

NEW MARKET FOR LUMBER IS SOUGHT

Meeting of Recently Organized Association Is Held in Portland.

TRADE CONTROL NOT AIM

Douglas Fir Exploration and Export Company Proposes to Develop Business in Foreign Countries Along Co-operative Lines.

To extend the market of the North Coast lumber products to South America, Australia and other foreign fields...

The organization doubtless will include most of the important mills on the North Pacific Coast...

Membership in the organization will be purely voluntary, it is explained, and no effort will be made to combine to control the trade.

Charles E. Hill, of Tacoma, presided at yesterday's meeting. Others who attended were E. G. Ames, of Seattle...

The new association was formed at Seattle a few weeks ago, when a temporary organization was effected.

The temporary headquarters have been established in Seattle, but it is intended eventually to maintain a co-operative sales office in Portland...

"We are seeking only to expand our market," said one of the visiting manufacturers yesterday. "We do not intend to combine for local or domestic trade, and will not disturb the competition in that field."

"We realize, however, that to do business in foreign fields a well-conducted organization of manufacturers can deal so much more economically and so much more successfully than a score or more of individual dealers each trying to act independently."

"The Panama Canal has enabled us to enter South America. We should be able, too, to extend the markets we already enjoy in Australia and the Orient."

"By co-operation and united effort we expect to compete effectively with the lumber manufacturers of the South. By operating together in seeking this trade we can work with a maximum of efficiency and a minimum of expense."

"We hope to increase the demand for North Coast lumber largely and to aid substantially in developing the industry, which, in turn, will develop the whole Northwest."

Several Portland lumbermen attended the meeting at the Benson yesterday, and informally discussed the possibility of affiliating with the new organization.

OLD SUIT IS DISMISSED

HEPPER FLOOD OF JUNE 4, 1903, FIGURES IN CASE.

Action Over Timber Entries Pending for Years Not Brought to Trial As Witnesses Are Gone.

The flood which swept over Hepper, Ore., June 4, 1903, killing more than 100 persons, figured strangely in the dismissal of a long-pending Government land fraud action which has been on the court docket since December 26, 1908.

Long before that, however—as early as 1902, in fact—the Government had been gathering evidence.

In a motion for dismissal filed with Judge Bean, Assistant United States Attorney Hankin explained that the Government's two chief witnesses, F. B. McSwords and John Ayres, had perished in the flood.

In addition to the Northwest Timber Company one of the directors, the Government's action was J. W. Scriber, once cashier of the Farmers' & Traders' National Bank, of La Grande, who was convicted June 29, 1910, of having made certain false entries in the books of that bank to conceal his abstractions of money to further the financing of false entries in the case.

Scriber is now serving a seven-year sentence at the McNeil's Island Federal penitentiary.

It was the contention of the Government that Scriber, the Northwest Timber Company and others had obtained the lands by inducing certain persons to make fraudulent entries, and that these entries were paid in part by funds taken from the bank by Scriber.

After the death of the two witnesses, however, on whose evidence the case was originally built it was not possible to corroborate these contentions.

BARCLAY GETS BUT LITTLE

$500 Verdict Won in Retrial of $50,000 Damage Case.

A. C. Barclay, of Eugene, yesterday obtained a reduced verdict for personal injuries against the O. W. R. & N. Company in the second trial of his damage case in Judge McGinn's court.

won a $15,000 verdict on a previous trial. A new trial had been granted the railroad company upon the declaration that new evidence would prove that Barclay was suffering from a disability existing prior to the train wreck in which he was injured, October 27, 1913. The company admitted responsibility for the train wreck, due to negligence, but contended that Barclay did not receive injuries which caused his right leg to wither, as he alleged. Judge McGinn instructed the jury, if it found Barclay had established his case, to assess the amount of damages which he had sustained. Barclay was at one time a captain of police in Portland. He is a civil engineer and was at different times employed by the Southern Pacific and the Oregon Electric and by electric lines in the state.

CHILDREN PARADE TODAY

NOB HILL LITTLE FELLOWS TO PORTRAY MYTHICAL BEINGS.

About One Hundred Are Entered and Will Represent Mother Goose Characters, Gaily Dressed.

All the popular Mother Goose characters, or at least kiddies in costumes representing those characters, will participate this afternoon in the Nob Hill community children's parade, which will start at 2 o'clock from the corner of Twenty-fourth and Marshall streets.

Those in charge of the parade report that there have been about 90 entries, and it is predicted that the affair will prove one of the best of its kind held in Portland this year.

