MANAGERS REFUSE PROPOSAL.

This proposal met with instant disfavor by the managers. They held a series of meetings, and on Sunday decided that they would oust all union musicians.

Others Recognize, They Say.

"At the recent convention of our organization at San Francisco," he said yesterday, "a representative requested the convention on behalf of the producers and managers to request the different localities to keep their minimums as low as possible, and not to raise them at this time, on account of the unsettled condition in the theatrical world caused by the war and the competition of the moving-picture theaters. This will go to show that the principal managers of the United States recognize the minimum number of men as a working condition. Up to the first week in September the musicians have simply insisted that the managers adhere to their old number; that is, five in the Hellig, five in the Baker, six in the Empress, six in Pantages, eight for the Orpheum, three for the Lyric and five at the house at Eleventh and Morrison streets.

Scale Proposed Defended.

"As regards the sliding scale, which has been submitted to the managers, to go into effect the first week in September, I can only say that it is based upon the principle that, with our past experience, we feel that we cannot do satisfactory work either in justice to the public or to ourselves, with less men than this standard calls for, and, though, of course, we do not say in any way that we will not work with less men, still we feel that when any number below this standard is used it entails just that much more work and strain on the men who are left, and it is only in justice to them that they should receive extra compensation."

EMPRESS BILL IS LIKED

"EVERYBODY" INTERESTING PLAYLET—WELL HANDLED BY CAST.

Numbers of Other Entertaining Acts Are on Programme That Is Delight to Big Audiences.

"Everybody," an allegorical playlet with a message that all can understand, is the headline attraction at the Empress this week. The offering is well staged, is full of epigrammatic lines and is presented in a way that makes it one of the biggest vaudeville hits of the year. There are four scenes. In the first, "the luncheon hour," Everybody deserts work for pleasure and shrill.

In "the pleasure hour" Everybody plays the races, is deserted by Luck, and the third scene finds him in the depths of misfortune. The final journey back to work and honesty brings to the hero, Fortune.

The playlet is along the line of "Everywoman," but is, perhaps, wider in its appeal. John Lester takes the role cleverly, and each of the 12 members of the cast gives a faithful interpretation of his part. The keynote of the act found in the lines is "Much of life is largely what we make it."

A beautiful girl, a genius with the violin and a vocalist of great ability is Elizabeth Cutty. One of the triumphs of her act is her interpretation of "The Mocking Bird." An Irish lullaby is another gem.

George Yeomans delighted everyone in the big audience yesterday with his bunch of original nonsense in the form of a milk-provoking monologue. George got several encores, which he well deserved.

Shaw and Lee, two nifty dancers, dapper fellows in smart attire, gave an exhibition of lively steps and received their share of appreciation. They are nimble and graceful actors.

A brilliantly staged feature is the act of the two acrobats, the Ahrens, who come direct from the New York Hippodrome. The movies are especially funny, and round out the dandy bill.

PUBLIC TO SEE EXHIBIT

Boys' School of Trades to Be Re-dedicated Two Days This Week.

An exhibit will be held at the Boys' School of Trades, Thursday, and Friday. The doors will be open on Thursday from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M., 8 P. M. to 10 P. M., and Friday from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M.

The many shops and classrooms will be open to the public who are invited to attend the exhibit of work, which will be most interesting this year, as the students have been doing many pieces of difficult work.

Minnesota has an estimated content of 4,800,000 tons of ore. It will be worked by the open-pit method prevalent in that state.
