

CZAR AND CHINA SIGN

Treaty Regarding Outer Mongolia Is Made Finally.

RUSSIA IS TO DOMINATE

Pekin and Petrograd Guarantee Autonomy, Conditioned on Right of Larger Governments to Approve External Relations.

LONDON, June 7.—A Reuter dispatch from Petrograd says that the special envoys of Russia, China and Mongolia signed today at Kiakhta, Siberia, the tripartite treaty regarding the autonomy of Outer Mongolia. This treaty was agreed on after a conference that has lasted for nearly a year.

By the terms of the agreement China will retain a nominal suzerainty over Mongolia, but Russia, not China, will interfere with the administration of Mongolia's internal affairs.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The signing today at Kiakhta, Siberia, by representatives of Russia, China and Mongolia of a treaty establishing the status of Outer Mongolia marks the removal of one of the main obstacles to a complete understanding between China and Russia, according to views in Washington diplomatic circles.

LOCATORS ARE INDICTED

NEW CHARGE BROUGHT AGAINST F. E. ALLEY AND C. L. BYRON.

Accusation Is That Settlers Were Led to Swear Falsely to Value of Timber Claims Taken.

Frank E. Alley, prominent attorney of Roseburg, and Charles L. Byron, a Seattle timber locator, were reindicted by the federal grand jury yesterday in connection with the charge made by the government that they induced timber locators to give wrong estimates of the value of timber claims with intent to defraud the government.

The new indictment charges Mr. Alley and Mr. Byron with having entered into a conspiracy to commit subornation of perjury.

It is alleged by the government that the defendants induced approximately 50 land locators to appear before the register and receiver of the Roseburg office and to swear that the land they had made personal examination of the claims in question, and, second, that they knew from personal examination that the claims were worth only $425 each. The government asserts that none of the locators had examined the lands, and that instead of being worth only $425 each the claims averaged more than $5000 each in value.

An indictment on these charges, returned last February, fell through a few weeks ago when Federal Judge Bean sustained a demurrer to the indictment on the ground that a timber claim is not a claim against the United States, as contemplated under the statute.

Yesterday's indictment for conspiracy to commit subornation of perjury is the government's next step in the case.

GRAND JURY DRAWN

Judge McGinn's Charges Are to Be Investigated.

LIST OF 2000 CONDEMNED

Prominent Men Included in New Venire, but 'Some Are Excused, Including C. V. Cooper, Candidate for Commissioner.

Circuit Judge Davis yesterday morning instructed the new grand jury to investigate charges by Judge McGinn that the entire 1915 jury panel of more than 2000 names was "hand-picked."

The charges made by Judge McGinn were that the method of drawing the jury panel was illegal because the County Commissioners had delegated the task to D. G. Tomasini, Judge McGinn alleged from the bench on two different occasions that this method had resulted in the selection of men on the jury who were inimical to the interests of plaintiffs in personal injury suits.

None of the other judges concurred in Judge McGinn's remarks, but the attack created considerable comment and resulted in at least two jurors asking to be excused from further service.

New jurors flocked to the courthouse yesterday morning when the June term of court opened. Many well-known men were in the panel, which, on this account, had been designated the "high-brow jury."

From the list of 50 names the new grand jury, which will serve during the months of June, July and August, was drawn. Under the direction of Charles C. Hindman, deputy District Attorney, the new jury organized and adjourned until next Monday.

Foreman, A. E. Gantenbein, 261 East First street, North; president of the Independent Cracker Company.
Secretary, J. H. Cass, 298 Seventeenth street, Iron smelter.
A. Heitkemper, cigar manufacturer, 823 East Twelfth street.
E. H. Guisness, railroad brakeman, 1127 East Twentieth street, North.
M. C. Clancy, building contractor, 1330 Cleveland avenue.
R. Shannon, real estate, 5324 Forty-second avenue, Southeast.
William Clark, lumberman, 588 Pettygrove street.

The name of C. J. Franklin, an electrical expert for the Union Railway Light & Power Company, was at first drawn on the grand jury, but Mr. Franklin entered a strong plea and was released.

A number of bankers and other prominent men drawn for jury service appeared in court yesterday and served as jurors without a ceremony. The name of William M. Ladd was called, and Mr. Ladd was excused from service on account of both firemen and militia exemptions. Charles E. Ladd also was excused because he lives outside of Multnomah County.

C. V. Cooper, candidate for City Commissioner at yesterday's election, was drawn on the jury. Judge Davis excused Mr. Cooper for one day, saying that on account of the election he probably would be in no frame of mind to sit on a jury anyway. Robert Wakefield, a well-known contractor, was excused on account of defective hearing.

The June term of court lasts until the second Monday in September, and these jurors will have to serve until then.