Not only will there be children in costume, but there will also be miniature floats of various kinds decorated with flowers and bunting. Practically all the conveyances known to childhood have been entered. There will be perambulators, velocipedes, coasters, tiny automobiles, all massed with balloons and carrying their young passengers.

Little Margaret Gadsby, 3½ years old, will be the queen of the festival. Dressed in her coronation robes, she will ride in the parade in state, accompanied by her maids and footmen.

There will be no judges, and no prizes will be given. The parade is open for all children of the Nob Hill district, it being entirely a community affair.

Following the parade a feast will be given the children and refreshments will be served.

The children who have entered for the affair have been asked to form in line at 2:30 in order that all may be in readiness to start promptly at 2. The parade will be started by T. T. Strain, who is in charge of the marshaling of the children.

The start will be made at Twenty-fourth and Marshall streets, and the parade will cover several blocks in that district, the finish being at Twenty-fifth and Overton streets.

To police the line of march of the children's rose parade at 2 o'clock this afternoon, Police Captain Inkeep yesterday ordered the entire first night patrol to turn out at 2 o'clock this afternoon for duty. Men will be stationed along the parade lines on Twenty-fifth, Marshall, Twenty-sixth, Northrup, Twenty-sixth, Overton and Pettigrove.

PARK PRIVILEGES MAY GO

Proposed Ordinance Provides Suspension of Offending Visitors.

A 10 days' suspension from use of the city's parks is now proposed for all persons who violate any of the park regulations. City Commissioner Brewster yesterday proposed an ordinance to the Council yesterday, giving the park officials power to bar persons temporarily from the parks for cause.

In addition to setting forth a number of rules and regulations which are now in effect, the measure empowers the Park Superintendent to make other rules as he deems necessary. The only new rule presented in the ordinance is the limiting of speed of automobiles to 20 miles an hour on Hillsdale Parkway and 15 miles an hour in all parks.

STATE CONFERENCE ON POLICY IN LAND GRANT CASE PROPOSED.

Suggestions to Be Presented to Oregon Delegation as Guide in Draft of Measures.

The Portland Chamber of Commerce is preparing to call representatives of all Oregon together to formulate a policy with regard to the disposal of the property involved in the Oregon & California Railroad land grant case.

The meeting will be held some time next week. The time has not been definitely fixed as Senators Chamberlain and Lane are out of the city. The meeting will be called, if possible, for a time when the entire membership of the Oregon delegation can be in attendance.

Commercial bodies, industrial and commercial organizations and important business concerns identified largely with the upbuilding of the state will be asked to send representatives to Portland, and in this convention the settlement of the case in Congress will be thoroughly considered.

Since the matter so vitally affects the welfare of Oregon, the action of Congress probably will be initiated by Oregon Representatives of Senators Chamberlain and Lane are out of the city. THEFT OF RING PROVED

L. D. HUGHES FOUND GUILTY OF DEPRIVING FIANCEE.

Value of Property Declared $450, Making Offense Come Under Head of Grand Larceny.

A penchant for good clothes and high living, without a legitimate income or an inclination to work, and a tendency to take money from women, probably will get L. D. Hughes a term in the county jail.

In three minutes a jury in Judge Gatens' court yesterday convicted him of selling without authority a $450 diamond ring, the property of Maud Penny, his former fiancée. Hughes was stricken unmercifully by Deputy District Attorney Collier.

The testimony showed Hughes came from the East, met Miss Penny, won her consent to marriage, took her money and finally persuaded her to let him have her ring for safekeeping. He was to put it in a safe deposit vault in Portland. Miss Penny was at that time working as a waitress at The Dalles.

Hughes made repeated excuses when she asked him for the return of the ring. In the meantime he had pawned it for $150, and then sold it to a jeweler for $125. The latter advanced the money to redeem the pledge from the pawnbroker.

After selling the ring Hughes went East, ostensibly to visit sick relatives. He failed to communicate with Miss Penny, who had him traced back to Massachusetts, where he was arrested on a charge of larceny by bailiff.

At the trial Hughes attempted to discredit the girl's story that the ring was given her by an uncle, and stated she had given him the ring to do with as he saw fit. His story was ridiculed by the prosecution.

Considerable argument was devoted to the question of the value of the ring. Hughes' friend, M. L. Smith, a jeweler in the Heilig building, stating that it was worth about $250. The jury, however, decided the ring was worth $450, thus making the conviction one of grand larceny. Hughes will be sentenced in a few days.
