in suggestions which may sever of criticism, because this war is not a British war primarily, and our gallant ally across the channel must always figure as the senior partner in the enterprise. That the French have upheld their old reputation as dashing fighters is evidenced by their losses uncomplainingly borne; but it were much to be desired that we could as easily recognize the value of General Joffre's strategy."

Major Redway's criticism of the present campaign is not without foundation. "The contest, if now stopped," he declares, "would be decided in favor of the Austro-German alliance. Germany has been opposed by British inertia, and science has won."

"It is very difficult to be precise in suggestions which may sever of criticism, because this war is not a British war primarily, and our gallant ally across the channel must always figure as the senior partner in the enterprise. That the French have upheld their old reputation as dashing fighters is evidenced by their losses uncomplainingly borne; but it were much to be desired that we could as easily recognize the value of General Joffre's strategy."

Major Redway's criticism of the present campaign is not without foundation. "The contest, if now stopped," he declares, "would be decided in favor of the Austro-German alliance. Germany has been opposed by British inertia, and science has won."

"It is very difficult to be precise in suggestions which may sever of criticism, because this war is not a British war primarily, and our gallant ally across the channel must always figure as the senior partner in the enterprise. That the French have upheld their old reputation as dashing fighters is evidenced by their losses uncomplainingly borne; but it were much to be desired that we could as easily recognize the value of General Joffre's strategy."

Major Redway's criticism of the present campaign is not without foundation. "The contest, if now stopped," he declares, "would be decided in favor of the Austro-German alliance. Germany has been opposed by British inertia, and science has won."

"It is very difficult to be precise in suggestions which may sever of criticism, because this war is not a British war primarily, and our gallant ally across the channel must always figure as the senior partner in the enterprise. That the French have upheld their old reputation as dashing fighters is evidenced by their losses uncomplainingly borne; but it were much to be desired that we could as easily recognize the value of General Joffre's strategy."

Major Redway's criticism of the present campaign is not without foundation. "The contest, if now stopped," he declares, "would be decided in favor of the Austro-German alliance. Germany has been opposed by British inertia, and science has won."

"It is very difficult to be precise in suggestions which may sever of criticism, because this war is not a British war primarily, and our gallant ally across the channel must always figure as the senior partner in the enterprise. That the French have upheld their old reputation as dashing fighters is evidenced by their losses uncomplainingly borne; but it were much to be desired that we could as easily recognize the value of General Joffre's strategy."

Major Redway's criticism of the present campaign is not without foundation. "The contest, if now stopped," he declares, "would be decided in favor of the Austro-German alliance. Germany has been opposed by British inertia, and science has won."

TURKISH TROPHIES. AMERICA'S GREATEST CIGARETTE. Makers of the Highest Grade Turkish and Egyptian Cigarettes in the World.

IF YOU ARE TROUBLED WITH INDIGESTION, CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS WILL DO YOU GOOD. "Some months ago I was troubled with indigestion," writes Mrs. Albert Horner, Jamesville, N. Y. "I used Chamberlain's Tablets and am only too pleased to give this medicine my endorsement, for it did me a world of good. It not only cured me of stomach trouble but invigorated my whole system."

Domestic THEATER Admission 10c TODAY, WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY OFFERS DOUBLE BILL "The Wrong Woman" ALL-STAR CAST ETHEL CLAYTON IN JOSEPH KAUFMAN "DARKNESS BEFORE DAWN" By Shannon Fife "The Substitute" Side-Splitting Comedy Featuring BILLY REEVES and His Entire Company Held Over by Popular Demand. Coming Friday, "The Esterbrook Case"