Sold at This Store Exclusively in Portland Are These

Fine "Hartman" Wardrobe Trunks

The Hartman line of trunks has been famous for years. The simplest Wardrobe Trunks ever built, strength and remarkable lightness being the two important features considered in their building.

Exclusive Hartman Features

Molded drawer construction. Automatic locking device. Absolutely boltless, thus doing away with broken finger-nails. Lock-jointed Gibraltarized construction. Yale mechanism used on all locks—one turn of the key and your trunk is open. Bessemer steel corners and protections, the lightest and toughest of all steels. New cushioned open top with nickel bracing collar. Folding hat trays. Shoe boards and boxes.

Those at $24.75

Round-edge construction, 3-ply basswood veneer boxes, heavy vulcanized fiber covered. Solid protection, full riveted, linen lined. Nine hangers. Combination men's and women's or taxi and three-quarter size at $22.75 and $23.75.

Those at $33.50

Silk plush cushioned open top, finely lined. Extra fine hardware, fiber-covered, full riveted. Also made in taxi and three-quarter size, priced $31.50 and $32.50.

Those at $45

Brown fiber covered, studded theatrical style, brown vellum de luxe lined, new automatic single lock, absolutely boltless construction. Taxi size $40, three-quarter men's $42.50.

Men's Straw Hats Will Travel Fast at 98c

They're good Hats, otherwise we wouldn't sell them at all. We value our good name above everything else, and so, even if the price is 98c, we have no hesitancy in putting them to the test.

They Usually Sell for $2.00

But we bought them when a maker's active season was over—and he was glad to keep things going a little longer by the really big order we placed, even though the price was a sharp concession.

Here are Hats in sennit or split straw, rough braids and soft telescope-style blocks. All new and at your choice for 98c.
—Temporary Annex, Fifth and Alder, Just Inside the Entrance.

DRESSES THAT ARE BEST IN STYLE AND QUALITY.

Summer days are here, and every woman needs several frocks that will stand tubbing. To meet this demand we're offering a group of Dresses for afternoon, street and house wear at prices that are the lowest possible.

The materials are pretty voiles, cotton tissue, linen, batiste, gingham and effective combinations of plain materials and novelty effects. The vestees and collars, following the season's fashion, are mostly of dainty organdies, nets and laces. Multi-colored satin sashes and girdles add the needed color tones. Every dress in the group is a "big bargain." All sizes.
—Fourth Floor, Sixth-St. Bldg.

BUILDING LAW HELD UP

PROPOSED CHANGE IN CODE DELAYED BY AMENDMENTS.

Advocates and Opponents Heard by Commissioners, but No Indication of Attitude Is Given.

Although yesterday was the day set for the final vote on the proposed amendment to the city's building code to permit the erection of mill construction buildings within the inner restricted district, the Council found it necessary to insert two minor amendments to the proposed measure, which put off the final vote for 10 days or two weeks.

Delegations of business men representing both sides at issue were before the Council. The members of the Council did not indicate their attitude.

Amos Benson was the principal speaker against the measure. He declared that to permit the mill-construction buildings is a step backward and is an injustice to the men who have complied with the law, requiring fireproof buildings within the inner zone. He branded the mill-construction buildings as "plate glass windows, backed up with cracker boxes."

E. E. McNaughton, an architect, declared that the inner restricted zone takes in a large amount of low-value property which will not stand the investment necessary for a fireproof building. He declared that the mill-construction buildings, which are wooden interior construction, with concrete walls, are permitted in the majority of cities of the United States and are not an increased fire hazard.

L. D. Hunt, an attorney representing T. B. Wilcox, J. Lewis Meade, John F. O'Shea and others spoke against the measure.

JUVENILE LAW IS OPPOSED

Ordinance Prohibiting Children in Entertainments May Be Changed.

Having found that the enforcement of an ordinance against children participating in public entertainments works against the children rather than against the parents, Juvenile Court officials have asked the City Council to amend the ordinance to make the parents and not the children subject to punishment.

The ordinance prohibits children appearing in entertainments except those given in churches or schools or for charitable purposes. It has been found that in many cases parents have resorted to this plan to get their children committed to homes by the Juvenile Court to be supported at public expense.

LICENSE SOUGHT BY CRAFT

Chimney Sweepers Desire to Avoid Possibility of Thefts.

An effort is to be made by some of the chimney sweeps of the city to get the City Council to pass an ordinance providing a license fee and a system of inspection of chimney sweeps. The object is said to be to curb the practice of persons gaining entrance to homes disguised as chimney sweeps for the purpose of robbery.

Frank Bascom, a chimney sweep, is one of the principal movers in the plan. He says a number of cases of fraud by alleged chimney sweeps have been reported lately and it is the desire of the legitimate workmen to have the practices stopped.

HOLDUP SUSPECTS FREED

Pair Establish Alibi by Admitting Other Theft.

After having been positively identified by a dozen trainmen as the pair who robbed the Oregon City electric train last week, Victor Manweiler and Percy W. Bigelow were released yesterday by the authorities when they had established a fairly conclusive alibi.

In order to clear themselves of the train robbery charge the pair were obliged to admit that, in company with some women, they robbed Monroe Weiss, of Portland, of a check for $121.58 and about $50 in cash.

When brought before District Judge Jones for trial yesterday on the latter charge they were dismissed upon recommending around a campfire in Macleay Park Saturday, when there will be a feast and music.

MOONLIGHT TRIPS PLANNED

Y. M. C. A. Dormitory Dwellers and Church Girls Take Excursions.

Moonlight excursions are to be taken frequently by Young Men's Christian Association dormitory men and classes of young women from several churches during the summer. The trips will include hikes to points of interest about the city, banquets around campfires in the woods and excursions on the river.
