SUFFRAGISTS DECRY ACTS OF MILITANTS

National Association Fears Resentment Will Be Visited on Cause in General.

STATES ARE WANTED FIRST

Local Victories Declared Essential to Ultimate Favorable Action by Congress-Peace Resolution Is Adopted.

CHICAGO, June 8.—The recent at tempt of two militant suffragists to force an interview with President Wil-son was condemned at the concluding session of the mid-year conference of the American Woman Suffrage Association here today.

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the association, made particularly vigorous remarks pointing to the necessity of informing the public that the association is opposed to militant methods.

Miss Alice Stone Blackwell, of Boston, said the association suffered from the militant actions of the Congressional Union for the reason that politicians do not distinguish between one association and another, but visit their reservings on the suffrage movement.

sociation and another, but visit their resentment on the suffrage movement generally.

Progress in South Reported.

"We are making great progress in the South." Miss Blackwell said, "and we will make it faster when it is understood that the Bristow-Mondell amendment does not enfranchise women indiscriminately, but only in the same way that men are enfranchised.

"The number of suffrage states has grown from 4 to 12 in the last five years. This has changed the status of our question in Congress from contempt to serious interest and respect. It has given us a majority vote in the House. Only the addition of a few more suffrage states will be needed, in my opinion, to bring us the necessary two-thirds vote in Congress for the submission of the Nation-wide suffrage amendment.

"Therefore, if we want favorable in the American Masonic Federation, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite, who arrived in Portland yesterday to attend a gathering of that order, is In no way connected with recognized Masonic orders, and that the organization which he represents has no standing in Masonic circles, was asserted by James F. Robinson, secretary of the Oregon grand lodge, of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, vesterday.

Mr. Robinson also has a document from Masonic officials of Scotland showing that Mr. Thomson was expelled from the Masonic orders in that to can give regular degrees in Masonry that will qualify one to visit the meetings of the Ancient Free and Accepted Masons," said Mr. Robinson. "In that way they obtain money from their candidates."

Conflict Developed Within Cause.
Mrs. Stanley McCormick, of New York, vice-president of the National Association, also criticised the Congressional Union. Alluding to the difference between the two organizations, she said:

"This new association proposes to organize within the states, in spite of the already existing state organizations, not to obtain suffrage within the states, but merely to bring pressure to bear on Congress for the passage of the Anthony amendment. This is not merely a duplication of effort, but in many ways a conflict, for the Congressional Union differs from the National Association in fundamental characteristics.

"That one Portland man was fleeced out of $200 by the organization was alleged by Mr. Robnson. "They kept giving him new degrees as long as he would give them the money," he said.

"Officials of the Portland branch have continually changed and one was compelled to forfeit bond and leave the city to escape the law," Mr. Robinson said. "Action has been brought against them several times on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses."

This is the suggestion of N. L. Nestle, whose T-year-old son was drowned in the Willamette River Saturday when he fell off a log. The father learned of the death at Wendling. As he was about to buy a ticket to Eugene, the agent stopped to receive a message.

It was the message telling of the drowning and came as the father stood before the ticket window.

Six women were in the jury box when court adjourned. They all assured Prosecutor George Yantis that they would disregard the unwritten law defense at the instructions of the judge, if this defense should be pleaded. Some of the male talesmen were more hesitant in giving this assurance. One woman, Mrs. Kate L. Young, was excused on motion of the defense when she said she had formed an opinion as to Miller's guilt or innocence. Mrs. Miller, a striking brunette, sits beside her husband during the trial and one of the two children of the couple also is present.

Shafroth Amendment Supported.

There was animated debate as to the propriety of supporting the Shafroth amendment, which Mrs. McCormick explained was supported by the Congressional committee, although the committee regarded it as of secondary importance.

Mrs. Gifford Dudley, of Tennessee, declared that the amendment was the most important gateway to suffrage in the South, and a motion by Mrs. A. H. Potter, of Minnesota, to withdraw support was lost, 21 to 57.

A peace resolution was adopted.

CASTLE R

Here's Strong Evidence Against Patented Pavement

These Views Were Taken Last Sunday Afternoon on Portland's Magnificent Terwilliger Boulevard. Black Spots Show How New Warren Pavement Was Lifted Up in Chunks and Carried Away by Tires of Ordinary Wagons.

Do You, Mr. Taxpayer, Wanta Pavement That "Goes to Pieces" the First Hot Day?

Sunday was about the first really warm day Portland has seen since the Warren pavement on Terwilliger Boulevard was completed a few months ago. But Terwilliger Boulevard's pavement will never be the same again, for a number of horses and three or four wagons passed that way Sunday, and the wheels picked up the heat-softened pavement and carried it away in chunks. For half a mile the pavement was gutted; sections an inch to two inches door and several fact land gutted. inch to two inches deep and several feet long were torn up bodily by this ordinary traffice, and portions of them deposited half a mile further along the road.

Multnomah County is about to lay seventy miles of paving on a system of highways already famous far and wide for the beauty and richness of the country they serve. In the interests of public policy, of the taxpayer, the farmer, the automobilist—of everybody—it is necessary to present all the facts with relation to roads and paving materials.

Concrete, the Road That Lasts!

Why not give the taxpayer a road that will last? Why not give the farmer a road on which he can haul his produce to market? Why not give the automobilist a road that will be good 365 days out of the year, through heat and cold, one that is not skiddy or dangerous when wet-a safety pavement?

Mr.Concrete Facts.

That's Concrete!

With an everlasting base and a wearing surface that withstands the heaviest traffic; with a low original cost and a maintenance expense that is triflingly small, concrete offers the best paving investment in America today.

Concrete is the safe, satisfactory pavement.

Protest Against Warren Pavement!

Portland, Or., June 7, 1915. To Whom It May Concern:

On June 6th, 1915, I drove my teaming outfit, consisting of one four-horse team, of which the wagon and load approximated 5000 pounds; also one two-horse team, wagon and load, weighing about 3000 pounds; also one team with four No. 2 wheel scrapers, and one horse and buggy, over the entire length of Warrenite paving on the Terwilliger Boulevard, and this paving peeled and stuck to wheels. In places the paving pulled up enough to leave holes in pavement two inches deep, and for a length varying from 6 inches to 25 feet. This peeling continued in spots for a goodly distance of pavement, considerably more than one-half the total length. After leaving the pavement much Warrenite still clung to the wheels and horses, pieces being carried at least one-half mile beyond end of pavement before finally dropping

The wheels of scrapers and wagons are even now still coated with at least one-half inch of this bituminous pavement.

The teaming was extremely heavy and hard on the horses because of the great sticking and holding qualities of this soft pavement. My horses were nearly ex-hausted from their efforts in pulling these light loads over this pavement.

I sincerely hope that our County Commissioners will not pave any more of the proposed highways with this type of pave-ment. It would be criminal and cruelty to animals to use this type of pavement. Very
